BUTLER LEADING IN SENATE BATTLE

CAPITAL ATTORNEYS' INFLUENCE REVISED RULINGS ON ALCOHOL

Former Senator Butler Won Often, Says Campbell.

MILLARD WEST ALSO SUCCESSFUL, CLAIM

Erstwhile Deputy Chief of Internal Revenue Active in Cases.

METHOD OF SECURING NEW RULING OUTLINED

Lawyer Boasts That He Has "Better Way" Than by Court Action.

Tenth of a series of articles by the former prohibition administrator of the Eastern New York district.

By MAJ. MAURICE CAMPBELL.

In only two cases out of hundreds in which I refused or revoked alcohol permits did the Federal courts find that I had acted in an arbitrary or capricious manner, and reverse me.

Dubious concerns often found it much more practical to go to the Prohibition Bureau in Washington and get me overruled, arbitrarily, by officials who are commissioned to fight the bootlegger. Let me give the record, as revealed by the file in my office, of three cases in which the permittees were or are still represented by Messrs. Marion Butler and Millard F. West, of Washington.

These attorneys have been unusually successful in prohibition cases appealed to Washington. Mr. Butler, in the Populist days of 1896, was elected United States senator from North Carolina and he still leads a Republican faction in that State, which is pivotal in the administration's effort to keep its hold on the erstwhile solid South. Mr. West used to be deputy commissioner of internal revenue, and in the early days of the dry law was assistant prohibition commissioner. In 1924 he was indicted at Washington with Representative Langley, of Kentucky, on a liquor conspiracy charge. Langley was convicted in Kentucky. The case against West was nolle prossed.

Anyway, they have been able to keep cases alive for long periods by appeals to Washington instead of taking them to the Federal courts for review.

During the year 1929 I revoked or disapproved about 150 permits that authorized withdrawal of specially denatured alcohol for industrial purposes. By this means I reduced the withdrawals nearly 2,000,000 gallons in that year, and am confident that almost that entire amount was thus kept from diversion to beverage channels.

Suspicious of Barber Supply Co.

The three Butler cases deal with specially denatured alcohol of high formula number, used for barber supplies and lotions. This is very highly prized by bootleggers, because it is not poisonous, is denatured only enough to make it unpalatable, and is easily redistilled. Naturally I watched it very carefully. Five years ago the total of manufactured barber supplies, according to the figures, would have given every man in New York a bath.

The Williamsburg Barber Supply Co., of 302 Bedford avenue, Brooklyn, had a permit for 900 gallons of specially denatured alcohol a month, and my inspectors' reports indicated that it was not worthy of the confidence of the Government. So in March, 1928, I instructed my agents to rent a room near the premises of this permittee, where they could observe shipments going in and coming out.

They reported to me that on April 3, 11 and 18 large quantities of alcohol, which were supposed to have been received on

Calvin Coolidge Says:

While news from the Argentine is somewhat meager what is received is favorable. The country seems free from disorder and we hear very little of any political persecution of former government officials.

Gen. Uriburu is seeking recognition by our Government. It is well known that we have little sympathy with revolution. At the instigation and urgent solicitation of the Central American republics we joined them in a treaty agreeing not to recognize revolutionary governments in those countries. That agreement we shall keep, but in the case of the Argentine we are bound only by the usages of international law. According to custom any country has a right to determine its own form of government provided it does not violate the rights of foreign citizens or governments.

We are bound by ties of sympathy and friendship to the people of Argentina. We have large commercial interests with them. As soon as they have a stable government capable of discharging the obligations due to the citizens of other countries under international law the people of this country would wish to grant recognition. Friendship for a people is best demonstrated by helping them in time of need.

FAILURE OF RASKOB TO TALK CAUSES STIR

MAY GO ON AIR LATER

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

There was another one of those ripples in local political circles yesterday over the failure of Chairman John J. Raskob to appear on the radio Monday night in the Democratic broadcasting campaign. In his place appeared Representative Joe Byrnes, of Tennessee, introduced by Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic executive committee.

Several weeks ago it had been widely advertised that Mr. Raskob would be in the vanguard of the Democratic campaign, that he would follow Senator Pat Harrison and broadcast September 15.

If a subsequent announcement of the change in plans was made it did not receive general notice and the matter lends itself to political speculation whether such an announcement was made or was not.

At Democratic headquarters yesterday it was explained that the change had been made and that Mr. Raskob would speak later. No definite date has been put down for him, however.

It is not believed that the change in plans contemplates keeping Mr. Raskob off the radio altogether. What has happened, it is believed, is that the Democratic powers that be decided for reasons which they best know not to put him at the forefront of the campaign—that is, have him among the first two or three speakers.

It has long since become quite clear that Republicans are making an

$38,000,000 SPURT IN AUGUST EXPORTS

Hoover Issues Statement Showing Check of Trade Slump.

RISE UNACCOUNTED FOR

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

The sharp and almost steady decline in America's export trade at last has been checked. In the month of August this country shipped abroad goods valued at $300,000,000, an increase of $38,000,000 over July.

President Hoover was so informed yesterday by the Department of Commerce, and he thought the fact of sufficient importance to issue a formal statement about it.

"I have received from the Department of Commerce preliminary figures on foreign trade for the month of August," the President said. "They show total imports of $217,000,000 and total exports of about $300,000,000. The exports show an increase of about $38,000,000 over July.

"The department has made a study as to how far imports and exports have been affected by the fall in prices as distinguished from actual quantities.

"During the first seven months of this year our exports have decreased about 20 per cent in quantity and our imports have decreased about 5 per cent, indicating that our buying power has held up much better than that of our foreign countries."

The slump in export trade was not peculiar to the United States. Countries throughout the world felt it at the same time. It came along with unemployment, which decreased purchasing power.

Thus, while the foreign trade of the United States in the first six

LOAN SHARKS DEFAME CLIENT IF PAY IS SLOW

DISCHARGE FROM JOB IS SOUGHT BY LENDER

Government Employes in Line for Blackmail Over Delay.

LOAN NEWS SPREAD TO FELLOW WORKERS

Other Methods Employed, as Cases Soon to Be Tried Reveal.

What happens when a borrower, having placed himself in the clutches of a loan shark, falls down on his payments?

The answer can be expressed in one potent word: Plenty.

Recently an employe in a Government department found it necessary to borrow $100 from an F street loan shark. In return for the money, he gave a note, acceptably indorsed by two wage earners, for $140, plus interest at 6 per cent.

After making a few payments, the borrower was confronted by a situation which made it impossible for him to continue according to schedule.

Lender Spreads News.

A few days later a representative of the loan company called at the borrower's office and spread news of the affair throughout the department, creating general unpleasantness.

The borrower, being a Government employe, the loan shark could not, of course, garnishee his salary; that is one reason why Government employes generally find it more difficult to borrow from loan sharks than if they were employed by private companies.

The borrower immediately went to his attorney, who telephoned to the loan company, but in the lawyer's own words:

"Before I could give them any details of what we expected to do, I was met with a perfect torrent of abuse. I simply told them that I was an attorney to whom the borrower had turned over his affairs, and that my whole interest in the matter was to make payment on the loan. I asked for a statement of the amount of the note, and the amount of cash the loan shark had given my client. I also said that inasmuch as the agreement had been entered into by the borrower, we intended to pay the amount in full as agreed."

More Abuse Follows.

"I was again met with abuse, whereupon I stated that I had made a mistake in calling them up; that I should have called up the corporation counsel's office. They replied that I could do any damned thing I wanted to."

This case is soon to be brought into court with charges against the loan shark under the so-called "loan shark act," which relieves borrowers of the obligation to pay debts when usurious charges are made.

In another instance a borrower received $75 from a New York avenue loan shark and gave in return a note for $100, plus interest at 6 per cent. He made several payments and then, being out of town when another fell due, missed one.

The loan shark promptly called up the borrower's employer and tried to have him discharged from his position, the borrower says in a signed statement. This demand was made by the loan shark after the borrower's

SPIES QUIZ DROPPED BY NYE COMMITTEE

Chairman Hopes to Finish Activities in Chicago by Saturday.

TIME ELEMENT FACTOR

Chicago, Sept. 16 (A.P.).—All espionage charges, and evidence pertaining to espionage, were summarily dropped today by the Senate committee which is inquiring into senatorial campaign expenditures in Illinois.

The committee decided to return forthwith to its main line of inquiry, that being investigation of the expenditures of Congresswoman Ruth Hanna McCormick in the primary election which gave her the Republican nomination to the United States Senate.

Senator Gerald P. Nye, of North Dakota, chairman of the committee, said that the action was taken because of the fact that the committee is pressed for time and is desirous of concluding its work in Chicago by next Saturday night.

As the committee reached this decision, Attorney General Oscar E. Carlstrom, of Illinois, stood by with a statement "in defense of the honor of Mrs. McCormick" and had present two witnesses by whom he declared he would prove that investigators for the committee practised both espionage and wiretapping.

He was not allowed to read his statement and his witnesses were not allowed to testify. To his protests, Chairman Gerald P. Nye, of North Dakota, replied each time with "Call Mrs. Reinecke."

Mrs. Mabel G. Reinecke was a witness. She turned upon the committee with a lecture.

"You have disreputed our whole campaign," she charged. "It has seemed strange to us that while Mrs. McCormick, the only woman to be nominated for the United States Senate, is interfered with, other candidates have not been."

Mr. Nye protested, saying that the committee had no intention to interfere with Mrs. McCormick's campaign.

There followed repartee in which every member of the committee participated except Senator Roscoe Patterson of Missouri.

Mr. Carlstrom's statement, while not a part of the record, was released to the press. It charged that certain

Vance Is Loser in Duel With Hallahan in Thrilling Ten-Inning Battle.

HIGH'S HIT STARTS RALLY

By BRIAN BELL.

Brooklyn, N. Y., Sept. 16 (A.P.).—The St. Louis Cardinals, who came from nowhere to complicate the National League pennant race, today broke an eleven-game winning streak of the Brooklyn Robins and by winning a ten-inning baseball game, 1 to 0, took the lead again by 1 point.

Few more thrilling baseball battles have been fought in any series, crucial or otherwise. Two pitching giants, Dazzy Vance and Wild Bill Hallahan, who should demand a recount on his nickname, fought out a biting, scratching struggle, with honors even through the regulation nine innings. The Cardinals scored the vital run in the tenth; and although the Brooklyns came back in the last half of the final inning to fill the bases, with one out, a lightning-fast double play ended the game as the tying run was crossing the plate.

Hallahan and Vance are noted fastball pitchers and strike-out kings, Hallahan being the occupant of the

GUARD SHOT FOILING BALTIMORE ESCAPE

200 POLICEMEN CALLED

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 16 (A.P.).—A prison guard was shot, probably fatally, this afternoon, when he detected nine prisoners, lifers and long-termers, in an attempt to escape over one of the walls of the Maryland State Penitentiary here.

More than a score of shots were exchanged between guards and convicts, and a riot call brought 200 policemen to the prison, which is situated in the heart of the city.

In patrols, commandeered automobiles and on foot the policemen and detectives sped to the scene, followed by excited crowds. By the time they arrived, however, the situation was under control.

The guard shot is Albert Owen, 39. He was taken to a hospital where it was reported later his condition from a wound in his side was critical.

The escape attempt was made and discovered shortly after 5 o'clock as the prison shops were closing for the day, and for several hours little but wild rumors of revolt was obtainable. The official account of the affair came from Stuart S. Janney, chairman of the State Board of Welfare.

Janney said the nine prisoners, led by Rawlings Whittemore, brother of Richard Reese Whittemore, serving a 21-year term for bank robbery in the same prison where his brother was hanged several years ago, were attempting to throw a rope ladder over the wall from the roof of the foundry when discovered by Owen.

The guard fired at the group, but himself was shot twice in the answering hail of bullets from the armed prisoners.

The shooting attracted other guards and they herded the nine into a corner during a gun battle in which no one else was hit. They finally were

COOLIDGE HAS EDGE IN DEMOCRATIC FIGHT

HEATED CAMPAIGN CAUSES BIG TURNOUT

Massachusetts Governor to Fore; Ely, Democrat, Heads Fitzgerald.

Boston, Sept. 16 (A.P.).—William M. Butler, former senator and former chairman of the Republican national committee, running as a dry for the Republican nomination for United States senator in the Massachusetts primaries, led his nearest opponent, Eben S. Draper, a wet, 28,168 to 24,908, when 469 out of Massachusetts 1,649 precincts had been reported tonight. The third candidate, Andrew "Bossy" Gillis, mayor of Newburyport, had 3,380 votes.

In the Democratic senatorial contest two wets, Marcus A. Coolidge, former mayor of Fitchburg, and former Congressman Joseph F. O'Connell, were running a neck-and-neck race as a quarter of the State's precincts were counted. In this contest, 469 precincts gave Coolidge 26,389; O'Connell, 25,278; Thomas C. O'Brien, former Boston district attorney and also a wet, 17,188; Eugene N. Foss, former governor and a dry, 4,859, and Peter J. Joyce, dry, 1,638.

Gov. Allen Ahead.

Gov. Frank G. Allen encountered no serious opposition from his only opponent for renomination, former Mayor John D. Devir, of Malden. Allen, a dry who made no campaign, standing on his record as governor, had 51,769. Devir, who termed himself the candidate of the "common people" and who did not press an active campaign and did not raise the prohibition issue, had 3,226.

Although announced as withdrawn from the Democratic governorship race, because of ill health, former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, of Boston, was polling a vote that made this contest uncertain. The vote of the 469 precincts gave Joseph B. Ely, wet, approved by the chairman of the Democratic State committee, 39,894; Fitzgerald, 36,053, and John J. Cummings, 3,446.

La Follette Leads Kohler.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 16 (A.P.).—Philip F. La Follette, son of the late Senator Robert M. La Follette, of Wisconsin, took an early lead over Gov. Walter J. Kohler for the Republican nomination in today's primary.

The swing to La Follette gained momentum as the returns were tabulated. In 501 out of 2,824 precincts, including 50 from Milwaukee County, the vote stood:

La Follette, 50,533; Kohler, 40,441.

Wisconsin voters turned out in full force today to decide whether Gov. Kohler or La Follette shall be the Republican nominee for governor. Indications were the total vote would surpass any in the State's history.

Milwaukee, regarded as the "key city" because of its population, had cast 26,209 ballots at noon, compared with 17,053 two years ago. Figures from ten representative State cities, including Milwaukee, gave a total of 51,121 at noon, nearly 50 per cent more than was reported at the same time in 1928.

Pair Swells Total Vote.

Federal American Merger Takes in Merchants Bank

John Pool, Head of Former, to Be President of United Institution, Which Will Have $25,000,000 Resources; Old Trust Branches to Remain.

Merger of the Federal American National Bank and the Merchants Bank & Trust Co. was consummated yesterday afternoon when directors of the first-named bank unanimously adopted a resolution indorsing the consolidation.

The merger action was announced after a meeting lasting more than two hours. Twenty-three of the 34 directors of the bank were present. Their action was sufficient to establish the amalgamation. Thirty days' notice will be given to stockholders of the two banks to ratify the action.

John Poole, president and organizer of the Federal American, is to be president of the consolidated institution. The remainder of the personnel has not yet been decided. Various changes are predicted. Rolfe E. Bolling was president of the Merchants Bank & Trust Co.

The new bank will have resources of $25,000,000 and combined deposits of $20,000,000. The main banking room will be at the building of the Federal American, Fourteenth and G streets northwest. Branches will be maintained at the main offices of the Merchants Bank & Trust at Fifteenth and H streets northwest, Twentieth street and Pennsylvania avenue and Dupont circle and Brookland.

Negotiations to consolidate the two banks have been in progress for some time. The first definite step forward was taken last Wednesday at a meeting of the directors of the Merchants Bank. This resolution was adopted by the Federal-American directorate yesterday afternoon, thus consummating the consolidation.

The personnel of the combined institutions follows: Federal-American, John Poole, president; W. J. Waller,

The Theory Of Relativity

Price alone cannot determine the value of an article. Because dresses can be bought for $15, or less, does not prove that other dresses are not worth $50. Tuttle Resigns, Declares For Repeal of Prohibition

United States Attorney in New York Says He Will Not Stand for Nomination as Governor of State; Dry Law Attitude Represents Change.

New York, Sept. 16 (A.P.).—United States Attorney Charles H. Tuttle tonight announced his resignation, said he did not wish to be considered for the Republican nomination for governor and declared for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Mr. Tuttle, who has been considered the leading possibility for the Republican gubernatorial honor, caused widespread comment in political circles by his pronouncement of his wishes in that regard. He refused to add to his formal statement.

Besides repeal of the eighteenth amendment, he said, he favors a constitutional guarantee outlawing the saloon and private liquor traffic for private profit. Meanwhile he favors strict enforcement of the amendment.

He sent his resignation to President Hoover to take effect not later than November 16. The Republican State convention will be held September 25.

"I have held this office far beyond the time agreed when I accepted it on April 6, 1927," he said, "and it is necessary for me to return soon to private practice.

"I recently urged that consideration of the proposal of certain Republican leaders that I be nominated for governor be suspended. Therefore, I had repeatedly stated that I was not a candidate for office. I have concluded to adhere to that position. I do not wish to be considered.

"Last week I stated that, irrespective of any candidacy, I would make a clear and unequivocal statement of my personal view as to national prohibition. Now that I have tendered my resignation, I feel that it is my factions within the Republican party, by their campaigns and divergent personalities, helped swell the total vote.

La Follette heads the "progressive" faction, which has enjoyed a life of nearly 30 years, first under the direction of his father, and then his brother, United States Senator Robert M. La Follette. Kohler is a "conservative." His faction seeks to realign Wisconsin with the national administration.

The Democratic candidate, Charles E. Hemmersley, has no opposition.

Ten congressional incumbents sought renomination, two of them without opposition. An interfaction fight occurred in the Sixth District, where two Progressives sought to succeed the late Florian Lampert, Oshkosh, who was killed in an automobile accident.

WOMAN, MATE HELD IN BUCKLEY SLAYING

Mrs. Sinnig Alleged to Have Called Radio Man to Murder Spot.

TRACED BY TELEPHONE

Detroit, Sept. 16 (A.P.).—Police claimed tonight to have under arrest the woman who called Jerry Buckley to his death in the lobby of the La Salle Hotel at 1:50 a. m., July 23, two hours after he announced the recall of Mayor Charles Bowles over Radio Station WMBC.

The woman under arrest is Mrs. Sinnig, alias Dorothy Duvall, alias Helen Chazel, also known as "Little Paula." Detectives had searched for her for several weeks as the "voice woman" in the case. Her husband, H. C. Sinnig, was arrested today in his room at the La Salle Hotel. Mrs. Sinnig was traced through telephone numbers found in her husband's room.

Police say Mrs. Sinnig telephoned Buckley about midnight, July 22, after Buckley finished broadcasting returns from the recall election.

Detective Sergeant Andrew O'Day had spent several days in Pittsburgh looking for the woman. He said she was a drug addict and was associated with a gang of narcotic handlers in Detroit's East Side. Police said they had information that she knew Angelo Livecchi, held here on charges of slaying Buckley; Ted Pizzino, under arrest in New York for the slaying, and another alleged participant in the killing, "Black Lo" Cellura, all of whom lived in the hotel where Buckley's radio station was located and in the lobby of which he was shot to death.

Police said there is a possibility that she drove the automobile in which the killers escaped.

Mrs. Jeanette L. Buckley, widow of the political commentator, testified before the 22-man grand jury inquiring into his death today.

Police are searching for Marjorie Manzel, radio entertainer, once under arrest in connection with the slaying, and Jean Alexandrea, vaudeville actress, who have been subpened to appear before the Buckley grand jury. Miss Manzel is believed to have left the city. She was a sweetheart of Pete Licavoli who is being sought as one of the three men who fired eleven shots into Buckley's body.

DEMOCRATS CHOOSE BAYARD FOR SENATE

WINNER TO OPPOSE DRY

Dover, Del., Sept. 16 (A.P.).—Delaware Democrats today nominated Thomas F. Bayard, of Wilmington, an avowed wet, for United States senator and adopted a platform which included a wet plank.

This insured a wet and dry fight at the general election in November. On the Republican side, Senator Daniel O. Hastings, of Dover, is the nominee on a dry platform.

Bayard, a former United States senator, was nominated by the Democratic State committee after a keen battle with Josiah Marvel, also of Wilmington. The vote was 115 to 95. Marvel, Democratic national committeeman and recently elected president of the American Bar Association, did not commit himself on the prohibition question during the campaign, but was generally supported by the dry forces.

John P. Le Fevre was named as the candidate for the House of Representatives.

Platform Urges Repeal.

Bayard was nominated for both the short and long term in the Senate. Hastings, who was nominated by the Republican State convention a week ago, is serving by appointment as a successor to Senator Coleman du Pont, who resigned in December, 1928, because of ill health.

The platform adopted by the Democrats advocated the repeal of the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead law, denounced the present tariff bill as a "bargain and sale of favors to a political minority in the hope of campaign funds for future elections," and indorsed the old-age pension plan.

Presented by Mr. Bayard after his nomination, the "wet" plank was adopted by an aye and nay vote, with but few delegates dissenting.

Opposed to Saloon.

"Ten years of dearly bought experience," it read, "has amply proved to every calm-thinking person in this country that the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead law do not and can not accomplish their expressed intent and purpose.

"They have utterly failed to do so. On the other hand, there has come into existenec solely by reason of the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act an attack upon our social, civic and legal life which bids fair to undermine the stability of our form of Government. * * *

"We advocate the repeal of the eighteenth amendment and the return to the several States of the power surrendered thereunder; believing that the true solution to the problem can and will be worked out by the States themselves.

"We are absolutely opposed to the return of the saloon in any form; we favor the repeal in Delaware of the Klair law in order that physicians may prescribe liquor for their patients in their care and that such prescriptions may be lawfully filled."

EVENTS IN MARYLAND AND VIRGINIA

REUNION IS OPENED BY CONFEDERATES

ALEXANDRIAN IS TALKER

Special to The Washington Post.

Orange, Va., Sept. 16.—Nearly 200 Confederate Veterans of the 124 camps in Virginia, with their sons, convened at the annual joint reunion of Confederate Veterans and Sons of Veterans which began here this morning. The convention will end Thursday.

The reunion opened with a meeting at 10 o'clock of the Grand Camp Confederate Veterans, an organization chartered by the State of Virginia and begun in 1886. The group was first addressed by Dr. Frank B. Perry, mayor of Orange, and then by Col. Edgar Warfield, of Alexandria, grand commander of the camp.

Following the commander's address, the assembled veterans discussed the plan to move the Confederate Monument on Washington street, in Alexandria, said to interfere with the route of Mount Vernon Memorial Boulevard. It was decided by a unanimous vote that the camp was opposed to any such move and that members with friends in the general assembly should write at once to discourage the plan. This monument, it was brought out at the meeting, marks the spot from which the Alexandria troops left the town when they were mobilized in 1861, and thus serves as both marker and monument.

Richmond Woman Talks.

The meeting closed with a short talk by Mrs. Andrew Jackson Montague, of Richmond, who urged the veterans to support the plan for the Confederate Woman's Home at Richmond.

A gathering of the United Confederate Veterans followed a recess for lunch. The following officers of the organization were elected: Major general, commander Virginia division, United Confederate Veterans, William McK. Evans, Richmond; brigadier general, First Brigade, Robert Gilliam, Petersburg; brigadier general, Second Brigade, to be appointed by commander; brigadier general, Third Brigade, also to be appointed; brigadier general, Fourth Brigade, C. B. Linney, Charlottesville; adjutant general, Virginia Division, Brig. Gen. Carter R. Bishop, Petersburg.

At the close of this meeting, members of the convention were taken on an automobile trip through the Wilderness, Chancellorsville and Cedar Mountain battle fields. During the evening, veterans, their sons and official ladies met together and were addressed by several officials of Confederate organizations and other speakers.

To Unveil Kemper Monument.

Tomorrow the veterans will attend the unveiling of a monument to Gen. James Lawson Kemper at his old home near Orange. This ceremony will be followed by a basket picnic and sight-seeing trip to historic points of interest.

"Comrades, we are gathered here," Grand Commander Warfield told the assembled veterans this morning, "both to consider matters of interest to our organization and to renew those fellowships born of that feeling which comes to men who have marched shoulder to shoulder and touched elbows on the field of battle, and which each year grows dearer to the hearts of every veteran.

"May this feeling of fellowship last as long as there remain two veterans to share it. I regret much that so many of the subordinate camps have not lived up to the suggestion made some years ago in the grand camp, that 'so long as two members survive the camp should not disband.'"

Baltimore Youth Faces Murder Presentment

Baltimore, Sept. 16 (A.P.).—The grand jury today returned a murder presentment equivalent to indictment against Kennard Thompson, 16, accused of slaying his employer, Herbert G. Wetters, 51, a chemist, and hiding his body, preserved in alcohol, for a month in a barrel.

Police said the boy confessed he killed and robbed Wetters the night of August 1 and then lived a life of luxury with money he obtained by forging his employer's name.

Bank Cuts Loan Rate As Drought Measure

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., Sept. 16.—One local bank today cut its rate on loans to farmers from 6 to 5 per cent to help in the drought emergency, to finance purchase of feed, fertilizers and seed over a nine-months' period. The announcement said the action was taken upon conviction that the banks should do whatever possible to ease the plight of the farmers.

So far as known the reduction is the first taken by any bank in the State. The bank is a member of the Federal Reserve System.

Princeton Newspaper In Hands of Receiver

Special to The Washington Post.

Princeton, W. Va., Sept. 16.—Two ambitious newspaper projects in Princeton have fallen on evil days. The Mercer Recorder, which began publication May 8 last as a daily, dropped first to a semiweekly and later to a weekly, has gone into the hands of a receiver, who will probably liquidate the business.

The plant of the Princeton News, a weekly, has been sold by a trustee for the holders of liens. The latter bid in the equipment.

Although Henry Ford has offered a large sum for the copy, Mr. Zickafoose says it will not be sold.

Road Allocation Hearings Are Set

Virginia Highway Chief Will Announce Dates by End of Week.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 16 (A.P.).—State Highway Commissioner Henry G. Shirley expects to announce hearings for road allocations to the several counties as provided by the Porter-Rhodes bill passed by the General Assembly this year, before the end of this week.

The bill authorized the commission to add 1,587 miles of road for construction and maintenance by the State, to the Virginia highway system.

He said that the exact date of the announcement had not been determined, but he was sure dates for allocation of hearings would be ready for publication before the end of the week.

PUPIL ENROLLMENT BREAKS OLD RECORD

4,255 Total in Alexandria Is Announced by Bowton, With More to Come.

WATER RATE QUIZ ASKED

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU,
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Superintendent of Public Schools R. C. Bowton announces that enrollment in schools to date is 4,255, the largest figure ever before reached at the opening session, and many more are expected to enroll before the month is out. A total of 1,047 have enrolled in the Mount Vernon grade school and George Mason High School, both of these schools having come into the city last January by the decision in the annexation proceedings.

The enrollment by schools is as follows: Mount Vernon, 878; George Mason High, 169; Alexandria High, 593; Lee, 577; Maury, 234; Jefferson, 619; Washington, 435; Parker-Gray and Seminary, colored, 750.

The city school board has been presented with a resolution passed by the Alexandria Post, No. 24, American Legion, regarding tentative plans prepared for a new high school, or addition to the present building, in which it is stated that whereas, under the national defense act, facilities for cadet training, which includes services of highly trained instructors and the use of valuable equipment, have been provided for high school students with very little expense to the taxpayers of the city, and the members of the post are keenly conscious of the value of cadet training in improving the mental, moral and physical condition of students, it is the earnest desire of the post that the new building be provided with target range, locker and storage facilities, indoor drill for inclement weather and accommodations for Federal instructor personnel.

This resolution has been indorsed by the American Legion Auxiliary and the Kate Waller Barrett Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, and will be presented to the United Daughters of the Confederacy and other patriotic organizations at their regular meetings for action.

The board of directors of the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce has adopted a resolution urging that an impartial investigation be instituted regarding the proposed procedure of the Alexandria Water Co. to place a charge against the City of Alexandria for water used by the fire department in extinguishing flames, to the extent of $15,000 or more, and also to increase the basic water rate now charged to the citizens of Alexandria, to determine the reasonableness or justification of such proposed increase; to investigate the charter of the Alexandria Water Co., its rights and privileges by which it has, or will hereafter open up streets, in the city of Alexandria to lay pipes for the transportation of water for sale in the city; also the original cost of construction, purchase of properties used in connection with its water reservoirs, and all just and reasonable cost of operation; the recent sale of all properties, rights and privileges to a new holding company, and any other matter in connection therewith that will inform the board, so that it will be in a position to defend the rights of its members, and the citizens in general, if its findings do not justify, in their opinion, the proposed increase.

The board also passed a resolution commending the faithful service of Policeman A. Perry Pierce, who was killed by a bandit on September 7 last, and a message of sympathy to his family.

The seventh annual session of St. Agnes Episcopal School will start today with enrollment of pupils and assignment to classes. The kindergarten will begin on Monday next. Miss Marguerite Chapman is the principal, and the faculty is the same of the previous session with the exception of Miss Louise Van Lear, of Charlottesville, kindergarten teacher; Mrs. Robert Allen, of the University of Missouri, on the high school staff, and Mrs. Henry Kasper, of the Hendley-Kasper School of Music, of Washington, piano. Bus service will start tomorrow.

The funeral of Mrs. Marian Darling Stiles, wife of William E. Stiles, who died on Monday at her home, 514 Cameron street, will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon from the home of her mother, Mrs. Ollie Simpson, 211 South Lee street, conducted by the Rev. William J. Morton, rector of Christ Episcopal Church.

The funeral of Mrs. Samuel Walker will be held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon from her home, 216 Clifford avenue, and will be conducted by the Rev. John S. Sowers, pastor of the Del Ray Baptist Church.

George Wood, Negro, was fined $250 with $20.50 additional costs in police court yesterday morning after having been caught with 36 half-gallons of corn liquor in the automobile he was driving, and which he ran into a bank and wrecked when chased by Policeman Brown. In default of the fine, Wood will pass the next nine months on the State convict road force.

Elmer Ridgely, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Gorman Ridgely, of 611 North View terrace, Rosemont, fell from a bicycle he was riding around the Alexandria High School grounds yesterday at noon and broke his left arm. Dr. S. B. Moore treated him.

Fire Chief James M. Duncan, jr., and Richard M. Green, jr., have returned from Canada, where they attended the annual meeting of the Fire Chiefs Association of the United States and Canada.

FAIRFAX PICKS JURY AFTER DIFFICULTIES

LIGHTNING STRIKES BARN

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST,
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Clarendon 2324-W-2.

Considerable difficulty was encountered yesterday in finding a sufficient number of residents of Fairfax County to constitute a felony jury in the circuit court of the county. Twenty persons had been summoned by Sheriff Eppa P. Kirby to serve on the jury and nine persons were summoned for civil jury duty. On examining the twenty summoned for the felony jury one was found to be deaf and another physically incapacitated for such duty. They were excused by Judge Walter T. McCarthy and several of those summoned for the civil jury were called to take their places.

Judge Robinson Moncure, counsel for the defense, objected to the calling of persons summoned for civil duty serving on the felony jury. He was sustained by the Court. Two persons were excused as they had formed opinions. This caused considerable delay, as it was necessary to issue a writ summoning ten more persons. After the required number was assembled in the jury box and twelve selected to hear the case and the others dismissed for the day, one member, J. W. McAtee, stepped forward as they were being sworn and stated that he was not a resident of the State as he had moved his residence almost a year ago. This necessitated the recalling of the entire panel. Two of them could not be located and the entire procedure had to be gone through again. It was 2 o'clock in the afternoon before the jury was finally selected and the trial started.

Because of the delay experienced yesterday, Judge McCarthy stated that he was considering issuing an order requiring the sheriff to summon 30 persons to serve on the felony jury and try both civil and criminal cases in accordance with a provision of the State code.

The case of Nicholas Breeden, of Washington, who was indicted during the May term of court for a criminal assault on a 20-year-old Washington girl on the night of May 30 following a dance at the Bull Run Dance Hall, began in the Fairfax County Circuit Court yesterday afternoon. Breeden was employed as a musician at the hall.

After opening statements by Attorney for the Commonwealth Wilson M. Farr and defense counsel, Judge McCarthy ordered the courtroom cleared of all persons except the jury and court officers. It was stated by the prosecution that the alleged offense was committed on a by-road near Pender, in Fairfax County. Breeden was arrested that morning in Washington, returned to the county and indicted. It was also brought out that he was one of the four that punched a hole in the jail wall and escaped, only to be recaptured two days later in Prince William County. Only witnesses for the Commonwealth were heard yesterday. The case will continue this morning at 9:30 o'clock behind closed doors.

During the severe electric storm that struck Fairfax County yesterday afternoon a bolt struck a barn on the farm of Henry Pfluger on the Oak Grove road near Andrew Chapel. A neighbor some distance away saw the bolt hit and smoke arise from the structure. He notified the fire departments of Falls Church and McLean, who responded to the alarm, but the heavy rain had extinguished the blaze before they reached the scene. Slight damage was caused by the blaze, but a large number of shingles were torn off by the lightning.

Two weeks of revival services will open this evening in the Clifton Baptist Church under the direction of the Rev. S. Y. Craig, of Fairfax. During the first week he will be assisted by his father, the Rev. J. W. Craig, of Keysville, Va., and during the second week his assistant will be a former resident of Clifton, the Rev. J. W. Kincheloe, of Rocky Mount, N. C.

Miss Sarah E. Thomas, Fairfax County home demonstration agent, will be in Leesburg today to act as judge of domestic goods in the fair that is being held there. Tomorrow Miss Thomas will attend the meeting of the Navy Home Demonstration Club and demonstrate the making of basketry. Friday she will demonstrate the making of special gifts at a meeting of the Home Demonstration Club at Floris.

Fairfax Council, Order of Fraternal Americans, will meet this evening in Robey Hall, Fairfax.

Fire caused by an overheated boiler pipe did considerable damage to a barn belonging to M. E. Cartwright near Herndon. The Herndon Volunteer Fire Department responded to the alarm and quickly extinguished the blaze before it gained much headway.

Miss Katherine Steel, a student of the Herndon High School, won the silver medal oratorical contest conducted by the Herndon Chapter of the Women's Christian Temperance Union. The presentation of the medal was made by Arthur Robb, of the Department of Justice.

President and Simons Talk German Election

(Associated Press.)

The German political situation was discussed yesterday by President Hoover and Dr. Walter Simons, former acting president of the Reich and former chief justice of Germany. After paying his respects, the foreign visitor said no change in the foreign policy of his country was to be expected as a result of the elections.

A continuance of the parliamentary system, he said, was certain with the Fascists working by constitutional means to accomplish their ends and not through a dictatorship. Direct trend of political affairs, he added, is dependent upon whether the Socialist and Fascist parties agree to serve in the new government.

Italy Finishes Homes For Quake Sufferers

Avellino, Italy, Sept. 16 (A.P.).—A population rendered homeless by the disastrous earthquake of July 23 received today its first allocation of new antiearthquake houses, just 54 days after the old residential districts of the town were wiped out.

The provincial prefect telegraphed to PPremire Mussolini that 108 houses or apartments, on which work was begun a few days after the quake, were handed over to tenants this afternoon.

Florida Publisher Shoots Assailant

Man Cleared of Plotting Against Governor Is Again Held.

Tallahassee, Fla., Sept. 16 (A.P.).—Fred O. Eberhardt, Tallahassee publisher, exonerated recently of charges that he conspired to cause the assassination of Gov. Doyle E. Carlton, shot and wounded O. L. Bankston, of Crestview, Fla., in a street fight here today.

Witnesses said Bankston met Eberhardt on a street corner and assaulted him. The publisher drew a pistol and Bankston was shot in the hand as he attempted to push the gun away.

Eberhardt told authorities he did not know his assailant and could ascribe no reason for the attack. He and Bankston and J. M. Harvel, who was seen in company with Bankston here, were arrested and held for an investigation.

WASHINGTON DRY AGENT SUSPENDED

Jacob Milwit and Roy Stiles, of Baltimore Office, Are Accused.

CHARGES NOT PUBLISHED

Baltimore, Sept. 16.—Acting on the recommendation of R. Q. Merrick, prohibition administrator for the Fourth District, Howard T. Jones, acting dircetor of the prohibition bureau, today suspended Roy E. Stiles and Jacob Milwit, dry agents, recently operating at Baltimore.

Stiles, who before coming to Baltimore was connected wtih the Detroit district, was under-cover agent and made many purchases of liquor for Baltimore prohibition officials. One of his most recent cases involved an alleged "buy" of gin from Leon Lampe at a saloon in the 800 block of North Howard stret, said by the agents to have ben operated by Leon and his brother, Sam Lampe.

Milwit Led Raid.

Milwit also was connected with this case, leading the raid which followed ither agents' visits. As a result of this raid, August 21, warrants were issued for the Lampes. They will be given a preliminary hearing Thursday before J. Frank Supple, United States commissioner, on charges of sale and possession of liquor.

The basis for the suspension was not revealed.

Mr. Jones said that the telegram Mr. Merrick sent from Richmond asking the suspension gave no details as to the offenses of which the two agents were accused.

The next procedure, according to the acting head of the prohibition bureau, will be for Mr. Merrick to conduct an investigation. If the inquiry discloses derelictions of duty on the part of the suspended man, formal charges will be filed. In the absence of such charges, Mr. Jones said his office would have no further information.

Robert D. Ford, deputy prohibition administrator for Baltimore, under whose orders the two suspended agents were working, said today that he had taken up the agent's credentials and suspended them upon instructions from Merrick.

Although he refused to reveal the nature of the charges, Mr. Ford declared that he would conduct a rigid investigation into all phases of the matter.

Home in Washington.

Milwit, who lives at 1223 Decatur street northwest, Washington, said at his home tonight that he had received no official notification of his suspension and refused to discuss it.

Stiles throughout his sojourn in this district is said to have acted almost entirely in the capacity of an undercover agent, seldom going on raids, but paving the way for the others by purchases of liquor.

His usual method, as revealed by the agent in his testimony on several occasions, was to take a woman, known to him only as "Ruth" in his car and in company with another undercover worker, set out on a round of road houses and speakeasies, in each case attempting to buy a bottle of liquor to take out with him.

Employing this method he made "buys" at some twenty road houses and hotels in Maryland last June. Search warrants were issued on the basis of these purchases and served by agents in one night.

After his activities in the rural districts Stiles was set to work in Baltimore making purchases.

Another change in prohibition personnel was also announced today when Mr. Ford said that Basil Quinn and Leo P. Rarr, dry agents formerly working here had been transferred to New York last Saturday.

Reed Sees Abolishment Of Recent Cut in Taxes

(Associated Press.)

Senator David A. Reed, ranking Republican on the Senate finance committee which deals with tax matters, said yesterday he did not see how the 1 per cent tax reduction could be continued next year unless Government expenditures decreased or an unlooked-for increase in revenue materialized.

The Pennsylvanian noted he had just returned from vacation, however, and said further study might cause him to change his mind. Late in August, President and Secretary Mellon said there was no ground for predictions of an impending deficit which would prevent continuance of the 1 per cent reduction in income taxes made applicable to last year's incomes.

One Killed, Two Saved In Cave-in at Sand Pit

Rocky Mount, N. C., Sept. 16 (A.P.).—Three Negro workmen were buried beneath tons of dirt today by a cave-in at the city sand pit here. Other workers rescued two alive, but the third was dead when diggers reached him.

John Forbes, 38 years old, was the Negro killed. The others, Isham Roberson and Abram Small, were slightly injured.

Dartmouth rofessor Dies in Auto Mishap

Charlemont, Mass., Sept. 16 (A.P.).—Prof. Richard C. Hay, a member of the faculty of the Tuck School of Finance at Dartmouth College, was crushed to death here today when an automobile driven by his father, Gen. W. H. Hay, of New York City, overturned. The elder Hay was badly stunned by the accident.

Prof. Hay's mother, the third member of the party, received a fractured rib and possible internal injuries.

ARLINGTON COUNTY AUDIT IS RELEASED

COVERS PERIOD OF YEAR

BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 506. Clarendon, Va.

Official audit of receipts and disbursements of the Arlington County Board of Supervisors from July 1, 1929, to June 30, 1930, released by the County Engineer yesterday, shows the following for the Arlington, Jefferson and Washington Districts' road funds:

Arlington district: Levies for 1927, county roads, $531.45; district roads, $531.45; levies for 1928, county roads, $2,325.79; district roads, $2,325.79; levies for 1929, county roads, $33,993.54; district roads, $33,935.07; supplemental levies during 1929 for county and district roads, $22.94; delinquent taxes collected, by collector, $286.71; by county clerk, $903.51; gasoline tax, $29,614.25, deducting $269.58 which was relieved by the court, giving a total of $104,223.85.

Miscellaneous collections including repairs to roads for the telephone company, county school board sewer and concrete work, improvements to county engineers' office and sale of gravel, pipe, and cement total $5,252.90. Transfers from county fund of $25,000, from Washington district road fund amount to $29,000. Loans from Citizens National Bank of Alexandria and Clarendon Trust Co. amount to $50,302.93. Adding balance of county treasurer's report as July 1, 1929, of $20,807.14, less warrants issued according to county treasurer's report of $177,005.25 gives a credit balance of $32,081.57 as of June 30, 1930.

Disbursement of Funds.

With a total of $177,005.25 warrants issued from July 1, 1929, to June 30, 1930, from which $4,829.03 is deducted, having been accounted for in the 1929 audit, and adding $18,312.17 for warrants issued in July, 1930, to cover June bills, leaves $190,488.39 to be accounted for.

Disbursements—Salary of road foreman, $1,932.93; labor, $13,617.77; truck hire, $882.75; lumber, $390.01; crushed stone, $6,420.67; culvert pipe, $2,121.42; cement, $867.23; sand and gravel, $834.63; binder for roads, $18,967.92; cinders and pit gravel, $44.40; concrete surfacing, $63,768.77; truck operation, $20,193.73; truck drivers, $3,612.52; tractor and roller drivers, $2,310.77; tools and repairs, $15.95; Waycroft sewer, $2,957.18; sidewalk on Hayes street, $305.15; Wilson boulevard sewer, $1,500.75; signals for roads, 200; supplies, including dynamite, manholes, frames and covers for sewers, rubber boots and calcium chloride, $1,092.67, showing total direct cost of $142,035.22, with interest, $1,453.17, and refund loans to Citizens National Bank of Alexandria of $47,000, giving a grand total of $190,488.39.

Jefferson district levies for 1927, county and district roads, $768.18; 1928, county and district roads, $2,897.13; 1929; county and district roads, $41,449.62; supplemental levies for 1929 for county and district roads, $54.02; delinquent taxes collected by collector, $98.09; by county clerk, $783.17; gasoline tax, $20,259.23; road work, $225.23; Travelers Insurance Co., $56.06; levies relieved by the court, $172.84; transfers from Arlington County funds, $2,583.73; loans from Alexandria National Bank, $39,600; from annexation proceedings, $264,966.53; warrants, issued according to treasurer's report, $231,462.28, leaving a balance as of June 30, 1930, of $165,348.28.

From a total of $231,462.28, deducting $601.73 for warrants accounted for in the 1929 audit, and adding $11,506.48 for warrants issued in July of 1930 covering bills paid as of June, 1930, and deducting another amount of $407.01 worth of canceled warrants, leaves $241,960.02 of warrants to be accounted for.

Disbursements—Salary for foreman, $1,405.10; labor, $5,160.10; lumber, $240.62; crushed stone, $6,859.18; culvert pipe, $1,125.99; cement, $312.75; sand and gravel, $61.25; binder for roads, $1,947.12; cinders, $285; concrete surfacing, $76,107.03; truck operation and drivers, $6,248.52; drivers for tractors and roller, $936.24; tools and equipment, $15,604; traffic signals, $486.26; searching of land records, boots and hardware, $43; clinic, $1,894.81; county trucks, $22,140; a total for direct cost of $140,757.82. Loans from Arlington District water fund, $3,000; from Arlington County fund, $50,000; refund to Citizens National Bank, $20,000, and interest of $1,202.20, shows the total expenditure to be $241,960.02.

Washington District—Levies for county and district roads, $343.15; 1928, for county and district roads, $2,068.72; 1929, for county and district roads, $22,376.49; supplemental levies for 1929 for district and county roads, 22 cents; delinquent taxes collected by collector, $75.31; by county clerk, $346.70; gasoline tax, $25,296.04; repairs and building sidewalks, $96.52; road work, including material, $647.99; amount relieved by the court, $76.28; balance in hands of treasurer as of June 30, 1929, $12,188.18, and deducting warrants as of treasurer's report, amounting to $44,304.11, shows a balance as of June 30, 1930, of $18,557.83.

Adding to $44,804.11 in warrants issued in July, 1930, covering June bills amounting to $3,640, and deducting $472.27 for warrants which were acounted for in the 1929 audit, shows and amount of $47,371.82 to be accounted for.

Disbursements—Salary for foreman, $1,655.97; labor, $11,037.66; team hire, $413.50; lumber, $123.98; crushed stone, $4,298.83; culvert pipe, $986.93; cement, sand and gravel, $576.43; binder, $11,601.60; truck operation, $8,516.83; truck drivers, $2,946; tractor and roller drivers, $879.32; manhole covers, boots, guard rails, sewer and alley grates, dynamite and painting bridge, $285.65; loan from Arlington District road fund, $4,000—a total expenditure of $47,371.82.

With the delivery of steel being used in the construction of additions to the Washington Lee High School yesterday, work was resumed after a delay of nearly two weeks.

The work calls for the addition of 32 classrooms and, according to J. W. Coleman, Lynchburg contractor, if the materials needed in the construction can be delivered fast enough and good weather continues, he anticipates putting on a night force, working until midnight.

Every effort is being made to have the building completed by the end of the year, the contractor stated. The work at four of the elementary schools is being pushed to completion.

According to an announcement from the office of County Superintendent Fletcher Kemp yesterday, there will be a meeting of all principals of white schools Friday morning at the Washington Lee High School at 9:30 o'clock. In the afternoon at 2:30, in the Langston colored school, the teachers and principals will meet.

Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock there will be a meeting of all teachers of white schools.

At these meetings plans will be completed for the opening of the county public schools next Monday. Dr. P. M. Chichester, county health officer, will address all meetings.

Recognizing that they were without authority to take any definite action on the question of the division in the Cherrydale Baptist Church resulting from the meeting of August 21, when more than 36 families, with the pastor, the Rev. Elmer Lucas, left the church, the acting board of the Potomac Baptist Association, at an all-day meeting, held in Clarendon yesterday, adopted the following resolution:

"The acting board of the Potomac Baptist Association, recognizing the independence of the local church and the freedom of the individual conscience, and hoping to be helpful, has prayerfully considered the problem of the Cherrydale Baptists.

"We plead with all concerned that they proceed slowly and pray much, and that every one do his best, under the Spirit's leadership, to see his own errors, and to confess and make right any wrongs discovered.

"We earnestly pray that the Lord may make His will plain and that all parties concerned may be willing to follow His leadership."

The association voted $28,480 as its goal for missionary and educational purposes during the year.

C. Wirt Trainham, of Marshall, Va., secretary of the association, was elected as associational worker.

The Rev. U. S. Knox, of Falls Church, presided.

W. Bladen Lowndes heads the Fidelity Trust Co., of Baltimore, and Tasker G. Lowndes is president of the Second National Bank at Cumberland.

Woman in Slaying To Serve 10 Years

Mrs. Pettie Not to Appeal and Will Be Sent to Richmond Soon.

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Sept. 16.—Mrs. Mary Zella Pettie, who, at the July term of the Madison County circuit court, was given ten years in the State Penitentiary for her part in the killing of her husband, will be removed shortly to Richmond from the county jail, where she has been a prisoner since the day following the fatal shooting of Edward Ellis Pettie June 8. Her counsel have announced that they have abandoned plans to appeal.

Mrs. Pettie's son, Billy, who confessed to being the principal, is in the reform school. Her brother, Otis Rider, convicted of bootlegging at the last court term, went to the road force last week.

The three had a family apartment in the Madison Jail until its disintegration started with Billy's removal.

WIFE ASSERTS CUBA WON'T PAY HUSBAND

Artist Mate Is Threatened With Prison or Worse, Over Debt, She Says.

APPEALS TO STIMSON

Miami, Fla., Sept. 16 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Asserting that her husband has been threatened with imprisonment "or a worse fate" if he continues efforts to collect from the Cuban government the balance due him for approximately three-fourths of all art work on the $17,000,000 national capitol in Havana, Mrs. Richard Struyf has come to Miami to seek protection in prosecuting the claims.

Last night, shortly after her arrival, she forwarded a report of the case to Secretary of State Stimson. At the same time she sent to J. H. Bland, Jacksonville, consular representative of Belgium in Florida, an appeal in behalf of her husband, a Belgian.

Political conditions in Havana, she said, made progress with the claims impossible at this time.

Worked Three Years.

For the last three years her husband has devoted his time to art work on the new capitol. After keeping at the task for 18 hours a day, she said, he finished it five months ago, and since then has exhausted his personal funds, which had been greatly reduced by losses in the crash of the market in Wall street, in efforts to collect several thousand dollars due him under his government contract.

"The Cuban government claims it has no money," she wrote Mr. Bland. "There is no work for Mr. Struyf over there and he is completely stranded without enough money to leave.

"They have threatened to arrest him if he puts anything in the paper. However, the press in Cuba will not print any criticism of the government."

In her letter to Secretary Stimson she said she feared for her own safety and for that of her children, as well as her own, and that he had been threatened with "imprisonment or worse fate."

Appeal Not Yet Received.

Secretary of State Stimson yesterday had not received the appeal of Mrs. Richard Struyf for assistance for her sculptor husband, whom she charges has been threatened with imprisonment "or a worse fate" if he continues efforts to collect money due for three years work on the imposing new Cuban capitol building in Havana.

Until the report of Mrs. Struyf reaches the State Department officials are not disposed to comment on the case, one of many complaints of high-handed procedure in Cuba.

Some officials were inclined to believe that the matter was one to be handled by the Belgian foreign office rather than the American State Department. Mrs. Struyf's claim to American citizenship, however, places a somewhat different aspect upon the matter, as does the fact that the United States enjoys special treaty relations with Cuba.

The appeal of Mrs. Struyf comes at a time when the Hoover administration is known to be disturbed over conditions in Cuba, with several important American claims awaiting adjustment, and with many Cuban expatriates demanding that the United States intervene and supervise the coming election in order that the opposition to President Machado may be assured an opportunity to vote.

G. O. P. Candidate Attacked.

NYE COMMITTEE ABANDONS ITS INQUIRY INTO ESPIONAGE

tests made by W. C. Dannenberg, owner of the detective agency employed by Mrs. McCormick to shadow Senator Nye, proved a connection between the chairman and espionage upon Mrs. McCormick.

An operative for Dannenberg pretended to betray his employer, the statement said, and furnished to David Groh, alleged investigator for the committee, certain names of Dannenberg employes. These employes were immediately subpenaed to appear before the committee, the statement alleged.

Statement Read by Nye.

Mr. Nye read a lengthy statement at the beginning of the day's session in which he denied that the committee had caused any espionage of any sort on any candidate.

"The most conclusive answer to the slanderous insinuation that the committee instigated the alleged theft of these records may be found in the fact that it could not possibly make use of any records obtained by such methods," the chairman declared. "On the other hand, if the records contained any information pertinent to the inquiry, the committee was armed with ample authority to obtain and use them."

Another statement, prepared but barred, was that of Dannenberg, in which he intended to inform the committee that he declined to furnish certain of his records which they had subpenaed.

Campaign Expenses Cited.

The committee had, however, in dropping the investigation of espionage upon Senator Nye, dismissed Dannenberg and his employes as witnesses. Mr. Nye said that the espionage angle of the investigation would not again be discussed unless employment of detectives should be considered part of Mrs. McCormick's campaign expenses

Senator Nye said he had no idea whether Mr. Carlstrom would attempt to appear again tomorrow. This morning he denied the attorney general a hearing because, he said, Senator Wagner had not yet arrived and he wished to give him an opportunity to consult on the advisability of listening to the statement. Senator Wagner arrived at noon and was present for the afternon session.

At the afternoon session Mrs. Reinecke, a former collector of internal revenue in Chicago, and a member of the Cook County board of election commissioners, was asked if she did not think it wrong to spend an excessive amount on a campaign for office. Mrs. Reinecke said she did, but added that when "you are starting out to build an organization it costs money."

Federal Patronage Mentioned.

"Why doesn't this committee investigate Federal patronage?" she asked.

"Isn't that against the rules of the civil service?" she was asked.

"Yes."

"Is it done regularly—all the time?

"Yes."

"Did you know about it, Mrs. Reinecke?"

"Certainly; everybody does."

"Why didn't you report it?"

"I had other things to do, and didn't have time to report it."

Teacher Paid for Work.

O. G. Davis, school teacher and election worker, who followed Mrs. Reinecke on the stand, said that he had been paid $20 for his work by Mrs. Reinecke and that she had warned him not to make the receipt out to Mrs. McCormick. He added that Mrs. Reinecke had told him to "see that Mrs. McCormick got a square deal" at the polls.

When he called at Mrs. Reinecke's office for his pay, Davis said, two other persons in the office were dismissed before she paid "from a big roll." "She said the receipt should be in the name of a woman who lived in Florida, but I do not remember the name," he added.

Mrs. Reinecke, recalled at her own request after Davis had spoken, said that the money paid him had been supplied by Mrs. Albert J. Bigler, of Chicago. It was part of a fund collected by her as an election commissioner, totaling $5,000, to hire special watchers to oversee or instruct election judges.

McCormick's Checks Dismissed.

"As far as I am concerned," Mrs. Reinecke said, "it had nothing whatever to do with Mrs. McCormick's expenditures."

Mrs. Reinecke also denied instructing Davis as a special watcher to work for Mrs. McCormick. He was hired for the day as a watcher, she said, paid from her clean elections funds, and on that basis the receipt for his pay could not have been made out to Mrs. McCormick.

Mrs. Reinecke also testified concerning two checks of Col. R. R. McCormick, one for $10,000, one for $2,500, contributed to the primary campaign. She cashed them the day before election, she said, but when she saw none of Mrs. McCormick's workers needed money she turned the cash into the candidate's headquarters.

Berlin, Sept. 16 (A.P.).—Police dispersed a Communist procession in the East Side of the city tonight and arrested 28 of the participants. The paraders were singing forbidden party songs and otherwise demonstrating.

Ulm, Germany, Sept. 16 (A.P.).—Fascists who organized a street procession here tonight clashed with members of the Social Democratic party and a Fascist leader named Dreher, and twelve others from both sides were severely injured. Several were arrested.

DEMOCRATS PLAN TO "REPAIR" PARTY

Montgomery Progressives Are Invited to Attend State Meeting.

GOV. RITCHIE WILL SPEAK

The first step toward conciliation of the opposing factions of Montgomery County's Democracy is being taken by the Democratic State central committee for the county this week. Invitations have been sent to all of the leaders and workers of the progressive Democratic party, also known as the antiorganization faction, to attend a meeting of the central committee which will be held September 25 at the Manor Club, Norbeck, Md.

The Democratic State central committee now comprises the personnel elected in the Democratic primaries September 8. Democratic candidates chosen in the primaries and organization workers also will be present.

Gov. Albert C. Ritchie and former Representative David J. Lewis, who swept the western congressional district in the primary as Democratic candidate for the House of Representatives, will be the principal speakers at tne meeting. Several of the county Democratic candidates will speak at the meeting.

In addition to the effort to effect a reconciliation between the two factions, plans for the two remaining registration days before the general election will be discussed as well as the main features of the approaching campaign.

The antiorganization leaders and workers will be invited to participate in the work of the organization prior to the general election and to heal the scars of the bitter primary fight.

The Montgomery County Commissioners yesterday decided that a conference of surveyors of Montgomery, Frederick and Howard Counties should be held to determine the feasibility of resurveying the boundary lines of the three counties.

Although boundary stones and natural boundary divisions are well defined at present, the commissioners said, certain of the residents of the county have asked the resurvey because of a confusion as to the actual county limits in certain places.

The Silver Spring Community Band will give its third annual concert at the Montgomery County Home, near Rockville, Sunday, September 28, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, it was announced yesterday by County Commissioner Lacy Shaw, in charge of the county home.

The concert will be under the leadership of James L. Kidwell. According to Albert Browning, manager of the band, any musicians who wish to participate in the concert can meet with the band at its rehearsals September 19 and 26 at Woodside Methodist Church, near Silver Spring.

Montgomery County police have been asked by Mrs. John R. Holmes, president of the Montgomery County Republican Women's Clubs, to look for two valuable Persian cats belonging to her which are missing. Mrs. Holmes lives on the Rockville pike near Montrose.

School Seeks Culprit Who Inverted Banner

Mrs. Blanche Fricker, principal of the District Line School at Seat Pleasant, Md., yesterday enlisted the aid of Maryland school authorities in identifying the person responsible for the school flag being flown upside down for some time Monday.

Mrs. Fricker believes that the flag was tampered with by some one holding a grudge against some one in the institution. She pointed out that the flag flew upside down only a short time before it was discovered and corrected.

GROUP BACKS MOVE TO CHANGE REGIME

Arlington Civic Federation Is for County Manager Government.

ARLINGTON COUNTY.
BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

By unanimous vote the Arlington County Civic Federation at a special meeting held last night in the Lyon Park Community House agreed to support a proposed change to the county manager form of government with a county board of five to be elected at large.

The delegates after much consideration voted that the election be held in November. The legislation and legal action committee, Robert N. Anderson, chairman, which has carried on the study of a change in the form of county government, was instructed to circulate the petition, which, according to law, requires the signatures of 250 qualified voters for official consideration. The committee was also instructed to formulate plans for the campaign in favor of the change.

According to the act of the Generla Assembly, the voters of Arlington County have before them three forms of government—incorporation into a city of the first class, commission form and the county manager plan.

Disadvantages of Incorporation.

It was pointed out by Robert N. Anderson, in redaing the supplemental report, which was submitted to the federation at its meeting last night dealing with incorporation, that the great disadvantage of incorporation at this time would be the loss of the gasoline tax, which amounts t oabout $60,000 a year, and the building of the roads by the State.

The disadvantage of the commission plan, as outlined in the comprehensive report submitted by the committee, are many. First, the salary of the county board of five would be $600 a year, and it was not thought possible that five men could be elected to serve their entire time at such a salary. Second, that all legislative, executive and administrative powers are vested in the board.

In the county manager plan, which the committee rcommndd and which was unanimously adoptd, only legislative powers are vested in the board. All executive and administrative powers are vested in the county manager.

The board will be elected to serve a term of four years. The county manager will be elected by the county board for a term of one year. He can not be removed at the will of the board but only after due notice of 60 days and then only for neglect of duty, malfeasance or misfeasance in office.

Appointment of Employes.

All administrative officers and employes subordinate to the county manager (except the heads of the departments, which are to be appointed by the board), and all county officers and employes, whose appointment or election is not otherwise provided for by law, are to be appointed by the county manager.

It is pointed out in the report that all county officers who are now elected are in no way affected by the proposed change in the county government.

The ounty manager plan, which is proposed, provides a salary of $600 for each member of the county board, but it is pointed out that their duties will be such that they will act more as members of the board of directors of a business with the county manager carrying on the affairs.

It was pointed out that the proposed new form will have many advantages over the present form of three supervisors each and with a directing engineer who works directly under the directions of the county board of supervisors. Another great advantage will be the abolition of the present three magisterial districts, it is held.

DRY PLANK AVOIDED BY OHIO DEMOCRATS

Platform, However, Says All Laws Should Be Faithfully Obeyed.

STATE REFORMS URGED

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 16 (A.P.).—Battle lines for the November election were completed by Ohio Democrats today with adoption by the State convention of a platform free of prohibition utterances, but demanding faithful observance and enforcement of all laws and denunciation of illegal law enforcement.

The platform and speeches teemed with criticism of both the national and State Republican administrations and pledged reforms in State matters. The platform pledged reduction in genreal property taxes, opposed an income tax, general sales tax "or any other new form of tax which will exact a larger toll from those now bearing more than their just share of taxation."

Cooper's Administration Hit.

Branding the administration of Gov. Myers Y. Cooper, Republican, as the "most extravagant, wasteful and unbusinesslike in the history of Ohio," the platform pledged a program of "real economy" in both State and local government.

Though the two chief party candidates, George White, for governor, and Robert J. Bulkley, for United States senator, are at variance on the prohibition question, Mr. White standing for retention and Mr. Bulkley for repeal of national prohibition, each considers this a personal matter and the party platform respected their views. Each unequivocally indorsed the other's candidacy and the platform commended both.

Bulkley's Liquor Stand.

Mr. Bulkley asserted that prohibition can not be enforced nationally and that control of the liquor traffic properly belongs with the States. For this reason he insisted prohibition is not a national issue. The fact that the membership of ecah party is divided in its views on the subject eliminated it as a party issue, he said.

The Republican tariff law was denounced as the "worst piece of national igislation ever concevied." It was characterized as a measure designed specifically to "aid big business and work immeasurable hardship on the ordinary citizen." It also was denounced by Mr. Bulkley and others as destroying all the benefits of the Lopdon Naval Treaty in establishing amity with foreign countries.

SUSPECT IN LINGLE CASE FOUND IN JAIL

Ted Geisking, Sought Several Days, Occupied Cell During Hunt.

MAN ADMITS IDENTITY

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 16 (A.P.).—Ted Geisking, sought for several days as the suspected murderer of Alfred Lingle, Chicago reporter, was found today to have been in jail here on vagrancy charges since last Friday. A detective recognized him by a picture.

Hardly had the man admitted his identity before press dispatches from Chicago said authorities there were not so certain after all that Geisking shot the reporter. The man himself flatly denied that he had done it, or even knew Lingle. Police said he admitted rumrunning and hijacking.

A man brought here by George Williams, Chicago detective, and said to have seen the Lingle slayer, said "that looks like the man except for his hair," and so Geisking was given a shampoo. That, however, failed to disclose any evidence of hair dye. "Just showed he needed a shampoo," said a detective rather disgustedly.

Geisking was picked up as a vagrant and gave his name as Emmeral Harris, 22, Chicago laborer. Another man arrested with him said he was Stanley Harris, and that they were brothers. Geisking today declined to say what this man's real name was, or to give details about two women also arrested last Friday.

One he said was his wife, but he would not give her maiden name, nor would he give the real name of the other one, listed as Adeline Patricia Graham. They were released in $300 bond each yesterday and Geisking's bond was reduced to $1,000, but before he could make it, a murder and fugitive charge was filed. Today he was held without bond on this charge and word was received that Pat Roche, special investigator, was coming here from Chicago to press extradition proceedings.

Geisking meanwhile hired a lawyer and it was indicated he would fight extradition. Police said Geisking's picture had been identified as one of the robbers who seized $100,000 in jewelry from Jason F. Whitney and his party at Evanston, Ill., recently, and Indiana authorities were said to want him on various liquor running charges. Geisking told reporters he was being "framed" in the Lingle case.

CAPONE IS AMONG 26 NAMED IN WARRANTS

Chicago Judge Issues Writs for Arrest of Gangsters Held Public Enemies.

"BUGS" MORAN IS LISTED

Chicago, Sept. 16 (A.P.).—The Daily Illustrated Times said today that Judge John H. Lyle issued John Doe warrants for the arrest of 26 men as public enemies by the Chicago Crime Commission.

The paper said the warrants had been sent to the East Chicago police station to be served. They charged vagrancy.

The list includes gang leaders, booze runners, hijackers and racketeers of all sorts, and is headed by Alphones "Scarface" Capone.

Others named were Ralph Capone, Tony "Mops" Volpe, Frankie Rio, James Belcastro, Jack Demore, known as "Machine-Gun Jack" McGurn; Rocco Fannelli, "Dago Lawrence" Mangano, Jack Guzick, Frank Diamond, George "Bugs" Moran, Joseph Aiello, Edward "Spike" O'Donnell, Joe Saltis, Frank McErlane, Vincent McErlane, Danny Stanton, William "Klondike" O'Donnell, Myles O'Donnell, Frankie Lake, Terrence Druggan, James "Fur" Sammons, George "Red" Barker, William "Three-Finger" White, Joseph Genero and Leo Mongoven.

At least one warrant was unnecessary, for detectives nabbed Danny Stanton earlier in the day. They said they found a loaded revolver in a pocket of Stanton's auto.

One Dies in Italian Storm.

Messina, Italy, Sept. 16 (A.P.).—One person was killed and one person was injured when a roof fell during a terrific storm which struck this seaport at midnight. Several shacks floated away into flooded streets with their occupants prisoners inside. There was considerable property damage.

TWO ARE APPOINTED TO REGULATE TARIFF

Brossard and Dennis Added to Commission Trio Already Named.

ONE VACANCY REMAINS

(Associated Press.)

Five men, four of them experts in tariff matters and the other a veteran diplomat, yesterday were charged by President Hoover with operation of the flexible provisions of the recently enacted Hawley-Smoot act.

To the three commissioners previously selected—Henry P. Fletcher, of Pennsylvania, as chairman; Thomas Walker Page, of Virginia, and Dr. John Lee Coulter, of North Dakota, chief economist of the commission—President Hoover yesterday added the names of Edgar B. Brossard, of Utah, the present chairman, and Alfred P. Dennis, of Maryland, now the vice chairman.

The sixth member of the commission, which is to be bipartisan under the tariff act, is to be announced later. Mr. Hoover said the last minute declination to serve by one of the proposed Democratic appointees would prevent completion of the group for a week or ten days.

Meyer Takes Oath.

While the President was forming the Tariff Commission, Eugene Meyer, jr., of New York, was taking the oath of office as governor of the Federal Reserve Board. Mr. Meyer, who served the Government for many years as chairman of the War Finance Corporation and commissioner of the Federal Farm Loan Board, replaces Roy A. Young, of Minneapolis, on the board.

In renaming Mr. Brossard and Mr. Dennis to the Tariff Commission, Mr. Hoover said he did so to give the group the benefit of their experience and to assure the continuity of investigations started since the tariff bill was enacted.

Each of those appointed, except Chairman Fletcher, has had wide experience with tariff matters. Two are former college presidents and the other two were one-time college professors.

Long in Diplomatic Service.

Mr. Fletcher has been in the diplomatic service for nearly 30 years. After serving with the Roosevelt Rough Riders in Cuba, he became second secretary of the Cuban Legation and after holding many diplomatic posts resigned last year as Ambassador to Italy.

Mr. Dennis, one of the Southerners selected by the President, is by his own description a low tariff Democrat who believes in "hell, calomel and the Democratic party." He voted for John W. Davis in preference to President Coolidge and for Alfred E. Smith in 1928, although formerly one of the personal advisers and a close friend of President Hoover.

He taught economics at Princeton University from 1891 until 1893 while Woodrow Wilson was president of the institution. His first governmental service was as commercial attache of the American legation at Rome and in 1922 he was the personal representative in Europe of Mr. Hoover, then Secretary of Commerce. Later Mr. Hoover recalled him for special economic studies and investigations, and in 1925 he was named by President Coolidge to the Tariff Commission.

Page Also Educator.

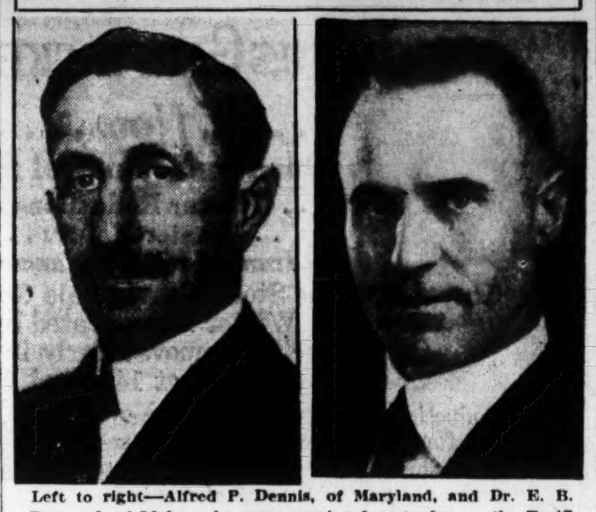

Mr. Page, the other Southerner, was appointed to the commission by President Wilson in 1918, and served as chairman from 1920 to 1922. Previously he was dean of the College of Commerce of the University of California, head of the department of economics of the University of Texas and professor of economics at the University of Virginia.

Mr. Brossard has served on the commission since 1925. Before coming to the commission he had been professor of agricultural economics at the Utah Agricultural College, instructor in farm management at the University of Minnesota and economist of the Tariff Commission.

The President also went to the personnel of the commission for the fifth member, Dr. Coulter, who has been chief economist and chairman of the commission's advisory committee for more than a year. He has been professor of economics and lecturer for half a dozen colleges and universities and was in charge of the division of agriculture of the Census Bureau from 1912 to 1914. He was a member of the American commission sent to Europe to investigate rural credits and cooperation and during the war was a member of the national export counsel of the War Industries Board.

President Hoover before naming the commission conferred yesterday with Chairman Fletcher. The new commission plans to be sworn in early today.

NAMED TARIFF COMMISSIONERS

FAILURE OF RASKOB TO MAKE SPEECH ON RADIO CAUSES STIR

issue of Mr. Raskob. With the assiduity with which they use his name; in fact, there is reason to believe they consider they can accomplish almost as much by talking about him as they can by discussing the tariff.

Statements Mention Raskob.

Virtually every Republican statement referring to the Democratic national committee calls it the Raskob committee, or the Raskob publicity mill. Quite a studied play is being made on Mr. Raskob's name. The ability to understand why this is done and the political worth of doing it come under the head of "Political Strategy." The inability to think up little tricks like this is what politicians mean when they say a man may be quite capable in everything else but that he does not understand politics.

As to why Mr. Raskob's name means so much and why so much is expected from the use of it one must hark back to the bitter campaign of 1928.

It was only the other day that Representative Tilson, chairman of the Republican Eastern congressional campaign, said that the disclosure that Mr. Raskob had given $40,000 to the Democratic committee in the last few months proved conclusively that he had underwritten the Democratic campaign. This caused a Democratic wag to ask that if Mr. Raskob's $40,000 contribution proved this, what did the more than $200,000 contribution of Harry Sinclair to the Republicans in 1920 prove? That's just the way that sort of stuff goes. The point is that the Republicans are making a play on Mr. Raskob.

Acceptance of Challenge.

Now when the Democrats, in the face of this, announced they were putting him on the radio as one of their leaders-off, the conclusion was inescapable that instead of keeping their beneficient chairman in the background as they have heretofore, they were accepting the Republican challenge.

This was understandable, too, because this campaign is in the East and West. Mr. Raskob is not politically unpopular in the East. The Democrats had nothing to fear from the Republican attack on him in that sector and perhaps no reason to fear it in the West.

The South— that is where Mr. Raskob's name is anathema. But the South is not a political consideration in this campaign.

Change of Policy Seen.

But this change of plans gives the impression that Democratic leaders have had another thought on the matter. It may be that they do not want to rush the wet question, which events of the last few weeks indicated they were embracing fairly rapidly. Already there have been rumblings from the South over Gov. Franklin Roosevelt's wet pronouncement and the Three Musketeer picture of Raskob-Smith-Roosevelt that was given at the time of it.

These rumblings confined to the South can do no harm in this campaign, but they might spread. After all, the anti-Raskob sentiment is not wholly confined to the South. The great free State of Maryland, where tolerance and liberal-mindedness are vaunted, gave Mr. Smith a walloping, it is recalled.

The temporary withdrawal of Mr. Raskob may be a mistake, though. It may be taken as a show of weakness by the Republicans and cause them to intensify their play upon his name.

FRENCH FLIERS PAY TRIBUTE TO HERRICK

WEATHER DELAYS TRIP

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 16 (A.P.).—France's two unofficial ambassadors to the United States, Dieudonne Coste, and Maurice Bellonte, today received the plaudits of Cleveland for their recent Paris to New York flight and at the same time carried the homage of France to the grave of a former Ambassador to Paris, Myron T. Herrick.

The dramatic climax of the "good-will" visit of the conquerors of the Atlantic here was their visit late in the misty afternoon to the tomb of Ambassador Herrick, who was their friend and the "best friend" of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh when the Lone Eagle made his epic flight from New York to Paris.

Capt. Coste silently placed a wreath on the tomb as a tribute not only of himself and Bellonte but of the French people. Then the fliers turned to Parmely Herrick, son of the late Ambassador and his wife, to express their personal grief and that of their nation at having lost a good friend. After the brief pause at the tomb the transatlantic fliers returned to their role of heroes.

Delayed on the second day of their 25-day national good-will tour of the United States by murky weather which forced an unscheduled stop at Syracuse, N. Y., on their way here from Boston, the fliers landed at 4:52 p. m. at Cleveland airport. Nearly two hours behind, schedule, they were rushed from their ocean-spanning plane, Question Mark, to an amphibian which whisked them to the downtown Lake Erie aquaport, where they were greeted by city and civic leaders.

From the harbor Coste and Bellonte were motored at the head of a parade to Public Hall outside of which a large crowd hailed them as they received the official greeting and plaudits of the city from Mayor John D. Marshall and City Manager Daniel E. Morgan.

Showers of confetti drifted down on the Frenchmen as they headed a renewed parade through downtown streets lined with people, thence to the cemetery where Herrick lies buried.

Tonight the fliers were toasted at a civic dinner at which they were greeted by another famous flier, Lieut. A. F. Hegenberger, who with Lieut. Lester J. Maitland, made the first transpacific flight from California to Hawaii.

Coste and Bellonte are to leave early tomorrow for Indianapolis, circling over Akron and Columbus en route.

Tomorrow night they are scheduled to spend in Detroit, home of Col. Lindberg's mother, after circling over Fort Wayne and Toledo.

INQUEST IS ORDERED IN PRINCE GEORGES

Hearing Tonight to Decide if Washington Man Died Naturally.

FOUND LYING FACE DOWN

A coroner's inquest will be held tonight at 8 o'clock to determine the cause of the death yesterday of Frank William Steck, of 1022 Ninth street northwest, who died under mysterious circumstances on a farm near Reds Corner, Prince Georges County, Md. The coroner's jury will determine whether or not Mr. Steck died from natural causes or committed suicide.

Justice of the Peace Harry I. Anderson will act as coroner at the inquest, which will be held in Truelman's store at Reds Corner.

Mr. Steck drove up to the farm of Charles A. Peaper, near Reds Corner, and asked for a drink of water for his dog. He then went to a small outbuilding near the house, where he was found stretched out, face down, shortly afterward, by Mr. Peaper. Constable A. C. Thompson was called to the scene and called Dr. James I. Boyd, of Forestville, who pronounced the man dead.

A small bottle of white liquid was found in a bottle beside him, about half empty. Mr. Steck's face was swollen and red. Dr. Boyd took the bottle to analyze the contents.

According to Mrs. Gladys J. Wright, of the Ninth street address, Mr. Steck was suffering from a faulty heart valve and police last night were inclined to believe that the death was from natural causes. The body was removed to the undertaking establishment of Harry M. Padgett, 131 Eleventh street southeast.

This season is the opportune time for putting up fruits and vegetables for Winter use. Fine quality of fruits, reasonably priced, combined with cheap price of sugar, make it possible for the housewife to lay in a Winter supply at a reasonable price. We quote from the Sugar Institute the following:

"For the woman who takes pride in her menus, there is real satisfaction in putting a colorful mold of her own home-made jelly on the table, and if she appreciates the value of fruit in the balanced diet, she will be happy in the fact that her shelves are well stocked with preserved pears, plums, peaches or other fruits. Sweet pickles and relishes made of cucumbers, tomatoes, cabbage or watermelon rind are also inexpensive and easy to preserve. Their spicy, tart, sweet goodness encourages the consumption of essential foods—such as meat, fish and vegetables. Good food promotes good health."

CAMPBELL'S EXPOSE AROUSES BROOKHART

Senator Declares He Will Request Investigation in Permit Scandal.

CHARGES ARE CONCRETE

The amazing story of Maj. Maurice Campbell, former prohibition administrator in New York, which is appearing daily in The Washington Post, brought another demand for a senatorial investigation of prohibition enforcement yesterday.

The demand came this time from Senator Smith W. Brookhart, dry Republican, of Iowa, who has just returned to Washington after a speaking tour of thirteen States.

"The revelations of Maj. Campbell," said Senator Brookhart, "constitute a strong argument for a senatorial investigation, and I shall ask for one as soon as the Senate convenes.

Conviction Is Confirmed.

"His story, appearing under his own signature, is something concrete, something definite upon which a committee could work. Maj. Campbell was in a position where he knew what was going on, and what he has to say about insincerity of higher-ups in charge of enforcement strengthens a conviction which I have held for some time."

Senator Brookhart said he was primarily interested in the statements Maj. Campbell made about these "higher-ups," the one, for example, in which Maj. Campbell quoted Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Seymour Lowman as warning him that he had made New York too dry around election time; that the tongues of the people were "hanging out of their parched throats," and that a little beer wouldn't hurt them.

Mellon Also Mentioned.

"But remember this," commented Senator Brookhart, "Lowman didn't do anything that Secretary Mellon didn't want him to do.

"What we want to do in an investigation is to get at the bottom of this enforcement scandal, but the men we want to go after are those at the top."

Senator Brookhart is the third member of the Upper House who has commented on the Campbell story, the other two being Senator Burton K. Wheeler, wet Democrat, of Montana, and Senator Alben W. Barkley, dry Democrat, of Kentucky.

Official Warns Against Holiday Street Work

Permission to cut into downtown streets between December 1 and January 2 will be given only in emergencies, Capt. Herbert C. Whitehurst, District highway engineer, warned yesterday. His statement, he said, was to give ample warning to business houses, plumbers, contractors and utilities so that underground work in December would not interfere with the Christmas season congestion of traffic in the downtown section.

The number of permits granted for tearing up city streets in the last fiscal year numbered 13,200, which was less by 3,870 than the number of cuts made in the preceding fiscal year, it was shown by figures made public by Capt. Whitehurst. The reduction in the number of cuts made, he said, was due to better coordination of the work of the District and property owners.

duty to fulfill that promise, and that it is my privilege as a citizen to do so.

"The last Republican national platform called for 'observance and vigorous enforcement of the eighteenth amendment, but expressly recognized that the Constitution may be changed by the explicit and authentic act by the whole people.' I believe in both those principles. Obedience to law is the essential life of our democracy, but democracy implies the right, without criticism, to seek to alter the law, even though contained in the Constitution. The security and stability of society require that the Constitution and laws of our country shall, until legally changed, be supported by obedience and enforcement."

Continuing, Mr. Tuttle said, "national prohibition, as embodied in the eighteenth amendment, goes far beyond the outlawing of the saloon system, and even far beyond a grant to Congress of power to give all possible cooperation and assistance to those States which desire within their own borders the prohibition system. It understakes permanently to prevent any State from adopting any other system.

"Out of this latter undertaking the acknowledged evils of national prohibition have largely come. Real temperance and respect for law can not be maintained by means of compulsion, unless the means are such as local sentiment approves."

After discussing the prohibition problem in general, Mr. Tuttle said: "I favor the repeal of the amendment, and replacing it with (1) a constitutional guarantee completely outlawing and forbidding everywhere in the United States the saloon system and its equivalent, the private traffic in intoxicating beverages for private profit, and (2), a constitutional guarantee vesting the National Government with full power to cooperate with and assist States which have prohibition in whole or in part.

"As to the situation in our own State, I believe that we already have in the State law, known as the public nuisance law, an immediate and effective means of dealing through our State courts and police with resorts where crime and vice breed upon the illicit sale of liquor. Rural as well as urban communities need the protection of that law; and I believe that the full power of the State should be behind it. * * *

"I have reached my conclusion about the eighteenth amendment very reluctantly. Frankly, it represents a change of opinion, slowly arrived at."

CAPITAL INFLUENCE IS USED IN PERMITS

these premises, were not in fact delivered.

Consequently a citation was issued on May 31 to show cause why the permit should not be revoked on account of the nondelivery on April 11, 1928, of six barrels of denatured alcohol. Only one date of nondelivery was specified, because I did not want to disclose the entire case, intending to hold the additional evidence for a possible criminal prosecution. At the hearing the agents testified that no alcohol was delivered on April 11, and except for a few denials, there was no defense. The permit was revoked on August 13, 1928.

Enter: Messrs. Butler, West.

After this revocation Messrs. Butler and West came into the proceedings. After a few months Senator Butler made application to reopen the case, to introduce new evidence, principally that of a policeman who was alleged to have seen the alcohol delivered. It was decided to permit reopening of the case, but at the same time it was thought wise to issue a supplemental citation mentioning one of the other dates of nondelivery.

In the reopening of the case it developed that the two agents, watching from a window, could not exactly see the front door of the premises, but they could look down the street and note every truck that stopped in front of the premises and had a full view of the sidewalk up to within a few feet of the front door, and they testified that at no time was there a congestion of traffic in front of the premises.

The policeman in this new hearing testified that he had just happened to be in the neighborhood on April 11 and that he personally saw the six barrels of alcohol delivered. The delivery truck, he said, did not stop in front of the premises on Bedford avenue, but pulled up at the cross street below the premises. There, he said, the alcohol barrels were unloaded and rolled up to the door, a distance of several hundred feet, close to the builing so that the agents could not have seen them.

Finds Second Policeman.

Senator Butler was able to find another policeman who happened to be there on the date of the second citation and testified to exactly the same procedure.

On the strength of this testimony the hearing judge dismissed the proceedings, but I then issued a third citation, specifying the third date on which the agents saw no alcohol received. I wondered if they could find a third policeman.

Senator Butler, however, evidently decided it was time to go to Washington. Prohibition Commissioner Doran telephoned me from Washington and told me to make a decision in the case as it now stood and to disregard the third supplemental citation.

Knowing the case as I did, I reversed the hearing judge in my office and revoked the permit.

A few days later, under date of April 19, 1929, Doran wrote me positive instructions to reinstate the permit. He severely criticized my office for the methods employed in this case, especially from the delay in the various citations, but I maintained the revocation was proper and would be sustained in the courts. However, I followed instructions and signed the reinstatement of the permit "pro forma."

There was a sequel to the case, however. On January 21, 1930, my agents caught a truckload of alcohol coming out of the premises of the Williamsburg Barber Supply Co. There was no controverting this evidence. I revoked the permit. Butler ceased his activities for this permittee.

Withdrew 8,800 Gallons Monthly.

T. C. Morgan & Co., of 491 Washington street, had a permit allowing the withdrawal of 8,800 gallons of specially denatured alcohol per month to manufacture barber supplies and toilet waters, more than 100,000 gallons a year, worth nearly $500,000 at wholesale bootleg prices.

I revoked this permit on March 22, 1928. Senator Butler appealed and I appointed a board of review from my office to hear the appeal, as is the customary procedure. The board of review sustained the revocation.

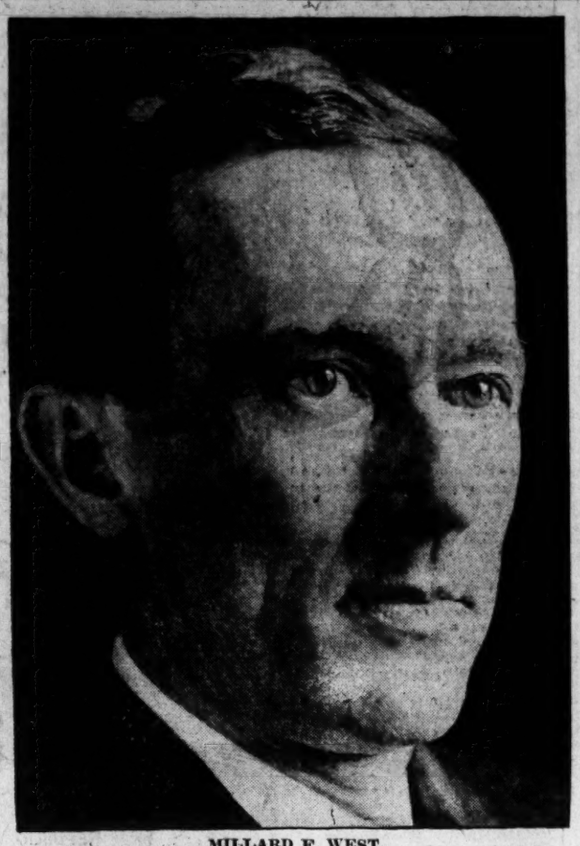

In these revocation proceedings there was a very interesting occurrence. The Government had produced evidence that the product manufactured by T. C. Morgan was substandard, not in accordance with the formula approved by Washington for the product. Because this alcohol is so slightly denatured, it is required that the products contain a certain amount of essential oils (perfume essences) in order that they may not be easily redistilled. It is required that these oils be of high quality so that they will be carried over in any process of redistillation. Diverting permittees endeavor to use synthetic essential oils, which break down when heated and do not carry over. The T. C. Morgan products did not have the required amount of essential oils.

After the Government had presented its entire case against this permittee, Senator Butler, its attorney, requested an adjournment for two weeks, since he was busy on other matters. So the presentation of the defense was postponed.

Gets Identical Formula.

In the interim busy Senator Butler went to Washington and filed with the prohibition bureau for approval a formula which corresponded exactly with the substandard product on which I had based my revocation charges. The formula was approved by the bureau, so that when it came time to present his defense Senator Butler was on the job with an approved formula identical with that which had been substandard and redistillable, according to the citation. I never could get a satisfactory explanation from Washington about just how this particular approval occurred.

My case against Morgan was

MILLARD F. WEST,
Former Deputy Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

materially weakened, but, notwithstanding, I revoked the permit. These proceedings were reviewed in Washington, and under date of May 22, 1928, I was instructed by the prohibition commissioner to dismiss the proceedings, which I did "pro forma."

In December, 1929, my inspectors again reported irregularities on the part of this permittee, which had moved to 625 Greenwich street. The principal evidence was that T. C. Morgan & Co. did not have sufficient oils and chemicals to conduct the manufacturing operations shown on its records, and in the absence of such oils and chemicals it would not have been possible to manufacture the products reported.

A citation was issued and the permit was revoked on January 6, 1930. Senator Butler made an appeal, and the revocation was sustained by my appeal board on February 11.

It must be understood that under the law the prohibition administrator is authorized to conduct revocation proceedings, and for this purpose has in his office a corps of attorneys who present the cases before hearing judges, also attorneys in the employ of the bureau. This is practically a court set up in the prohibition office. To revoke a permit it is not necessary to produce conclusive evidence that a crime or illegal act has been committed. All that is necessary is to show bad faith on the part of the permittee, such as to destroy the confidence of the Government. An administrator must, however, have some ground on which to base his opinion, and he must not be arbitrary or capricious in reaching his conclusions. Revocation proceedings are subject to review by a Federal judge, but the administrator must be sustained if he had reasonable grounds for his action.

Butler Appeals Again.

But Senator Butler took the appeal of T. C. Morgan to the commissioner of prohibition and informed him he had new evidence, and I was instructed by the commissioner to reopen the case, which I did on May 12, 1930. Nothing new was produced by the firm, but the Government's case was materially strengthened. I sustained the revocation.

Again in June Senator Butler appealed to Commissioner Doran and filed with him an affidavit by Robert M. Roberts, president of the concern, in which he attempts to account for the irregularities in essential oils. Under date of June 12, Doran sent it to me, asking me to examine it and "submit to this bureau such comments as you may make on its contents, and give such reasons as there may be for the action taken by you in this case." On my last day in office, June 30, after I and one of my attorneys had again reviewed the case, I wrote Dr. Doran that I had considered the affidavit, "in which I find insufficient reason to change my decision regarding the revocation, which, in my judgment, should stand."

Having looked through the files in the Morgan matter last March, Commissioner Doran wrote me a hot letter last March 24 because he had found in it a memorandum that I agreed with the hearing judge and appeal board on the first revocation, and reinstated the permit only at the direction of the commissioner.

"A self-serving statement of this sort is entirely out of place in the official file, as it is assumed that a revocation order of your office meets with your approval," he wrote. "I have much less personal knowledge of the T. G. Morgan matter than you have, no doubt, but the law division review calls for a complete explanation with respect to procedure in your office."

In the same letter I was instructed to come at once to Washington with my legal adviser, but in the interview that followed, my memorandum in the file was never mentioned.

Called to Capital Often.

Understand, I was called to Washington many times for conferences on this Morgan matter, and there is much too much to repeat. It seems as though the only way to settle these things is to put the permit through. For Butler's chickens always come home to roost.

The case of the Broadway Lotion Co., 50 Broadway, Brooklyn, is another in point. It had a permit allowing it to employ 700 gallons of specially denatured alcohol each month for bay rum, toilet waters, etc., which were supposed to be sold to barber shops. The testimony of the Government agents was that at 73 of the addresses listed in the company's reports the owners of the shops denied purchasing the goods, or there were no shops. They said they had found that some of the addresses were vacant lots, and others did not exist.

I revoked the permit May 24, 1929, and later the attorney was replaced by Senator Butler, who made application for an appeal. The appeal was heard in June, 1929, and after considering all the facts I sustained the revocation. I was instructed by the commissioner to reopen the case January 20, 1930, for additional evidence. At that time Senator Butler claimed the agents made mistakes in copying the lists of customers and their addresses, and if they had gone to the right addresses there would have been evidence of sale. In support of this the record book was produced with notations in ink which the agents swore were not there when they examined the books.

Case Still Undecided.

I considered these new claims rather obvious, and sustained the revocation on March 17. Senator Butler again went to Washington, and the result was a letter of instruction from the commissioner directing me to grant an appeal in the matter. The appeal was held May 8, 1930, and the board of review sustained the decision to revoke. On June 14 I received a request from Doran for all the records in the case, inasmuch as a special review had been asked.

I wonder what the final decision will be. Commissioner Doran sometimes criticized me for letting cases drag out so long.

I once asked Senator Butler why he did not bring suits in equity against me so that the Federal courts could review my actions. He replied that he thought he had a better and more expeditious way to handle these matters.

NEW TARIFF COMMISSION.

President Hoover has completed the personnel of the Tariff Commission, with the exception of one Democratic member. The new commission will begin functioning immediately, regardless of this vacancy. Investigation of many items referred to the commission has been in progress for some time. But the appointment of the new commission will give impetus to this work, and the flexible tariff provision as amended in the last Congress will be given its first test.

In spite of the difficulty President Hoover has had in filling the commission with capable economists, he has assembled a group of men who are well qualified for this service. The new chairman, Henry P. Fletcher, of Pennsylvania, will lend dignity, diplomatic experience and a broad acquaintance with world economic conditions to the commission. In choosing the present chairman, Dr. Edgar B. Brossard, of Utah, to continue as a commissioner, the President recognized his seven years of experience with the commission and his extensive training in economics and agriculture. The third Republican member is Dr. John Lee Coulter, of North Dakota, formerly chief economist of the commission, and a student of wide experience.

The two Democratic members appointed are Thomas W. Page, of Virginia, and Alfred P. Dennis, of Maryland. Both have had previous service on the Tariff Commission, Mr. Dennis being the retiring vice chairman. Both have been highly capable in their field, and their orthodoxy in politics dispels all fears that the commission might be "packed" to favor the Republican party.

President Hoover was careful to choose only economists or men with special training that equips them for these difficult posts. The fact that he selected Democrats from Maryland and Virginia and two Western Republicans suggests that he was paying more attention to personal qualifications than to geography. At the same time the different sections and interests of the country are fairly well represented. The new commission will satisfy every one except chronic trouble makers and mud-slingers.

This commission has an important work to do. Revision of a tariff act containing thousands of items, many of which are controversial, is certain to result in injustices here and there. The commission will give its attention to the complaints of all interests, and where rates are found to be too high or too low changes will be recommended to the President. Where emergency conditions arise in which tariff adjustments are necessary they can be handled on a sound economic basis.

Hopes that the Smoot-Hawley act can be vitiated through operation of the flexible provision are, however, futile. The commission has nothing to do with determining the tariff policies of the United States. Congress has outlined those policies, and the personnel of the new commission gives every reason to believe that they will be respected. Administration of the tariff will be a living issue, but the fundamental theory on which American industry is based will not be open to question. The constant work of expert economists in this field will no doubt have an influence in shaping future tariff legislation, but the actual decision will rest in the hands of the people's representatives.

Partisan and factional attacks upon these new commissioners are threatened by Democratic and insurgent senators. The public will have no patience with attempts to play politics in this fashion. The tariff commissioners should be promptly confirmed when the Senate reassembles, in order that the vitally important work of the commission may go forward.

INCREASING FOREIGN TRADE.

President Hoover's terse statement, issued yesterday, shows definitely that American foreign commerce has taken an upward swing. Exports during August show an increase of approximately $38,000,000 over those of July, bringing the total for the month to roughly $300,000,000. Imports are holding closer to the normal figures than exports.

These figures, furnished by the Department of Commerce, are substantiated by the recent report of Customs Commissioner Eble. A table in which various ten-day periods this summer are compared with similar periods a year ago shows a decline of 54 per cent in customs revenue during the last part of July, but for the period ended September 5 the difference was only 37 per cent. A sharp decline in July was expected, because imports for June were 113 per cent higher than for the same month a year ago. This was a result of the last-minute rush to ship goods in before the new duties became effective. The surplus naturally left trade dull for the following few weeks.

There is special significance in the President's statement that "during the first seven months of this year our exports have decreased about 20 per cent in quantity and our imports have decreased about 5 per cent, indicating that our buying power has held up much better than that of foreign countries." Figures usually quoted represent value and not quantity. Commodity prices have declined so sharply during recent months that there would be a considerable reduction in the value of imports and exports even though the volume had remained the same.

The fact that imports have diminished but 5 per cent in volume puts in a ridiculous light the propaganda that the tariff is responsible for the decrease in foreign trade. In spite of the depression the United States has continued to absorb almost as great a volume of foreign goods as formerly. On the other hand, European countries, which had less reserve strength to meet the deflation, have been unable to keep up their purchases from America at the same rate.

This view of the situation coincides with the findings of Representative Carl R. Chindblom, of Illinois, who has just completed an economic survey of Europe. "What we call business depression would be deemed prosperity in many parts of Europe," he says. "We are indeed a fortunate people, and breeders of discontent should find no lodgment among us."

Buying power throughout the world has been reduced, and international commerce can not fully recover until it has been restored. In the United States the revival is definitely under way. Other countries with chronic unemployment problems can not be expected to recover so rapidly. Gains in the export trade may, therefore, lag behind the revival of imports, but a steady revival has set in and a return to normal may be expected within the next few months.

AIR LINE TO NEW YORK.

The Washington-New York air line in its first ten days of operation set a new record for passengers carried. During the period the planes flew some 39,000 miles, carrying 1,557 passengers, or an average of 60 per cent of capacity. In six months at this rate the line will have carried 28,000 passengers, as compared with 139,000 passengers carried by the 29 major American lines in the first six months of the year. The Washington-New York line carried an average of 155 passengers a day, whereas the movement across the English Channel amounts to only 118 passengers a day.

Two factors explain the popularity of the Washington-New York line. The first is the relatively inexpensive tariff. The second is frequency of operation. The public has come to accept the airplane as a reliable medium of transportation, but comparatively few persons will travel by air unless the cost is held down, and unless they can command a seat in a plane at their convenience. The Washington-New York line offers accommodations at low cost and its planes are scheduled to depart on an hourly basis.

This line may well be a model for other lines. If commercial aviation will keep the cost of flying at a minimum and offer convenient service, the time that can be saved by flying will draw the public irresistibly to the airplane.

FAKE AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS.

Massachusetts is indulging in an experiment that is illuminating to States which are trying to work out a satisfactory system of insurance against automobile accidents. The most recent turn of events at Boston is the demand for higher rates for compulsory insurance. A statement from Gov. Frank C. Allen says that the drain upon the insurance companies has been tremendous. Hence, premiums must be increased to offset the additional cost of Massachusetts' compulsory system.

When the State undertook to compel all its motorists to carry liability insurance the rate the public had previously paid for this type of protection was immediately increased. Reliable automobile owners were forced to pay higher premiums because the system was stretched over the whole field of irresponsible and incompetent drivers. But another element has entered into the compulsory system to make the cost steadily rise. Thousands of fraudulent claims have been filed. Extortion of money from insurance companies on claims arising out of minor accidents has become a miniature racket in Massachusetts. The public has suddenly become supersensitive to shock caused by the bumping of automobile fenders together. Accidents that once caused nothing more serious than the loss of the drivers' tempers now bring claims for damages based on "mental anguish" and nervous palpitations.

"A considerable portion of the claims against drivers involved in accidents are either inflated or spurious," says Gov. Allen. "The number of unscrupulous doctors and lawyers who today thrive on fake accident claims is a reproach to our administration of justice. Because the public has to pay the bill no one has taken the necessary steps to clean up the situation." He concludes that "just so long as rates are established which enable the settlement of nuisance claims regardless of merit, just so long will the promoter of fake accident claims enjoy immunity from prosecution."

Officials of Massachusetts are now trying to patch up the defects of the compulsory insurance statute with penalties for promoting spurious claims. Having created a new racket, the Legislature will be asked to provide counteracting measures. Perhaps Massachusetts will run the whole gamut of possibilities of forcing careful motorists to pay for the negligence of irresponsible drivers. Other States may profitably look on, but the experiment thus far certainly does not invite emulation.

SUNKEN TREASURE.

For many centuries the sea has swallowed up treasures. Richly laden ships have been accumulating on sea bottoms until now their value is beyond computation. In many cases in modern times the exact or approximate location of thousands of sunken vessels and the amount of treasure on board have been made matters of record.

A most remarkable marine salvage operation is now under way, with promise of success, 400 feet beneath the surface just off Ushant Island, France. Italian divers have located the wreck of the steamship Egypt, which in 1922 sank with a loss of 87 lives, 5 tons of gold bars, and 45 tons of silver bullion. Mail pouches, sums of coined and paper money, the captain's safe, and various other articles have already been retrieved from the Egypt, while the divers of the salvage ship Artiglio are actively engaged in efforts to dynamite and cut away the ship's gold room and bring it, separately, to the surface. They feel confident they will be able to do this, although the room and its treasure weighs 60 tons.

The success of this operation would give an impetus to the search for other lost treasures—sunken galleons, pirates' gold, rich merchantmen, mail packets, war vessels, &c.—which have formed the theme of countless official reports and romances. Modern machinery warrants both daring adventurers and hard-boiled underwriters in making costly attempts to recover the spoils of the sea.

Gov. Hartley of Washington has presented 30 pairs of Mongolian pheasants to Gov. Gardiner, of Maine. Maybe these are some of the prohibition birds they have been raising out in the Evergreen State.

MESSAGES IN CODE

From the Pathfinder.

Cryptograms, which played such an important part in secret communication during the World War, now have an equally important role in messages of commerce. They have a first cousin in the codes used by police departments, business houses and others. And some publications find cryptograms a popular feature for their puzzle departments.

A cryptogram is a message in cipher. A simple form is to change the letters about so that the contents are unfathomable to the uninitiated—those without the "key." In other words, A may represent B, or vice versa, or any other letter of the alphabet, or any figure for that matter. But that is only an elementary form. Splitting the alphabet in half—letting N stand for A, O for B, P for C and so on—complicates matters. The combinations are without end.

But it is the addition of figures and symbols which makes solution more difficult. There is no limit to types of codes used in secret communication, according to Col. George Fabyan who served Uncle Sam as a deciphering expert during the war. Col. Fabyan claims that no code came to light during that conflict which could not be read, providing enough messages were available to work upon. In solving any secret message, Col. Fabyan explains, you have to "cut and try" until you find some key that will unlock the code. There are hundreds of ways of attacking the problem but there can be only one correct reading of a cipher message. Incorrect readings may work up to a certain point, but they will not fit the entire message. A short code message can be unsolvable, but a long code message—never!

To decipher an ordinary code, explains this military intelligence expert, it is of prime importance to know what letters of the alphabet occur most frequently. But secret messages are usually written telegraph form, that is to say, without the unimportant "filler" words such as "a," "the," "of," &c. This makes some difference in the frequency of letters.

Guessing at words is no way to solve cryptograms. Go after them methodically. Months have been spent in "breaking" codes. The first step is to determine the frequency of letters. Be gratified that you don't have nervous prostration over codes which use figures, squares, circles, dots and dashes, pictures and other things in combination with the letters.

The hardest type of cipher to crack, according to Col. Fabyan, is known as the bilateral cipher. It is deep stuff. It must be, for it is said to have been invented by Francis Bacon, often called the "father of modern science," more than three centuries ago. The key was found not so many years ago, and only after examination of Bacon's secret papers (in cipher) which disclosed many things of interest to scholars.

Bacon, who did not seem to care how much work he made for himself, used only two letters in combinations of five to represent each letter of the alphabet.

Rudy Vallee is being sued for $200,000 by a blonde, who alleges breach of promise. Aimee McPherson is suffering a nervous breakdown because her mother wants to pull her hair.

Farm Cooperatives.

Philadelphia Public Ledger: Pennsylvania farmers transacted a business of $54,527,675 during 1929 through their cooperative selling and buying corporations, according to the bureau of markets, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture. This is an increase of 11.6 per cent over 1928 sales of $48,873,985, and is 76.4 per cent greater than the total farmers' cooperative business of the Commonwealth for 1925.

PROTECT THE GASOLINE TAX.

The Government Bureau of Public Roads sounds warning that use of the gasoline tax fund should be restricted to road building and maintenance. That is quite right, says the Toledo Blade. Otherwise the gasoline tax will become exceedingly unpopular, notwithstanding the fact that, in one way or another, motor vehicle owners pay most of the taxes of all kinds collected by Federal, State and local authorities.

When gasoline tax proceeds are set aside for highway purposes only, the motorists at least are able to visualize that which they get for their money. Much less is known about the expenditure of all other funds derived from taxes on incomes or real estate or personal property.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

TWENTY YEARS FROM NOW.

Twenty years from now they'll say:
"Twenty years ago
People used to act that way;
My, but they were slow!
Curious were the customs then,
Parties used to start at ten.

"Motor cars were all the style,
Airplanes rather new;
Mothers fretted all the while
If their children flew.
In that very distant age
Talking pictures were the rage!

"I remember as a child
Father's radio.
Static used to drive him wild
Twenty years ago.
Television wasn't known;
All they got back then was tone."

Twenty years from now we'll be
Old and out of date,
Little that we proudly see
Will be counted great.
Youngsters then will want to know
What amused us years ago.

There Will Be No Lack of Great Men While Poor Boys Continue to Hate Poverty.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

PEOPLE who take themselves and the world too seriously look into the future with dread and despair because the "best people" practice birth control while the "common people" remain prolific and no effort is made to mate the best with the best for the development of thoroughbreds.

Their fears are groundless for the simple reason that a man who needs money will try harder than a man who doesn't.

In theory, a man and woman physically faultless and possessed of brilliant minds will have children equally superior to the common run of mankind and, in fact, their children will grade higher than the progeny of the stupid and the physically unfit; but all experience has shown that genius seldom is inherited, that the children of excellent parents may inherit the weaknesses of a more remote ancestor, and, finally, that good blood seldom achieves excellence without the benefit of good training.

Nearly all of America's great men of the past came from the ranks of the common people. Our Presidents, with few exceptions, were sons of the poor. Nearly all of the big jobs are held by men who know the pinch of poverty.

You may argue that the poor gain more high places than the rich because they are more numerous, but that isn't the reason. Rich men's sons are sufficient in number to fill all of the important posts.

The sons of common people climb higher because they have greater incentive.

Discontent is the inspiration of all progress. A ball doesn't bounce high when it hits something soft. A man never reforms so long as he feels respectable. And sons of the rich and the high are handicapped by the fact that they are content with themselves and their environment.

Aside from the fact that wealth encourages idleness and idleness promotes vice, the sons of the poor have the advantage of a bitter dissatisfaction to spur them on.

In a land where wealth and attainment fix social status, the high are so much like the low and the rich so much like the poor that a child of one class has every natural advantage enjoyed by a child of the other if its parents are sound in mind and body.

If the "best people" quit bearing children, their kind won't disappear. The children of the common people, inspired by discontent, will continue to climb up and qualify as the best.

No. 1.

Gwinnip Corners, Mass.—This Government has survived more than 150 years without revolution. What is to be is to be. It is never too late to mend. In August alone our exports of nails alone fell off 345,678 tons. Where there is smoke there is apt to be fire. It is a well-known fact that no nation can remain solvent if it spends more money than it takes in. Into each life some rain must fall. Our forefathers were a hardy people whose wants were simple. The Mississippi River is the largest stream in the United States. We are a free people and accustomed to an unrestricted press. You can not eat your cake and have it, too. We need only to read of the revolutions down there to realize that all is not well in South America. You can not get blood out of a stone.

Gwinnip Corners, Mass.—Yesterday a man stopped me on the street to talk about adequate help for the farmer. He was within his rights. This is a democratic country. A boy's best friend is his mother. The census taking within the last year shows that there is an unmistakable drift of people from the country to the cities. When the pioneers wanted something to eat they had to go out with a gun and shoot it. There were no chain grocery stores in the time of the Pilgrim Fathers. We might well profit from that reflection. You can't make a silk purse out of a sow's ear. The Battle of Gettysburg was fought in and around Gettysburg. A silkworm lives only fourteen days. What is to be is to be. Let the American people take heart.

Gwinnip Corners, Mass.—America has had a democratic form of government ever since it threw off the yoke of King George. The builders of the West crossed the country in covered wagons. It never did anybody any good to complain about the weather. You can catch more flies with molasses than you can with vinegar. We are passing through a period of financial depression, but the country will recover. You can't drive a camel through the eye of a needle. Take care of the pennies and the dollars will take care of themselves. There were 256,789,345 automobile accidents east of the Rocky Mountains in 1926. The trouble with some people is that they lock the barn door after the mare is stolen. The death of Gen. Custer occured at Custer's last fight. This can never happen again. The man worth while is the man who can smile. Great riches do not always bring happiness. The day will come when airplanes will be as common as motor cars are today. Let us do what we can to perpetuate the American fireside.

Gwinnip Corners, Mass.—This is the time of year when the people of this country suffer greatly from hay-fever. A thing like that often causes discomfort. It costs nothing to boil milk and save the lives of a million babies every year in this country. Necessity is the mother of invention. Albany is the capital of New York. Had it not been for Eli Whitney and his cotton gin, the Negroes of the South would still be picking cotton by hand. We are in a machine age. Only game fish swim upstream. When Columbus first proposed that Isabella finance his search for a new continent Isabella was indifferent. Life is like that. The Indians found they could ignite a fire by rubbing two sticks together. A bulldog never knows when it is licked. In time to come our children will benefit.

JUST THE TYPE.

The taxicab swung widely around the corner and smashed into another cab driven almost as recklessly through the cross street. "Say," said the traffic cop, eyeing both drivers bitterly, "if you guys only had horses you'd make great international polo material!"

The world has something to be thankful for: nobody has as yet attempted Tom Thumb polo.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

When Times Are Hard, Stick to Your Melon Patch, Counsels a Sage of Kentucky.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: When times are hard and money is tight, it is the time one can do some real merchandising.

When the other fellow is hedging and letting his stock run down, missing sales because he is out of an article, then the live merchant is keeping a lookout for customers.

If you go into your favorite store and can not get what you want, and have to go to another store, if that store has an attractive and prosperous appearance, if the sales people meet you with a smile and courteous manners, you will be inclined to go there again.

Remember the old adage, "Rats desert a sinking ship." That is true in business. The grouch, the complainer, the down and out, do not have any attraction for folk who are alive and up and doing.

When times are hard, business dull, money scarce and the other fellow spending his time talking hard times, you get busy. You will have more time for planting, more time to give to details of your business that need looking after, more time to make careful check of your stock, more time to make the personal acquaintance of your customers and give them special attention. Put things in ship shape.

Just this morning I bought a very fine watermelon from a farmer from out in the country. I asked him how he was able to grow such fine melons when everything had been so dry. He said, "I just stayed in my patch all the time and kept working." If he had spent his time sitting on the fence talking hard time, he would have had no melons.

So, business man, professional man and farmer, stay in your patch and work, and you will win out.

Government Old Age Retirement Plan Should Be Adopted by Business Concerns.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The aged deserve a pension, as the majority have devoted their youth and strength to the business world. There are ten States that have old age pension laws, but the pensions are merely nominal and one must be a pauper as well as aged before the pension is granted. Then, too, the beneficiary must remain a pauper or the pension does not continue.

Employes under the civil service are benefited by the retirement law. It enables them to retire at a certain age with pay. They receive this pay for life, and they do not have to be paupers in order to get it. A small percentage of their salary is withheld each pay day in order to create the retirement fund. The Government has evolved a successful method of retiring the aged on pay, and all business concerns could devise a similar plan.

The Government employes hardly miss the small amount that is deducted from their salary. People in all lines of business would be glad to contribute a small percentage of their salary to a fund provided that it would benefit them upon reaching a certain age. If the Government can pension the aged, the business world can do it also. L. F. J.

Favors Warrantless Raids When Evidence Is Strong.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In recent weeks there has been much ado concerning lawless raids on private dwellings. These raids are made on premises where there is usually some violation of the law being carried on. The officers sometimes do not have search warrants, but they do know that some one within the raided premises is violating the law. A man's house may be his castle and not subject to search unless the searching party bears a warrant, but think of the man's house that has a joint on each side of it where beer and intoxicating liquors are sold at all hours of the night. The man's castle becomes a mere shack, as he has no peace night or day.

The trouble with procuring search warrants is that the party that is guilty is often tipped off before the raid and the nest is empty. But usually the house contains evidence that there has been violation of law. When these raids are carried out on the spur of the moment the birds are often caught. I am in favor of warrantless raids where the officers are reasonably sure that they are on a hot trail. The law-abiding residents are protected when speakeasies are stamped out. G. C. PARSONS.

Footpaths Should Be Provided Along Mount Vernon Boulevard.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Permit me to indorse what has been said in The Post letter column regarding the need for footpaths in the parks and along the roadways of the District.

The parks are very far from their purpose so long as they fail to meet the requirements of those by whom the beauties of nature are most intimately enjoyed on foot. It is astonishing that this idea has lacked the serious consideration in the past which, it is hoped, it will receive in the future.

It will, indeed, be a shameful oversight on the part of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission if plentiful paths for the accommodation of nature lovers are not laid in the magnificent Potomac River Park to be developed in memory of George Washington between Mount Vernon and Great Falls.

Col. Powell Has Audience With Carol

Writer and Traveler Is in Roumania in Search of Material.

COL. E. ALEXANDER POWELL, well known American writer and traveler, who is now visiting in Roumania, had an audience with King Carol at the royal summer residence at Sinaia and was received by Queen Marie of Roumania at her residence in Balcic on the Black Sea. The colonel is in search of material for a travel volume to be entitled "The Places Where Nobody Goes." He is accompanied by Mrs. Powell and Miss Bettie Powell; and, when they left Washington in early July, they had mapped out a most comprehensive and alluring tour of the byways of Europe.

Albania, another of the "last frontiers," which Col. Powell is so enthusiastic about exploring, was included in their itinerary, as well as Roumania and Bulgaria; and they had planned to work their way through Hungary, Poland and Germany to Scandanavia, to explore some of the hamlets of France, England and Ireland and to visit Spain and Portugal before sailing for home from Gibraltar in October.

They must either have reversed their course or have postponed their return, for, even traveling fast, they could never accomplish all they had originally planned to come after their sojourn in Roumania in the few weeks left between now and the end of October.

Col. Powell's tale of the last frontiers of romance will supplement a series of volumes begun when he wrote "The Last Frontier," twenty years or more ago. Ever since he has been discovering new frontiers and writing fascinating books about them.

Col. and Mrs. Powell's present home, aptly named Journey's End, is at Chevy Chase, and they expect to return there at the close of their present journey.

Hoovers Plan Fete To Fidac Group.

The President and Mrs. Hoover have sent out invitations for a garden party on Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock in honor of the delegates to the Fidac convention and the convention of the Fidac auxiliary, which will meet in Washington on Thursday. Mrs. Hoover, now in camp on the Rapidan, with her son, Mr. Herbert Hoover, jr., will return in time for the garden party.

In celebration of the independence day of Mexico, the Ambassador of Mexico, Senor Don Manuel Tellez, entertained at luncheon yesterday. His guests were the Mexican delegates to the Inter-American Conference on agriculture forestry and animal industry and members of the embassy staff.

Mrs. Roy Young Returns to Capital.

Mrs. Roy A. Young, of Boston, has returned to Washington with her young daughters, Jane and Martha Young, whom she will place in school in Washington. During the coming winter Mrs. Young will divide her time between Washington and Boston. Mr. Young was formerly governor of the Federal Reserve Board.

Miss Helen Cannon and her niece, Mrs. Dorsey Richardson, have taken an apartment at the Hay-Adams House for the winter. They have recently returned from Paris and will go shortly to California to visit Mrs. Richardson's sister, Mrs. William Houghteling. On their way back to Washington they will make a short stay at their old home in Danville, Ill. Miss Cannon was for many years hostess for her father, the late Speaker Joseph G. Cannon.

Mrs. James W. Good, wife of the late Secretary of War, and her niece, Miss Virginia Fletcher, have taken an apartment at the Roosevelt Hotel for the winter.

Mrs. Henning Jennings has arrived in New Yord aboard the S. S. Baltic after spending the summer abroad. She was accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Jennings Hackett, and by Mrs. Hackett's three daughters.

Judge and Mrs. Ansberry Motoring to Washington.

Judge and Mrs. T. T. Ansberry, who have been passing the summer at their home in Bethlehem, N. H., are motoring to Washington with their son. They are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Palmer in Stroudsburg, Pa., and will arrive in Washington the end of the week, to stay at the Hay-Adams House until they take a house for the winter. Their son will attend school here.

Col. and Mrs. John Wall, who have recently come to Washington, have taken a house in Edgemoor for the winter. Col. Wall is now on an inspection tour of the Army remount stations.

Senator William E. Borah is at the Idaho Rocky Mountain Club in the Sawtooth Mountains. He will be there several more weeks before returning to Washington.

Mrs. Borah has returned to her apartment at 2101 Connecticut avenue and has as her guest Mrs. Frank Borah, sister-in-law of the senator, from New Orleans.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Davies, with their daughters, Miss Rahel Davies and Miss Emlen Davies, have returned to their home on Massachusetts avenue after passing the summer in Asheville, N. C., and Wisconsin.

Miss Talman to Join Mr. and Mrs. French.

Miss Marjorie Talman, who has been making a series of visits in the North, will join Mr. and Mrs. Amos Tuck French in New York tomorrow. Mr. and Mrs. French will entertain at dinner for Miss Talman on Wednesday evening at the Casino. Miss McGuire And Officer Are Married

Lieut. J. B. Lindsay, Jr., Weds Daughter of Virginian.

At the home of the bride's father, Dr. Hunter H. McGuire, in Winchester, Va., yesterday took place the marriage of Miss Judith Braxton McGuire and Lieut. Julian Broster Lindsey, jr., U. S. A., the Rev. Robert E. Hannon, rector of the Catholic Church of the Sacred Heart, officiating.

The ceremony was performed in the ancestral home of the McGuire family, the bridal chorus from "Lohengrin" being sung by a choir immediately preceding the service. This was to have been held in the gardens of the estate but took place in the drawing room because of rain.

The bride, escorted and given in marriage by her father, wore an ivory satin lace gown of princess model, a veil of tulle and ivory colored stockings and slippers. She carried a loose bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley. Her sister, Miss Ann Tucker McGuire, who was maid of honor, wore peach colored flat crepe without hat and carried butterfly roses and delphinium. The bridesmaids were Miss Carolyn Mitchell, Charleston, W. Va., and Miss Mary Marshall Hyde, cousin of the bride, and Miss Georgia Conrad, Winchester, who wore delphinium blue flat crepe without hats, and carried butterfly roses and delphinium.

The bridegroom's father, Col. J. R. Lindsey, of New York, was best man. The ushers were Mr. Thornton Barrett, of Washington; Mr. William P. McGuire 3d, brother of the bride, of Winchester, and Lieut. George Bryan Conrad, U. S. A.

A reception for 500 guests was held after the ceremony. The guests from out of town included Gen. Stephen O. Fuqua, chief of infantry, and Mrs. Fuqua. Gen. and Mrs. B. Frank Cheatham and Col. Campbell Hodges, military aid to the President, all of Washington; Col. and Mrs. J. E. Hoffer and Col. and Mrs. Beverly W. Dunn, of New York; Representative and Mrs. Henry St. George Tucker, of Lexington, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Abney Payne, of Charleston, W. Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Waddy Wood, of Warrenton, Va.; Dr. George de Schweinitz, of Philadelphia, and Dr. and Mrs. William Wilder and William Wilder, jr., of Chicago.

The bride, who attended Stuart Hall, Staunton, Va., and studied dramatics in New York, is the eldest daughter of Dr. McGuire, former president of the Virginia Medical Society; a great-granddaughter of the late John Randolph Tucker, noted Virginia constitutional lawyer, and a great-niece of the late Dr. Hunter Holmes McGuire, chief of "Stonewall" Jackson's medical staff. Her mother, the late Mrs. Charlotte Claybrook McGuire, was related to the Braxtons and Brockenboroughs of Virginia.

Lieut. Lindsey, who graduated at the United States Military Academy in 1929 and is stationed at Fort Omaha, Nebr., comes of old Southern and Canadian families. His father is connected with the Brosters of Georgia, and the late Mrs. Lindsey was from Canada.

Stewart-Sinclair Nuptial Date Set.

Mr. George Alford Sinclair has sent out invitations for the wedding reception of his daughter, Miss Helen McGregor Sinclair, and Mr. Albert Rudolph Stewart, at 4:30 o'clock, October 4, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Graham H. Powell, 3503 Woodley road northwest. The wedding ceremony will be performed at 4 o'clock at Christ Church in Georgetown in the presence of the two families and a few close friends.

Miss Sinclair will have but one attendant, Mrs. Sidney Briggs, of Dallas, Tex., formerly Miss Margaret Garrett, of Washington. Mr. Stewart will have as his best man Mr. Samuel Simmons, of Wilmington, Del. The ushers will be Mr. Osborne T. Biddle, of Baltimore, and Mr. Armstead W. Gilliam, of Washington.

Mr. Stewart is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert T. Stewart, of Wilmington, Del.

Mr. and Mrs. Houston-Johnson of England who have been in Washington at the Wardman Park Hotel, were the guests of Sir Thomas Lipton yesterday aboard his yacht the Erin for the races.

Miss Looker Is Bride of Mr. Hosier

Rev. F. Bland Tucker Is Officiating Clergyman at Nuptials.

St. John's Church in Georgetown was the setting for a charming wedding last night when Miss Margaret Barber Looker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Chatfield Looker, became the bride of Mr. Halford Schubert Hosier. The service, which took place at 8 o'clock, following a music program on the organ by Mr. King Smith, was performed by the Rev. F. Bland Tucker.

The bride was given away by her father. Her matron of honor was Mrs. William C. Looker, jr., and the other attendants were: Miss Marian Stoddard Matthews, Miss Lucy Biddle Moore, Miss Ann Caroline Brosius and Miss Eugenia Hendren Hosier. The bride's gown was of white satin made princess style; the veil was caught with orange blossoms and the bride carried a shower bouquet of roses. Mrs. Looker, jr., wore peach colored taffeta with long white gloves and a bouquet of contrasting roses. The attendants were all costumed in aqua-tone blue taffeta with matching slippers and long gloves. None of the attendants wore hats.

Mr. William C. Looker, jr., was best man. The ushers were Mr. Thomas Jackson Waters, Mr. Robert Addison Moore, Mr. Robert D. Blackistone, jr., and Mr. Charles Carswell, of New York.

After the ceremony the bridal couple greeted a few friends and relatives at the home of the bride's parents, the bride's mother wearing old rose chiffon with a corsage of roses. Mr. and Mrs. Hosier left after the reception for Boston, making the trip by sea. Mrs. Hosier wore a crepe ensemble of cocoa tones with hat to match.

Mr. and Mrs. Hosier will make their home at the Rittmore in Norfolk, Va. Among the guests at the wedding were Dr. and Mrs. Southgate Leigh, of Norfolk, and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Godcharles, of Milton, Pa.

Chilean Envoy Boards Plane To See Races

Ambassador Planned to View Contest From Dirigible.

The Ambassador of Chile, Senor Don Carlos Davila, left for New York yesterday afternoon by airplane. He proposed to fly from New York to Newport on board a dirigible, but at the moment of his departure weather conditions made it uncertain whether or not the craft would be able to set forth. The plan was for the airship to follow the American Cup race between the Enterprise and the Shamrock, its passengers viewing this great sporting event in true modern fashion from the air. The ambassador is expected to return to the embassy on Thursday.

Miss Cora Lee Drinkard, of Kansas City, is visiting her aunt, Miss Olga Campbell, in Riverside Heights.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Behrend entertained at a supper dance last evening at the Plage Deauville in honor of their daughter's, Miss Amy Behrend, eighteenth birthday. The guests numbered about 35. Miss Behrend has as her house guests for the week-end Miss Helen Louise Reizenstein, of Baltimore; Miss Irma Rosenstein and Mr. Julian Rosenstein, of New York City.

Miss Christine Lindbergh Levin has returned from the North, where she spent some time with her family at their summer home on Lake Michigan after filling some chautauqua engagements.

AGRICULTURE PRICES LOWEST SINCE 1916

New Break in August Sends General Level to 108, Under 1921 Range.

SEPTEMBER SHOWS GAIN

(Assolcated Press.)

The general level of farm prices during the month ending August 15 was described yesterday by the Department of Agriculture as at the lowest since 1916.

Suffering a further decline frtom the sharp break during the preceding month, the index dropped 3 per cent, to reach 108 on August 15, compared with 111 on July 15, 123 on June 15, and 143 a year ago.

Early in 1916, when farm prices began their war climb the index was at 100. The index of 108 on August 15 was 2 per cent below the lowest level reached in 1921, when a low level was established for the postwar period.

Price advances from August 15 to September 10 at primary markets, however, have outweighed declines, although cotton and wheat failed to maintain their gains into the first part of September. Hogs, cattle, potatoes, and butter had the largest gains.

Despite the fact that the drop between June 15 and July 15 was gengnral for farm products, some advances were noted during the next month, but not of suglicent consequence to ogset the downward trend in other farm commodities.

Due to the drought, all grain and hay prices averaged higher on August 15 than on July 15. Hog prices showed gains on a lighter volume of marketing. Eggs, butter and wool prices advanced fro mtheir very low level in July.

Considerable declines were noted in potatoes and applies, which, due to the fact that light crops in 1929 had not declined to the same extent as other commodities earlier this year.

The general downward trend took feed cattle and sheep and lamb prices to new low levels.

FEDERAL-AMERICAN IN MERGER OF BANKS

vice president; Charles B. Lyddane, vice president; Charles D. Boyer, cashier; Arthur J. Linn, comptroller; Joseph D. Yerkes, assistant cashier; H. H. Shackleford, assistant cashier; William C. Johnson, assistant to the president; Erskine Gordon, trust officer; Aubrey O. Dooley, assistant trust officer, and Leon Tobriner, general counsel.

Trust Company Personnel.

Merchants Bank & Trust Co.: Rolfe E. Bolling, president; Frank P. Harman, jr., vice president and secretary; Frank E. Ghiselli, vice president; Harry J. Donoghue, treasurer; Joseph A. Rafferty, trust officer; Thomas T. Keller, assistant trust officer, and Wade H. Ellis, counsel. L. E. Schreiner is vice president of the Dupont Circle branch; J. L. Sherwood, of the Brookland branch, and Ernest Gerstenberg, of the Pennsylvania avenue and Twentieth street branch.

The personnel of the advisory boards of the various branches will continue for the present. Additions will probably be made later, it was announced.

The beginning of the Federal-American dates back to the organization of the American National Bank, some 27 years ago with a capital of $250,000. This bank had been in operation for a decade when Mr. Poole, then cashier of the Commercial National Bank, withdrew from that institution and organized the Federal National Bank. Then 37 years old, Mr. Poole was selected president of the bank and has continued as head of the institution.

The Federal National and the American National were merged in 1922. In the seven years and ten months since this merger, the bank has increased its capital stock to $1,600,000.

The Federal was the first bank in Washington to establish paying and receiving at the same window. It inaugurated the monthly statement system and was one of the first banks to develop a scientific analysis of accounts. It was the first bank in Washington to adopt the "elevated" banking room idea. The present building was completed in March, 1926. A feature is the "clear vision" counter screen, an invention of Mr. Poole's.

The original Merchants Bank was organized in 1916 with a capital of $300,000. In April, 1922, the bank was reorganized as the Merchants Bank & Trust Co. with a capital increase to $1,000,000. Peter A. Drury, woh founded the Merchants Bank, was president until April, 1929, when he was elected chairman of the board, a position he relinquished in July of this year. The various branches of the bank have been taken over from time to time since 1922.

Mr. Poole's Career.

Mr. Poole, central figure in the merger, began his career as a public accountant, and entered the banking business in 1900. He has fostered three bank mergers. He was chairman of the five Liberty loan drives in the District; he is a former vice president of the American Bankers Association, a past president of the District of Columbia Bankers Association and Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking.

He is a member of the Federal advisory council to the Federal Reserve Board, representing the Fifth District. He is president of the Washington Community Chest, and is a member of the commission on the bicentennial celebration of the birth of George Washington.

Colombia, Burdened With Foreign Debts, Wants $30,000,000 More as Prime Need

Owes $75,000,000 on External Borrowing, Freely Made.

This is the fourth of a series of articles outlining present conditions among the nearer neighbors of the United States nearer to the South.

By EVELYN TRENT.

The inauguration of Dr. Enrique Olaya Herrera as president of Colombia on August 7 amidsthe most brilliant celebrations in which specially delegated representatives from abroad participated, marked the beginning of a new regime of reform and transition that Colombians hopefully predict will bring the country out of its present state of economic depression and financial chaos.

Third largest of the South American republics and potentially one of the richest in this hemisphere Colombia boasts unique treasures in the shape of coffee and petroleum, mines of gold, silver and platinum, the last being second only to Russia in their yield; pearl fisheries and the world's finest emeralds, as well as thousands of square miles of unexplored forest lands, timbered with valuable dye and hard woods. In addition to this, the republic contains extensive agricultural and pasture lands, with cattle raising as one of the rising array of natural resources.

Yet despite all this bewildering array of natural resources, Colombia totters today on the verge of national bankruptcy, brought about in part by a rapid accumulation of foreign loans that have raised the external debt of the republic in the last three years from $20,000,000 to $75,000,000. Federal, state and municipal governments have borrowed freeely abroad, chiefly in the United States, to carry out ambitious programs of public works, roads, highways and railways, most of which are at a standstill today, due to lack of funds in the treasury.

Americans Run Oil Industry.

When to this is added the sharp drop in the price of coffee on the world market it is easy to understand why the new administration as one of its first official acts must raise more money abroad in order to meet the existing financial stringency, the amount needed being unofficially estimated at about $30,000,000.

Colombia ranks next to Brazil in the production of coffee, which constitutes its chief staple export crop. Like Central American coffees, Colombia grows the grade generally known as "mild" in contrast to the stronger Brazilian product, the former commanding a higher price.

Production is largely in the hands of Colombians themselves, about 80 per cent of the population of 8,000,000 being directly or indirectly dependent upon the coffee industry. Thus, with coffee prices cut almost in half, the effect upon the country as a whole has been disastrous.

Four years ago coffee accounted for nearly 80 per cent of Colombia's total export trade, but this has fallen to 60 per cent, due to the phenomenal growth of the petroleum industry, which has risen from 1,000,000 barrels a year in 1925 to 20,000,000 barrels in 1928. Oil production is largely in the hands of American financial interests, which have established large refineries to handle the product before shipment and which have more than $20,000,000 tied up there in addition to large concession areas not yet developed.

Dr. Olaya Herrera is the first Liberal candidate to be elected to the Colombian presidency since 1885, Conservatives having held office there in unbroken succession for the last 44 years. This in itself is an event of importance, since it marks the beginning of a new era, which according to the official pronouncements of the new chief executive, will be characterized by internal economic development, aided by increasing investments of capital from abroad.

American investments in Colombia during the last eight years have increased from $20,000,000 to some $200,000,000, partly as loans to state and municipal governments, partly in the form of agricultural, mineral and oil developments in different parts of the republic.

It is significant that Dr. Olaya

DR. ENRIQUE OLAYA HERRERA.

Herrara, who served as Colombian Minister to Washington for eight years preceding his election to the presidency, is exceedingly friendly to the United States, and it is predicted that one of the first acts of his administration will be to revise the restrictive petroleum legislation passed by the last Congress in such a way as to give greater leeway to foreign oil interests, which have slowed down production since the passage of the new law. While officially friendly to the United States, Colombians in general are somewhat hostile to Americans, for the memory of the secession of Panama still rankles in many hearts, while there is the general Latin-American fear of domination by the northern Colossus.

Colombian business men are said to be more friendly to the British, German and French capitalists than to American ones, but this, too, is passing, due to the tremendous strides that United States export trade is making throughout the republic.

The new government is not strictly liberal in its make-up, being a coalition Liberal-Republican regime, in which conservative elements favorable to the present administration have been included. New provincial governors are being appointed to carry out the policies of the central government, but in general a clean sweep of old office holders is being made.

Chief port of call for steamers making the Panama run on the Caribbean Coast of Colombia is Cartagena, historic city of the Western Hemisphere and one of the oldest in South America. Cartagena is a thriving metropolis of nearly 90,000 people, the outlet for the petroleum producing region along the Magdalena River and the terminus of a pipe line with a capacity of 50,000 barrels a day, that carries oil from the fields at Barranca, Bermuja, 300 miles distant, to discharge in the tankers that drop anchor at Cartagena.

City Once Had Spanish Inquisition.

Here was formerly the great trade center of Spanish colonial days, where the riches of Central and South America were brought by mules and ox carts for transshipment to Spain. In Cartagena were constructed elaborate fortifications at a cost of $7,000,000; impressive monuments, which still stand today, after innumerable sieges at the hands of British buccanneers and pirates and the lapse of nearly 400 years.

The medieval walled city, with its fortress, prison, monastery and cathedral, connected by miles of tunneled galleries built of solid masonry that still defy the centuries, rivals those of Europe in beauty and degree of preservation, while its picturesqueness is further enhanced by quaint streets and low adobe buildings with overhanging balconies reminiscent of old Spain. Itinerant beggars, pedlars with donkeys and slow-moving ox-carts complete the picture of a medieval town, which is slowly being crowded out of existence by the newer structures of a modern age rubbing elbows with the past.

The site of the Spanish Inquisition, now a school, yet stands as a reminder of the power of the Church of Investment of American Capital Is Put at $200,000,000.

Rome, which still exercises a great influence on secular affairs throughout the republic, Colombia being one of the most Catholic countries of the New World. Fully 90 per cent of the people are born within the church.

Public instruction is conducted along religious lines, by constitutional provision, and the existing concordat or treaty with the Vatican further gives the clergy supervision and control over such matters as baptism, education, marriage and the rites for the dead. Colombia Liberals have long demanded the supression of this concordat with the Vatican, or, at least, its modification to admit of civil education in the public schools. It remains to be seen whether the new government will attempt any reforms in this direction.

Questions relating to the economic and political situation of Colombia were discussed with me by his excellency, Senor don Enrique Grau Velez, former mayor of Cartagena and governor ad interim of the Province of Bolivar, pending the appointment of his successor by the new government. The name of Senor Gomez Recuerdo has been proposed for this office. He is a personal friend of Olaya Herrera and a well-known Liberal, who is consulting attorney for the Gulf Oil Co. Cartagena is conservative in its politics, having supported Guillermo Valentta, opposition candidate for the presidency, a famous Colombian poet.

Hope to Attract Foreign Capital

"In regard to the general economic situation in Colombia, which has been affected by the world crisis, there are good prospects for the future, thanks to the program of the new national government, headed by Dr. Olaya Herrera, which seeks to attract foreign capital to aid in the exploitation of our great natural wealth for the common good," said Senor Grau.

"The financial crisis has forced the suspension of various important public works, and, as a result, thousands of people have been thrown out of employment. Everything possible is being done to relieve the situation.

"Although our new president is a Liberal, he has decided to accept office on the basis of a republican program, which will secure him a concentration of talents irrespective of party groups. Colombians have received President Olaya's modern ideas with enthusiasm and, thanks to the cooperation of competent statesmen in the work of national reconstruction, we expect the country to forge rapidly ahead. A strong impetus will be given to fulfilling the program of public works already laid down to the completion of which Dr. Olaya has pledged himself and his administration.

"The new president has expressed himself fully as to the desirability of attracting foreign capital to the country, within reasonable limits, and as the only progressive means of aiding in the development of our resources.

"Important American interests are established in Colombia, and the present government as well as Colombian business men, politicians and financiers all desire to develop friendly relations with those American capitalists who desire to serve the country as well as their own personal interests."

FOUR BURN TO DEATH IN WARRENTON FIRE

Fifth Is Critically Injured as Oil Stove Gets Out of Control.

GIRL'S LEAP SAVES LIFE

Warrenton, Va., Sept. 16 (A.P.).—Four persons were burned to death and a fifth critically burned in a fire which destroyed the house of Mrs. J. M. Wells at Casanova, near here, today.

The dead are George, Francis and Stuart Wells, children of Mrs. Wells, and Miss Mary Hall, of West River, Md.

Mrs. Wells was in a hospital at Fauquier in a serious condition. The eldest Wells child, Betty, 10 years of age, jumped from a window and was the only member of the family to escape unhurt. The fire was started from an oil stove.

It was learned that Mrs. Wells was planning to start this morning for a trip to North Carolina and her aunt, Miss Hall, had arrived to stay with the children. Mrs. Wells woke about 3:30 o'clock and lit the oil stove to prepare her breakfast. She fell asleep again and awoke to find the house in flames.

After trying in vain to save the others, Mrs. Wells and her daughter left for the house of W. W. Gulick, the nearest neighbor.

Mrs. Wells was formerly Miss Lillie Brooke, of Annapolis. Her late husband, John M. Wells, was also from Maryland. They came to Casanova soon after their marriage, but later returned to Maryland. After her husband's death Mrs. Wells made her home here with her four children.

Special to The Washington Post.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 16—Judge William H. Kirkpatrick was presiding in court here today when proceedings were dramatically interrupted by the news that his sister-in-law, Mrs. Lillie Wells, had been seriously injured and her three small children burned to death in a fire that destroyed the Wells home at Warrenton, Va., early in the day.

Adjourning court until next Tuesday, the judge immediately left the bench and prepared to go to Warrenton.

137TH ANNIVERSARY OF CAPITOL'S START

Bicentennial Group Recalls Events of Historic Day of September 18, 1793.

WASHINGTON LAID STONE

Tomorrow marks the 137th anniversary of the laying of the corner stone of the Capitol by George Washington.

The event formally was recalled here yesterday in a statement issued by the George Washington Bicentennial Commission.

"On September 18, 1793, Washington, clothed in the symbolic regalia of the Ancient Order of Free Masons, and wearing the Masonic apron made for him by the Marchioness de Lafayette, laid the corner stone at the southeast corner of the edifice which became the National Capitol of the United States," it read.

"The ceremonies were attended with much pomp and rejoicing. The official opening of the event was announced by a discharge of artillery. Then a large silver plate was presented by the grand master. On June 10, 1929, Herbert Hoover laid the corner stone of the new Department of Commerce Building. In doing so the President used the same trowel that George Washington used when he laid the corner stone of the Federal Capitol in 1793, thereby linking up 136 years of American history."

BRUENING TO RETAIN CHANCELLOR'S POST

German Cabinet Decides He Shall Map Program for Solving Problems.

MAY WIN FIRM BACKING

Berlin, Sept. 16 (A.P.).—The cabinet decided unanimously today that Dr. Heinrich Bruening should carry on as chancellor and place before the new Reichstag October 13 a program for solving Germany's economic, financial and social problems.

The chancellor immediately will consult party leaders and see what support can be obtained for continuing his administration, following the elections of Sunday, which greatly increased Fascist and Communist representation in the country's leading legislative house.

Meanwhile the various parties are calling conferences to establish their views, with the state party scheduled to have the first meeting tomorrow.

Strong Position Seen.

There is an impression that Dr. Bruening will be able to develop a strong position despite the fact that he has only 68 seats in his own party—the Centrists—while the Fascists jumped amazingly from 12 in the old Reichstag to 107 in the new, and the Social Democrats have 143 votes in the new body.

The remainder of the votes are scattered among smaller parties, and to obtain a majority the chancellor probably will have to line up either the Fascists or Socialists. If that occurs he will be forced to give concessions. He has, however, received the support of President Von Hindenberg and other influential leaders.

The remarkable jump of the Fascists shows that in one city at least the women have turned strongly toward Fascism. In Cologne only 3,000 women voted for the brown shirts in the previous election, but they gave them 30,648 votes Sunday.

The definite composition of the new Reichstag will hardly be known before September 25, as a recount will be necessary in several doubtful cases, but it appears now that 576 will sit in the new body.

Will Increase Costs.

This is 84 more than in the last Reichstag, and it is estimated that the increase in size will cost the taxpayers at least 1,000,000 marks (about $240,000) more annually in salaries and free railway passes.

Today's session of the Berlin city council, the first since the summer recess, broke up in tumult over demands by the Fascists and Communists. The Fascists, fortified by their victory Sunday, introduced a motion demanding that the council dissolve and urging it to request the Prussian diet to do likewise. This was rejected, as was a joint Communist-Fascist demand that their motion against the Reich emergency law increasing municipal taxation be given preference in the proceedings.

Besides Whittemore, the group attempting escape included J. L. (Wiggles) Smith, serving life for the murder of William I. Norris in a pay roll holdup; Edward Harding and Hunter Lewis, life for the murder of a grocer in the progress of a holdup; George Bailey, 15 years for safe cracking; August Byer, Robert Minner and Lew Mercer, serving long terms for the daylight holdup of the Ruoff Jewelry Shop in Baltimore.

Whittemore was convicted for the holdup of a bank at Westminster more than a year ago. Another in the group was Edward Cissell.

The prison, described last December by the National Society for Penal Reform as "one of the worst in the East," was the scene of a riot nearly two years ago which lasted for two days, but did not result in injury to either guards or prisoners.

On July 26 there were 1,154 prisoners, 118 of whom were serving life terms. The report last December said there were but 564 cells to every 1,000 male prisoners, and 50 cells for the 89 women inmates.

Three Small Children Lose Lives in Flames

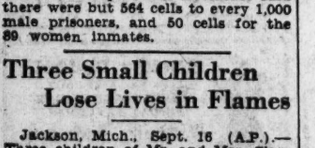

Jackson, Mich., Sept. 16 (A.P.).—Three children of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Martin lost their lives last night in a fire which destroyed the Martin home in Knollwood Park, a suburb. Martin was burned in attempting to rescue the children from the flames, which resulted from an overheated stove.

The dead: Jeanette, 6, and David, 4, who were suffocated in their beds, and Juanita, 9 who died from burns, and injuries received when she fell down a burning stairway.

Men and Girls Sentenced To Prison in Bank Theft

Salisbury, N. C., Sept. 16 (A.P.).—Ted Honeycutt, 19, and John Ellis, 20, of Charlotte, and two girls tried here with them for robbing the bank of Rockwell, on August 18, today were given long prison terms. The boys were sentenced to 10 to 14 years in State's prison. Both had pleaded guilty.

Mabel Yarborough, of Charlotte, who entered a plea of guilty to a charge of being an accessory to the robbery received a five to eight year sentence. Mary Frick, of Rockwell, the only one of the quartet to fight the charge, was given a sentence of six to eight years. A jury found her guilty yesterday.

LOAN SHARKS BLACKMAIL POOR PAYING BORROWERS

employer refused to assume the obligation himself.

Not a single one of the scores of loan sharks in the District is licensed, either under the "loan shark act" or as a note broker, according to Wade H. Coombs, superintendent of licenses, who reports that he has received no applications nor issued any licenses for any classification which would cover money lenders.

What Licenses Are.

Several of the loan sharks, however, display on their walls licenses which, upon close inspection, prove to be licenses to operate as real estate dealers, agents or brokers, but the only real estate business they do is when they foreclose on real estate which has been posted as collateral for a usurious loan.

The Post's "loan shark" reporter yesterday set out to interview some of the 41 loan sharks whose activities have placed them on his list. His purpose was to discover their reactions to this series, and he entered their offices without hesitation and announced his name and connections without any attempt at concealment of his identity.

All of the money lenders he called upon informed him that his credit was good for any amount he cared to borrow, without interest and without indorses for his note. Two wanted to know if there wasn't some way by which "we can get together and put an end to this series." They did not make any actual offers of bribery, largely because the reporter did not seem receptive to the idea.

The particular broker mentioned in the first incident above regaled the reporter with a long tale of woe which would make it seem that the poor money lender was the most unfortunate being in the world. To hear him tell it, there are no honest borrowers in the world; every one who gets a loan from him does so with the express purpose of beating him out of the money.

Big-Hearted, He Insists.

Further, he insisted, he is so big-hearted and magnanimous that never yet has he pressed any debtor for payment.

"If they don't pay," he said with a sickly smile, "that's just my tough luck. Do you think I'm the kind of guy that would press a guy for money when maybe he's got a sick wife or something? Do you think I would ever go to that man's boss and get him in wrong, and maybe get him fired? Do you think I would go and garnishee a man's salary just because he happens to owe me a little money? Listen, mister, I would rather lose the money than make any trouble for anybody."

The reporter might have remarked that because of the activities of loan sharks in the District, whose oppression destroys a borrower's efficiency and value to his employers, many employers have adopted a policy of discharging immediately any employe whose salary is garnisheed. A man who is out of a job is not much good to a loan shark to whom he owes money.

On the other hand, the reporter might have remarked that perhaps one reason why the loan shark hesitated to start legal action to recover was because he was sufficiently familiar with the "loan shark act" to know that if the borrower was not quite as dumb as he looked, he might hire a competent lawyer to fight the suit, with the result that instead of collecting, the loan shark would end up by "doing time."

Courts to Act in Cases.

Above there have been outlined just two cases of what happens when a borrower fails to pay. The Post has in its possession records of many more similar cases, many of which will be brought into the courts of the District in due time.

This articles does not in any sense attempt to justify any borrower in failing to pay his obligations. If a borrower incurs such obligations, knowing in advance what he will have to pay for what he gets, it is his duty to meet those obligations. The real purpose of these articles is to inform the prospective borrower what he is up against, and to make it impossible for the loan shark to demand and get the exorbitant, usurious rates he now collects.

Even more pernicious than the straight money lender is the automobile finance wizard, who loans money and accepts title to the borrower's car as security.

These gentry operate on the same basis as the straight money lenders who lend to salaried persons on indorsed notes; that is, they collect at the rate of $40 fees plus 6 per cent interest. But they have the added advantage of being able, without any legal procedure whatever, of attaching the borrower's automobile the moment the borrower fails into arrears.

Then Trouble Starts.

Once a borrower's automobile has been confiscated by one of these auto finance sharks, trouble starts, unless the borrow knows his rights, and even then he has plenty of difficulty.

Here is what happened in one case: A man earning a small salary borrowed $100 from a New York avenue loan shark, giving deed to his automobile as security, and signing a note for $140, payable at the rate of $28 monthly for five months.

He was late on one payment, and his car was seized. To get back his car, the loan shark made him pay storage and hauling charges amounting to $59.30, bringing his total payment to $199.30 for $100 he borrowed. He has now brought suit against the company under the "loan shark law" to recover the usurious interest paid and one-fourth of the principal.

That was one alternative open to a borrower under such circumstances; he can pay the amount demanded and then sue to recover. On the other hand, he could have had the court issue a writ of replevin forcing the loan shark to return his car to him and placing upon the loan shark the burden of suing him to collect whatever he thought he could get.

When Borrower Fails.

What happens when a borrower fails to pay then is briefly this: If he has received a straight loan without other security than the indorsements of two salaried friends, the loan shark seeks first to obtain payment by blackmail, threatening to report him to his employer and to circulate reports among his friends.

This is illustrated pointedly in the case of a policeman who found himself caught recently in the loan shark's meshes. The loan shark threatened to have him brought before the Police Trial Board and, although it meant that his wife had to forego a much needed serious major operation, the policeman paid up.

But when the blackmail fails—that's a strong word, but it is used advisedly—the loan shark actually does go to the borrower's employers and tries to make trouble. If the result is that the borrower loses his job and can't pay, then the loan shark starts action against the indorsers, following the same procedure.

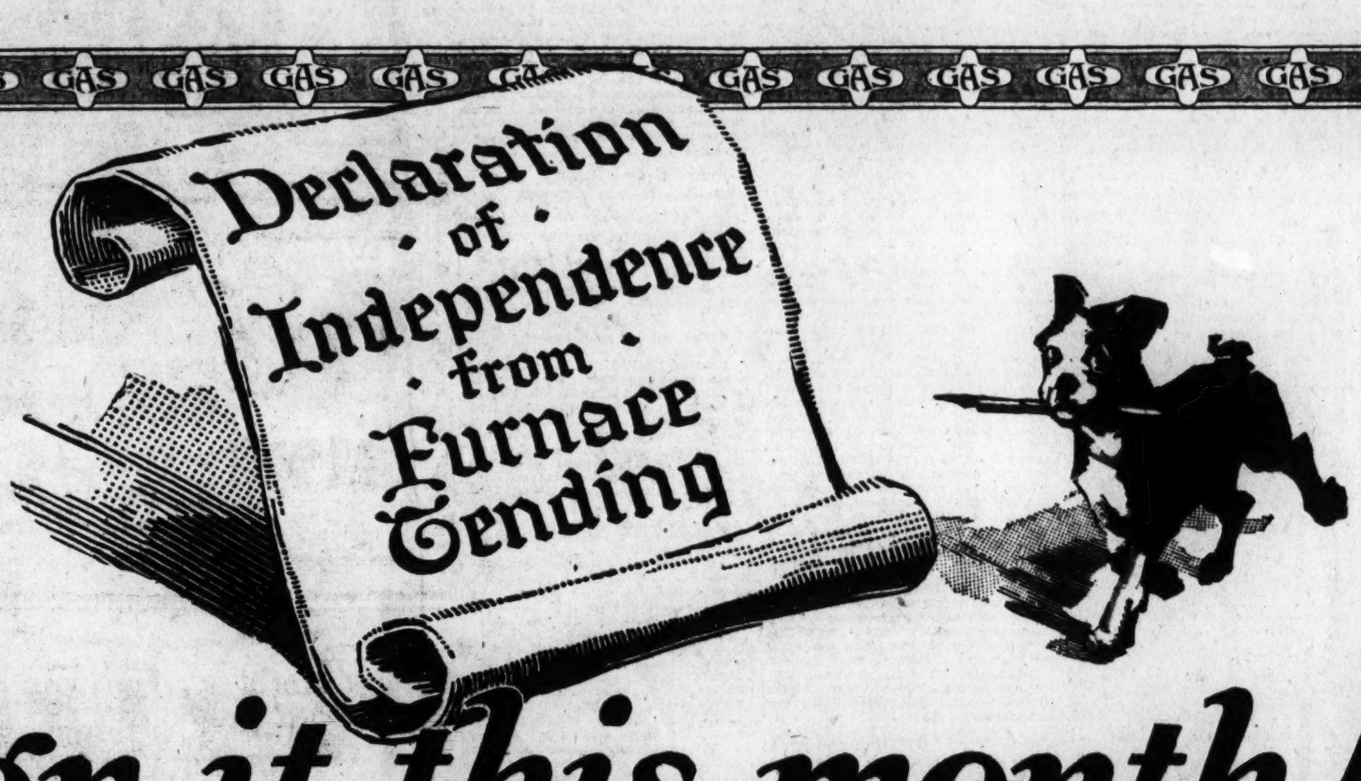

In the case of an autofinance loan, what happens has been told in preceding paragraphs.

Tomorrow there will be some revelations as to the powers behind the loan sharks, who finance them and, in other words, act as their silent partners.

It may be true that a woman's place is in the home—mind you, we said it MAY be true—but home with a balky furnace is certainly no place for a woman.

Friend husband, comfortable at the office, where heat is automatic, has at times felt a little guilty about friend wife at home. Vaguely he has had it in the back of his mind to find out about Automatic Gas Heating. But somehow he has felt in the past that Automatic Gas Heating, bringing ample, dependable heat, with no work, noise, dirt, dust or vapors, was a rich man's luxury.

Well, in a way he is right. From the point of view of the whole-souled satisfaction that Automatic Gas Heating brings, it is a rich man's luxury. But with the new low rates it is a rich man's luxury that the average man can afford.

The hand that rocks the cradle will no longer have to stoke the furnace.

The new schedule of rates has been filed with the Public Utilities Commission and is subject to the Commission's approval before being put into effect.*

FORTUNATE FAMILIES in Automatic Gas Heated homes have declared for themselves a lasting independence from furnace tending, furnace men and furnace worries.

A sudden blizzard? The Automatic Gas Furnace turns on extra heat. A sudden thaw? The Automatic Gas Furnace turns itself off. House temperatures stay constant at the points you prefer for day and night. You take Automatic Gas Heating just as much for granted as your water supply. Its operation does not depend in any way on complicated mechanisms or delicate adjustments.

And cleanliness! No soot, dust, grime, vapor or grease to make housekeeping burdensome. No fuel storage. No tools of any kind. A furnace room as clean and quiet and useful as upstairs space.

Cost? With the new* low house heating rate many hundreds of additional Washington home owners will be declaring permanent independence from furnace tending. You do not necessarily have to scrap your present heating plant. If your furnace is in good condition it can be converted into a gas-burning boiler at a moderate cost. Miss Mysterious—By Larry Lawrence

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS.

A coed called Babe by her friends receives a letter from her guardian saying he has lost all her money and is going to commit suicide. He says that she is not Thielma Townley, as she has always believed. The shock forces Babe to a stern plan. She will earn her own way and learn her identity. This she tells to a friend, Violet Rimmel. A man, who says his name is Morgan, comes to her and proposes marriage, telling her he knows of her trouble. Babe suspects Morgan of being a crook. Pete Jones, Milwaukee, a senior, asks her to marry him. She turns him down. That night she is kidnaped by two men. Pete rescues her. They learn that the boss of the kidnapers is a man called the Duke. One is called Gus, the other "the runt." Babe sends Pete back to school, and stays in Milwaukee seeking a job. She learns that some one broke into her room at school and stole two old brooches. Weary and discouraged at her failure to get work, she is approached by a man named Mac, who offers her a mysterious job. She takes it. They go to a gambling hall, and Mac tells her to vamp a certain man. It proves to be Morgan. She goes with Morgan. He makes violent love, and Babe accidentally shoots him. Mac arrives, finds Morgan is not seriously wounded, searches his room, and finds the stolen brooches. Morgan leaves town. By comparing notes, Mac and Babe finds that they are both searching for the same man—Babe to learn her identity, Mac to get revenge. They are convinced it is Forseith, who has not committed suicide, but only used that dodge to escape enemies. To get a line on Forseith, Babe feigns amnesia, and appeals to police. She is put in a hospital, and Forseith tries to get her out of it. Pete and Vilet, seeing Babe's picture in papers, come to rescue and get her out of hospital. Mac realizes that he is in love with Babe, and Pete and Mac know they are rivals. Babe is worried because she loves them both. She fears there may be a taint inherited from her unknown parents, but deep in her heart she is certain that her father was a brave man, and she fights to be like this ideal she holds of him. Mac goes to catch The Runt, who has been shadowing them, and says he will return in 10 minutes, but is gone for more than an hour. Babe is frantic with worry.

CHAPTER XVII.

For an hour Babe paced the floor. Mac had told her to stay in her room and wait. She did not want to disobey that order, but the agony of suspense was too great to bear without action. He had said he would be back in ten minutes. Of course, it was quite possible that he had been forced to wait for a chance to nab the runt. She was being alarmed without reason, perhaps. She would be a good soldier and obey orders, wait until he returned.

She paced the floor, stopping now and then to sink down in a chair and fight for calm. In this way Babe killed another hour, an hour that dragged endlessly.

When the second hour had been marked off on her watch she grew calmer. She stopped her pacing, went to her mirror and carefully applied a minimum of make-up. She got the tiny pistol from its hiding place, put it in her bag and counted the bills there. Nearly $100, enough to see her through an ordinary emergency.

It was early evening. Crowds were swarming on the sidewalks and the safety zones were packed with girls waiting for buses and street cars. She remembered how she had envied these young women who knew who they were and where they were going while she had been tramping from office to office seeking work. The feeling came again. "They probably never worry about heredity." It seemed odd to be thinking these thoughts as she walked through the hurrying crowds, anxiously scanning the face of each man, hoping to see Mac, yet knowing that she could not see him.

While pacing the room no plan came to her. She had tried to formulate a plan. She was still at a loss. This walk down the street was the best thing she could think of for the moment. Maybe she would see Mac, or maybe she would see the runt.

Several times she turned quickly to see if she was being followed. After walking three blocks she crossed the street and returned. Automobiles were streaming past. Babe looked into the cars held up by the traffic. It was a meaningless way to search, she told herself, but it was action, at least. If she kept going perhaps some plan would come to her.

"Forseith now knows that Mac is in league with me. Probably he has remembered him. Maybe he knows that Mac is seeking vengeance. He may have killed him to escape that vengeance." She began to hate herself for having insisted that they carry on this pursuit.

"If they have killed Mac it is my fault. I urged him on." Then she told herself that she was being melodramatic. She told herself that one does not commit murder so lightly but this was no comfort for she read the papers. She knew how very lightly life was held by gangsters, by insane, by paranoics. Turning into the hotel she raced to her room, hoping to find Mac waiting for her. He was not there. The feeling of being terribly alone possessed her again.

What should she do?

Find Mac! But how? How?

By this time she was certain that the runt, probably aided by one or more confederates had managed to get Mac in a car. She was certain that they would take him to Forseith. Then there was only one thing to do. That was to find Forseith. How was she to do that? Hunt for him? Where? She didn't have the faintest idea where to start that hunt.

Should she post herself at a street corner and wait and wait until she saw him? That might work. She h' heard it said that if you stand at Third street and Wisconsin avenue you will eventually see every one who lives in Milwaukee County.

But she was not even sure that he was in Milwaukee County. No, she suddenly decided that he was not in the county. The fight in Pete's summer home flashed before her. Gus had sneered and said the Duke would get there in a minute. The Duke then must have been living nearby. Forseith, the Duke. One and the same person. It was like a flash. Certainly. Then the place to look for Forseith was near Pete's summer home. Pete had said that Chicago gangsters had hideouts in the vicinity. Summer home owners had been aware of the gangsters using Wisconsin for a playgrounds and place of escape from police and enemies for some months now. That was it. Rush to that district.

"Thank goodness, I can drive," she thought. "But I wish Pete were here." And for a moment she forgot her anxiety over Mac, remembering how Pete had driven that day he rescued her. But it was foolish to waste time thinking of things, now that she had decided what she would do. Babe almost ran to the nearest car renting agency.

The agent asked for a deposit. She paid, got into a small car and headed for the country. It was getting dark as she crossed the city limits. Mile after mile rolled up on the speedometer. Babe was certain she was on the right road, yet things did not look at all familiar in the dark. In a little more than two hours she reached the village.

"I have no idea where to go from here," she said aloud. "I may as well go into a restaurant and get something to eat. Some one may be able to give me a clew." But there was no restaurant to be found. A man dressed like a farm hand was standing on a corner. Babe pulled up near to him and called, "Can you tell me where I can get something to eat?" He grinned.

"Guess there ain't no place here. But 2 miles up that road there is a kind of a place to eat. Don't suppose I should have told you about it though. There's some mighty tough customers hang around it. It's more of a saloon and slot machine place than it is a eating place."

"Thank you," Babe said. "I guess I'll risk it. I am pretty hungry."

"Well, I wouldn't go in there alone if I was you," the man advised. "There's all kinds of people hang around it." Babe was certain it was just the place she did want to go, but perhaps this country youth was right. She might not be welcome if she came alone. She started to ask him if he would come with her and then quickly ruled that out, thinking she would be more conspicuous with him than she would be alone.

"Think I'll try it anyway," she said, and started driving up the gravel road. The place was easy to find. There were a few cars in the parking space. Babe drove in, parked and walked to the door. The place was like a hundred others near resort communities, just a big barnlike structure, a porch at the front, a big room that served as barroom and another room that opened off the bar. In this room wooden tables were drawn up around the walls. The center of the floor at times served for dance space. To get to this room you had to walk through the bar.

Along one wall in the barroom were a number of slot machines. Two or three men were grouped around one of these machines playing dimes. The whir of the mechanism was the first sound that greeted Babe as she timidly entered. Two men were leaning on the bar and drinking beer. She was the only woman in the place. The men about the slot machine looked up and frankly studied her trim figure. It made her self-conscious, uncomfortable. Her impulse was to turn and walk out, escape the open scrutiny of these men. But she set her white, even teeth and marched boldly up to the bar. The men there turned toward her and smacked their lips. They were not smacking them over the beer.

Before she could speak to the bartender he said, in a matter-of-fact way, "What'll you have?" And one of the men at the bar broke in, "Give the little girl anything she wants. This is on me."

That almost floored Babe. She did not know how to handle such a situation. Apparently they had taken her for a woman who came to saloons seeking free drinks.

"I only want to get a bite to eat," she interposed. "Sure, give her some groceries." Turning to Babe the generous one mouthed, "That's O. K., kid I love to buy eats for swell looking dames."

"Thank you," she replied, "but I prefer to buy my own food. You see, I got off the main highway and got lost and I am simply starved."

"Fine, cutey, come on in the back room and we'll have some nourishment. I need a couple of calories myself."

The other man looked on and grinned as this play took place. Both men were well dressed. Both had slick black hair. They were obviously from the city, and Babe guessed that they must be racketeers of some kind. This place probably was a mecca for that sort. It was just where she might expect to get some information. And she would have more chance to get it by being friendly than by being aloof, she decided. It was a bitter thought that she should be playing the role of a woman who sought men. But she steadied herself and looked the sleek one in the eye. Babe decided that she could take care of herself if it came to that. She clung a bit more tightly to that bag that held her pistol. "Well, I am awfully hungry and it's nicer to eat with some one."

"Sure, kid. Now you're using the coop."

"Think I'll have a bite myself," the other man remarked. "Scram, Ike, scram. Do you think you're going to muscle in on my dame. We want peace and quiet. The man addressed as Ike laughed, "Oke Romeo."

Apparently they didn't care much about what they said in her presence, but Babe guessed that it was only natural for them to talk that way in front of their girls. She choked back her resentment and disgust.

"What have you got, George?" her Lothario demanded of the bartender. "Ham and eggs, or maybe we could find a couple of steaks out in the box."

"How does a stea' hit you, honey?"

"Suits me fine." Babe tried to sound enthusiastic.

"Make it a pair of steaks and all the side oats you got to go with 'em and set up a couple of beers in the back room while we're waiting."

Babe saw there was no one else in the back room, but it was big and an open door connected with the barroom. She was not afraid to sit in there with this man alone. Her fear had vanished, giving place to a feeling of strength to cope with whatever situation might be forced upon her.

Babe drank her beer slowly. It would not do, she told herself, to refuse it and beer would be much easier to take and not so dangerous as highballs.

"Say, kid, this is luck," the man started. "I'm stuck up here for a couple of days and I ain't got a honey to help me kill the time. You sure have got the looks, too, baby. That Ike is so jealous he could cut my throat.

"But what right has he got butting in? He's got a dame up here. He's about to give her the air, though. But say, he don't want to make any passes at my cookie or I'll drop him. Ike always was a scaley bum."

Babe let him talk. He seemed to take a tremendous lot for granted in a mighty short time, but she supposed she had let herself in for that by accepting his invitation.

The bartender-waiter brought the steaks and a pile of French fried potatoes. Babe ate and listened. The man was boasting of his own importance, telling what big shots he knew and how close he was to them.

"Why, I'm in on the know, see? I've got to see Scareye tonight. Now there's a guy. He's bigger than the Enni boys. He's the boss. Say, there's a queer one holing up with him now, too. Old Striped Pants, I call 'em." Babe almost swallowed a bit of hot potato. Her luck was better than she had hoped. But she was not free from this obnoxious man, yet. She almost forgave him, she was so happy to have heard those words.

Babe listened more intently now. She wanted to know how to get to Scareye's place. Maybe this person could show her.

DR. BROWN FUNERAL SET FOR TOMORROW

Former Dean of Dentistry School at Howard University Victim of Stroke.

WELL-KNOWN IN CAPITAL

Funeral services for Dr. Andrew J. Brown, 73 years old, of 1819 Vernon street northwest, who died Sunday at his residence, will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the funeral parlors of the Almus R. Speare Co., 1623 Connecticut avenue. The Rev. John T. Palmer, grand chaplain of the grand lodge of Masons, will officiate.

Dr. Brown's death was sudden, following a heart attack. He was well known in Washington, where he had lived since 1885, coming here from Newcastle, Del. He was one of the oldest practicing dentists in the city, following his profession for more than 41 years.

For more than 35 years Dr. Brown was dean of the Dental School at Howard University. He retired from that position three years ago. Besides his work in dentistry, Dr. Brown was a prominent Mason, holding the thirty-second degree, and was a member of Benjamin B. French Lodge and Columbia Council No. 2. He was also a member of the District Dentists Association and the Dentists Dinner Club.

Surviving Dr. Brown is his widow, Mrs. Grace Dufour Brown, and one son, Oliver Dufour Brown, who is at present with the Chase National Bank in Hongkong, China. Interment will take place at Rock Creek Cemetery.

EXPORTS IN AUGUST SPURT $38,000,000

months of 1930 fell off 20 per cent as compared with its foreign trade in the first six months of 1929, the foreign trade of the United Kingdom fell off 15.5 per cent, that of Canada 24.1 per cent, and that of Japan 28 per cent.

With the exception of the month of October, 1928, America's post-war trade reached its high point last October when goods valued at $528,514,000 were shipped abroad.

From that month on, excepting for last March when there was a slight recovery, American export trade declined. To what extent it declined may be realized by a table made public yesterday by the Department of Commerce, showing the value of American exports each month.

October, $528,514,000; November, $442,254,000; December, $426,551,000; January, $410,838,000; February, $348,835,000; March, $369,601,000; April, $331,731,000; May, $320,160,000; June, $294,995,000 July, $266,628,000.

And then came the $38,000,000 increase in August. Just what caused this, the Government experts will not say until they have examined the detailed figures for that month. These will show just what goods were exported, how much of these goods were exported, and to which countries they went.

In these figures, they may be able to read something that will be of real importance from the standpoint of America's economic position abroad.

Well, if you are—It's probably your own fault—You don't know how to eat right and that's one reason.
If you would like to learn how to lose the fat you hate—and no one else likes—do as I did—Take this 30-day test—
Cut out candy, cakes—pies and ice cream—cut down potatoes, rice—butter—cheese, cream and sugar—
Eat anything else you feel like eating, but moderately—lean meat—fish—chicken—vegetables and fruit are best—
Take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts—in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—don't miss a morning—follow this advice. One woman lost 19 pounds in 4 weeks—another got rid of 47 pounds in 3 months—a New York woman lost 14 pounds with one bottle of Kruschen and is full of vim and pep, so she writes—
At Peoples Drug Stores—or any drug store in the world you can get these magic salts—one 85-cent bottle lasts 4 weeks—Ask for Kruschen Salts—an enemy to Fat.—Adv.

A clear skin is irresistible...

in fact, popularity depends upon it
YOU KNOW your skin is constantly undergoing a change!
Invisibly you shed the old skin and take on the new. The quality of the new depends very largely upon the quality and the vitality of your red-blood-cells—those vital "cells" that build, nourish and repair tissue.
Whatever treatment you may use for your complexion, remember the important fact that natural beauty—a clear skin and a rose-petal complexion—comes from within.
More red-blood-cells and of the right quality! That's the answer to a sallow complexion and to pimples and boils.
The way to regain the red-blood-cells is to take S.S.S.—the Tonic that will help Nature build up and enrich your blood. Your skin will clear up! Your whole body will be strengthened!
If popularity and a clear skin are slipping away from you try S.S.S. Its successful record of over 100 years is a guarantee of satisfaction.
Complexion cleared up beautifully
Miss Mary Rank, Clearwater, N. Y., writes: "My face was blemished with many pimples. No treatment I used did them any good. I also had boils. My appetite was poor. My weight was off and I felt nervous. After taking S.S.S. my complexion cleared up beautifully. My appetite improved. I now rest well at night and am greatly benefited in every way. Because S.S.S. helped me I think it is the best blood medicine!"
Pimples and blackheads disappeared
Mrs. Mary E. Parker, Bahama, N. C., writes: "Because of a rundown condition my appetite was poor. I felt tired in the mornings and was troubled with pimples and blackheads. Red bumps came on my face once or twice monthly. After taking S.S.S. the pimples and blackheads disappeared and my skin became clear. I do not feel tired upon rising in the mornings. I had tried a number of medicines but S.S.S. is the one that helped me."
Blood is Life!
You cannot count your own red-blood-cells—that is technical! But you should know that they are the "ships" that sail in the blood and carry nourishment to all parts of the body. Also, they remove impurities from the tissues.
Pimples and boils, body weakness, lack of appetite, underweight, paleness and sallow complexion are symptoms of a low blood count. These may indicate that you need S.S.S.

LEAGUE TO DISPOSE OF UNION IDEA TODAY

Briand Plan to Be Submitted to Special Committee for Study.

NIGHT SESSION CALLED

Geneva, Switzerland, Sept. 16 (A.P.).—After the League of Nations Assembly had heard today the views of a score of governments on what the world needs to advance the cause of disarmament and relieve widespread economic depression, the delegates went into a night session to take up formally French Foreign Minister Briand's proposal for a United States of Europe.

The assembly, it was announced, was prepared to dispose formally of the Briand proposal early tomorrow. A resolution to that end was read to the assembly tonight, but its adoption was postponed until morning.

Leading delegates have agreed that the best way to handle the French minister's plan is to submit it to a special committee representing all European states which are members of the league for their further study.

Hope for Action Small.

The results of their deliberations, it is widely suggested, will be presented to the assembly next September. Thus, for a twelve-month at least, the hope of immediate action on the formation of such a European confederacy has vanished.

The personnel of the committee which will consider the Briand proposal will be selected by the European governments themselves, each to name one representative. This is the sense of a resolution prepared by M. Briand himself for the assembly tonight, acting upon prior agreement with most of his colleagues.

Agricultural States Bond.

Minister of Foreign Affairs Mironesco, of Roumania, and Foreign Minister Zaleski, of Poland, today told their associates in the assembly of the movement of recent weeks among the agricultural states for economic collaboration.

In this movement of Danubian and Baltic countries as expressed in conferences at Bucharest, Sinara and Warsaw, these statesmen professed to see the seed of an European cooperation which might grow into a real federation bringing the countries of the continent to plan and follow a common course to solve their economic problems.

Economic experts at Geneva already have viewed this movement as offering possibilities of the highest significance. These experts say that if the agricultural states once get together they will be able to force their industrial neighbors to come to terms and accept the program for their common good.

Wants Arms Conference.

The urgent need of calling a general conference on disarmament at an early date was emphasized today by Foreign Minister Curtius, of Germany, making his first appearance before the assembly, and Signor Scialoja, of Italy, one of the veterans of the league's work.

The German minister spoke in a conciliatory tone upon most of the questions before the league today but struck out vigorously in favor of a definite scheme of disarmament. He said that the victorious nations in the treaty of Versailles had promised they would adopt a plan for laying aside their fighting armaments and insisted that security could never be attained as long as rivalry existed in military, naval and air forces.

The Italian spokesman's declaration was somewhat along the same line. The Mussolini government, he said, is ready to enter into a general scheme for reducing armed forces to the lowest level consistent with the demands of national defense.

Good Feeling Displayed.

A display of good feeling in which Foreign Secretary Henderson of Great Britain, Foreign Minister Briand and Foreign Minister Curtius had leading parts took place at the annual luncheon of newspapermen accredited to the league.

The French foreign minister seemed in his finest form and spoke with great feeling of his "battle for peace" and of his esteem for the late Foreign Minister Stresemann of Germany. His eulogy of Dr. Stresemann brought prolonged applause from his hearers, who included all the members of the council and many diplomats in Geneva.

Foreign Secretary Henderson lauded Briand's work as unsurpassed among the contributions to world peace during the past decade and declared that the French and British governments had identical purpose in working for international fellowship.

Couple Seized in Ohio Wanted in Kidnaping

Columbus, Ohio, Sept., 16 (A.P.).—Miss Minnie Griffith, 30, of Ashland, Ohio, and Alonzo Smith, 29, of Columbus, were arrested today on charges of being fugitives from justice from Roanoke, Va.

Police said they were informed by Roanoke officials that the couple was wanted there on kidnaping charges.

Kinston Man Must Die For Virginian's Slaying

Kinston, N. C., Sept. 16 (A.P.).—Herman Casey, 45-year-old truck driver, was convicted in Superior Court here this afternoon of the murder, July 3, of J. C. Causey, Suffolk, Va., lumber man. Sentence will be passed tomorrow.

The verdict automatically carries a death sentence. Casey showed no emotion when the jury's verdict was read at 4:05 p. m.

Two Firms Jointly to Carry Post From Atlanta to Los Angeles.

(Associated Press.)

Postmaster Genreal Brown announced yesterday that he had awarded to the Aviation Corporation of New York City in conjunction with the Southwest Air Fast Express the contract for carrying air mail on the new Atlanta-to-Los Angeles route.

Aviation Corporation and Southwest Air Fast Express offered the only bid for this service. The Postmaster General made no announcement on the New York-to-Los Angeles route on which bids were opened at the same time, and for which two companies are contending.

The Atlanta-to-Los Angeles contract specified that service should start within 30 days, and that the Government would pay 40 cents a mile for transmission of mail up to 225 pounds, with provision for "an appropriate change of rate" in the event that this poundage figure was exceeded.

For the present, the Postmaster General announced, the schedule would be for daylight flying only.

SUPPORT URIBURU, IS IRIGOYEN'S PLEA

END OF STRIFE PLEDGED

Buenos Aires, Sept. 16 (A.P.).—Former President Hipolito Irigoyen, through his nephew, Luis Rodriguez, today appealed to his party adherents to accept the new provisional government of President Jose Francisco Uriburu.

The former president, who was overthrown early in the month by Uriburu and his followers, now is a prisoner on the cruiser Belgrano, anchored in the River Plata.

After a conference with Irigoyen, Rodriguez informed leaders of the radical party that his uncle would regard as "a veritable crime" any act of sedition against the existing regime.

Announcement of the deposed president's views was made shortly after the Uriburu government published a charge that firearms and ammunition have been distributed among Irigoyenista with the object of being used in violent opposition to the army and navy, now controlling the country.

Leaders of the radical party—the Irigoyen organization—received the former president's message at a meeting called especially for that purpose. After learning the attitude of Irigoyen they adopted a resolution which stated:

"In view of recent occurrences, it is necessary for all Argentina to contribute to continuance of public tranquility and maintenance of order. This conception of duty will guide our conduct and this is the thought that we wish to communicate to Radical compatriots throughout the country."

Connecticut G.O.P. Scores Rum Laws

Lieutenant Governor Is to for Governor Against Former Yale Dean.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 16 (A.P.).—The Republican party of Connecticut today nominated Lieutenant Governor Ernest E. Rogers, of New London, a dry, as its candidate for governor, and adopted a platform advocating restoration of liquor control to the States.

In the November elections Mr. Rogers will oppose Dr. Wilbur L. Cross, dean emeritus of Yale University Graduate School, the wet Democratic candidate. The Democratic platform calls for repeal of the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act.

The Republican resolutions committee last night adopted a plank which called for repeal, but the wording was changed overnight upon the insistence of J. Henry Roraback, chairman of the Republican State committee. Mr. Roraback, it was learned, threatened to resign the party management if such a plank were adopted. So in its place, a plank scoring conditions under the eighteenth amendment and urging restoration of State control was passed and approved by the convention without a dissenting vote.

FIREMAN DISMISSED ON DRIVING CHARGE

100 APPEAR AT HEARING

Prince Georges County Commissioners yesterday heard complaints by county volunteer firemen concerning the arrest of a fireman on his way to a fire by County Policeman Frank P. Prince.

After hearing testimony on both sides the commissioners decided that both the fireman and the policeman should be censured, the fireman for not exercising the proper caution and the policeman in not waiting until after the fire was out to arrest the fireman.

Approximately 100 volunteer firemen appeared before the commissioners to protest the arrest. They claimed that the firemen of the county have been given right of way by an act of the State Legislature and that the policeman had no right to charge the fireman with reckless driving.

Prince, on the other hand, pointed out that the right of way act passed by the Legislature also contains a clause which says that the firemen must exercise proper caution in taking the rights of way and not endanger lives unnecessarily.

Edward George Boyer, driver of the College Park Volunteer Fire Department engine, who was the man arrested by Prince, received a dismissal of his charges when the policeman arrived late to police court for the hearing.

The county commissioners adopted a new county zoning ordinance as prepared by the Maryland National Capital Park and Planning Commission.

Two suits for absolute divorce were filed in circuit court at Upper Marlboro yesterday by husbands who claimed they had been deserted.

William J. Richardson, of Takoma Park, Md., asks an absolute divorce from Mrs. Lillian Overly Richardson, of Washington, alleging desertion October 28, 1921. The couple was married December 25, 1899, at Richmond, Va., and have three children, all above the age of 21 years. The husband is represented by Attorney Arthur C. Keefer.

Sherman E. Brady, of Prince Georges County, asks an absolute divorce from Mrs. Louise Va Brady, of Washington, alleging desertion July 27, 1927. The couple was married October 2, 1925, at Washington, and have no children. The husband is represented by Attorney LeRoy Pumphrey.

Woman Takes Poison On Dare From Her Son

Akron, Ohio, Sept. 16 (A.P.).—Mrs. Hazel Wright, 36, is in a critical condition at a local hospital today from the effects of poison tablets said by police to have been taken as the result of a dare from her 15-year-old son.

Police said Mrs. Wright had quarreled with her son over his conduct and threatened to take poison unless he mended his ways. When the boy ridiculed the threat, they said, the woman obtained the poison and swallowed a dangerous quantity.

AMARYLLIS FOR HOUSE DECORATION.

THE amaryllis is one of the most gorgeous plants we have that is really suitable for growing in the modern steam-heated house or apartment. This plant, with its colorful flowers, requires so little care, and when you consider its everlasting nature and tendency to increase, it is worth all the effort or care you may bestow upon it. The first essential in growing amaryllis is to purchase bulbs of large-flowered varieties. The Johnson hybrids are rich in color and the flowers are borne profusely, but they are not very large. The sprekelia hybrids have rather irregular blooms and are also smaller than the perfectly formed vittatum. The large-flowered amaryllis are usually hybrids listed as hippeastrum vittatum. However, as these are long, hard names for the amateur, better forget them and merely take the advice of your dealer when purchasing one of these gorgeous bulbs.

Purchase the bulb or bulbs some time before Christmas. Pot them in as small pots as possible, with the bulb well out of the soil. As a rule, the pot should only be one inch larger in diameter than the bulb. Use a heavy soil enriched with bonemeal and cow manure. Keep the pot in a cool, shaded place until growth starts. The first sign of growth will be the flower stem. When this shows, give the plant but little water until it has attained a height of eight inches. When growth starts, the plant must be brought into a sunny place. From the time the stem pushes open the soil until after the buds have unfolded, the plant should have a little liquid manure each week.

As soon as the flowers have passed, the leaves will make rapid growth. Keep up your care of the plant at this time. This is where many owners fail. They do not seem to understand that upon the care that is given the bulb at this time will depend next season's blooms. Gradually withhold water when the leaves turn yellow. Let it have but little water during the early winter. Keep it in a cool, dark place, perhaps in a basement. Some soil may be scooped out of the pot each year and replaced with a rich mixture of good loam, bonemeal and cow manure. I use the word scooped, for the bulb must not be disturbed.

Poinsettias

for Christmas!

Have you started your plants into new growth? And do you know what to do next?

You'll find out all about it in a leaflet which is all ready to go out to you as soon as your self-addressed, stamped envelope arrives to put it into. Address your request for it to Jane Leslie Kift, care of The Washington Post.

All readers' questions on growing and care of indoor and outdoor flowers and floral decorations for social functions will be answered by Miss Kift, directly in this column if addressed in care of The Washington Post, or directly to readers if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is supplied.

Jane Interprets the Mode

Graceful and flattering, this tea gown of pink taffeta embroidered in pink and silver paillettes. (Courtesy of Cheruit, Paris).

New York, Sept 16.

"OF course, I must go out to buy some potatoes, Madame," said the French-maid-who-is-Spanish the morning after I was part of the crowd of so-called celebrities who sat under undimmed Klieg lights for two hours. Well, I don't know about the other celebrities, (ahem!) but I do know that I couldn't open my eyes in the morning, or rather that I couldn't keep them open very long, they hurt so.

Now I never eat potatoes and besides I had a lot to do that day and was cross 'n' everything, but before I could do any more than shriek, "po-o-o-o-o-ta-a-a-a-to-o-o-es!" she was gone. And when she came back, with a dishful of mashed up raw potatoes, well, I was pretty near being minus one good maid for which I would have been plenty sorry.

But spreading a nice thick bath towel on the pillow, and tying my hair up in another towel, she proceeded to smear these doggone old mashed raw potatoes over my closed eyes, then covered up the ungodly remains with a wash-cloth and told me to go to sleep.

Which I did for an hour, and when I managed to wade my way out of the uncooked calories upon awaking, there wasn't a sign of any sore or tired eyes! Two or three people who were in the same movie weren't so lucky, as I found out later that they had suffered with their eyes a good twenty-four hours. So I hasten to tell you what raw potatoes can do when properly handled . . . and to never fire your maid when in a temper . . . for you might be sorry.

Since there is nothing new under the sun and I should say particularly in the silversmith's art, I wouldn't say that the use of lacquer on silver is new. But using lacquer only as a subsidiary, leaving the silverware appearance of the beautiful silver surface and decorating this surface with the shaded tints of the lacquer in semibrilliant tones is new and very beautiful. Table pieces, jewelry, cigarette-cases and the like are making their appearance in this effective new manner.

There is something about a Cheruit tea-gown that is just so breathlessly lovely, that the minute you see it you discover how thwarted your life has been because of its tea-gown-less-business. And in the next breath you have quite decided that it is not only the lovely ladies of the screen and the stage who are entitled to this feminine extravagance . . . and then in about two more breaths you have at last in your repertoire a tea-gown in all of its loveliness.

Anyhow, that's what happens to me when I see garments like the one I illustrated for you today. It was pink taffeta, and oh, so gracefully cut and so graciously draped! And then the silver paillette and pink embroidered trimming gave it just that certain air. . . .

* * * *

The way my Deah Publik responded to my last yelp for leaflet ideas was certainly delightful. Yelp or no yelp, you can ALWAYS tell me what you like or don't like about this column, you know . . . and I am especially pleased when somebody writes in as somebody just did, and asks for some more of the little designs in the corner of the day's sketch. Because, sh-h-h-h-h, we lo-o-o-o-ve to make 'em, especially exotic lady ones like today's!

WORK ON BRIDGE

COULD YOU HAVE MADE MORE?

The above hand was played in a recent Duplicate Contract Tournament and an examination of the tallies disclosed that only a small percentage of the tables made the proper score.

South (the dealer) opened the bidding with two No Trumps, holding a 20-count. West passed and North jumped to three No Trumps, which obtained the contract.

At Auction Bridge South would have become the Declarer with a bid of one No Trumps.

West opened with the Trey of Spades—the fourth best card of his best suit. Dummy spread his cards and most of the Declarers, not stopping to count the sure tricks and figure out the most probable way to make the needed additional ones, carelessly played a small Spade, which East won with the King; realizing that the Spades could not be established, East switched suits, leading the Ten of Hearts. South played the Jack; West played the King, which held the trick, and returned the Seven of Hearts. These Declarers now realized their mistake when it was too late; but no matter how they played, the adversaries made four Heart tricks, the Ace of Clubs and King of Spades, leaving only one-odd for the Declarer.

THE CORRECT PLAY.

At the few tables where the hand was played correctly, the first Spade trick was won with dummy's Ace and the Club suit established at once. This method of play insured four Club tricks, three Diamonds, one Heart and one Spade—a total of nine tricks—against any possible distribution of the outstanding adverse cards and also against any possible defense.

The hand furnishes another proof of the importance of planning the play of the hand before touching a card in dummy. The first card played may decide the fate of the game; and it is easy to let a trick slide up to a Queen, not realizing that the King may be held by the leader's partner and a fatal shift be made or when playing a trump declaration a ruff obtained.

What Today Means to You

"VIRGO."

IF September 17 is your birthday the best hours for you on this date are from 10:40 a. m. to noon, from 4 p. m. to 5 p. m. and from 11 p. m. to midnight. The danger periods are from 7 a. m. to 8:30 a. m. and from 2 p. m. to 3:40 p. m.

The stars only portend good for you on this date. Vivid emotion experiences. Realties of life gained through spiritual vision, and viewpoint changed. Open your arms to friends and resist the advances of strangers.

The child born on this September 17 will have ambition, plus energy and pride of achievement. It will not long want its food put into its nest, but will soon wish to try its own wings. It will have a merry, bright disposition, and the blessing of an even temperament.

You have a hypercritical, cynical, emotional nature, and you live for only the moment. You rarely, if ever, think in measured terms of the future and are always willing to barter tomorrow for the gratification of today. You permit yourself to believe that you are a slave to your passions and desires. Your moral courage is weak, and you have little self-control and reserve strength to fall back on when life offers difficult problems. There are few people who can catch and hold your affections, although you are loyal to those to whom you owe obligations and gratitude. You unconsciously attract others, especially those of the opposite sex, and your charm will many times prove a curse to you.

You are too restless and impatient to be a real sticker at most things, and this is true in your work. Success for you must be caught on the run. You have no blind faith, and that which material vision or cold reason can not prove, is of little worth to you. "You have to be shown." You are a chronic doubter.

You have a clever mind in a great many ways and you have brilliant "brain storms," which could be of practical use to you, if you took the time to work them out properly. You are apt, however, to begin on half-baked ideas, which lead you worse than nowhere. You need to listen more to the advice of proven and friendly counselors. Experience teaches you little.

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES M'DONALD

Men Without Ambition.

DEAR Miss McDonald: I am going to ask you one straight question and you need not answer it if you consider it impertinent. But it is the one thing I want to know. Now here it is. Would you yourself marry a man knowing that he would always be poor, although congenial in other respects, college education and all that? That's all. Do I get an answer? He just seems to lack ambition, although pleasant company. DOT.

Why should I hesitate to answer, although the course that would be best for me might be the worst possible for you? With that in mind I will be perfectly honest with you and probably shock most of the readers, for my answer is an unqualified and emphatic "no."

In the first place such a man could never be congenial to me. That is not the type that would get my phone number although in my youth I once seriously considered such a man. He has less today than he had then, fewer friends, fewer ideas, fewer attractions. He is past 40. He had the advantage—or in his case, the disadvantage of college education, but he lacked what no college can supply—ambition. And that is why he is not only poor but a failure. He is and always was plain lazy. Any man, college trained, who hasn't enough horse sense to get out and get his share of what is being handed out in this world is a poor matrimonial risk. How is a woman to thrill over that sort of make-up? How can she be proud of a man who is unequal to the fight? How can she respect a man who is beaten before he starts?

If a man were devoting his life to some great work which precluded any chance of his acquiring wealth or even comfortable success, then that would be entirely different. He might be quite thrilling. But the plain or garden variety of uselessness, that sighs and says "Well, Honey, I love you but you will have to scrub floors, for I haven't the money-making instinct"—is just that kind of self-satisfied dud who really would let you scrub the floors, and probably walk on them while they were wet and let you scrub 'em over again. Not for us. And think well yourself before you decide.

Men have a right to make good. That is their job. And there are entirely too many of them looking around for girls who won't expect much, and will take even less. Men get out of life about what women insist that they get. And women are too easily satisfied today. There are wives providing two-thirds of the upkeep of the home and these are the ones who tell of husbands who throw up a job at the first excuse. It was once thought romantic for a man to sigh into his sweetheart's ear that he was poor and always would be. But now any girl knows that nothing can keep a man down but laziness. And from lazy men may womankind be delivered.

And that is my honest answer to your honest question. I would not have him as a gift.

However I am passing the question on for you to others, for it may well be that I expect too much of the stalwarts. But as I read your question I could just see you for a few years hence trying to raise four children and run a boarding house while the gentleman without ambition enjoyed life. Seek and ye shall find. Ask and it shall be given. Women ask too little, get too little and give too much.

This column is for you! Your experiences, opinions and suggestions will help those who read this page. Express your views and help those in need of advice. You need not sign your name.

Uncle Sam's Home Hints

CUTTING.

(Bureau of Home Economics.)

For any type of garment several rules in cutting should be carefully observed. If disregarded, the garment may be difficult or impossible to fit.

First of all, keep the pattern straight with both warp and the weft threads of the material and have both free from wrinkles and creases. For example, when cutting a sleeve the lengthwise pattern markings of the pattern must be kept straight with the lengthwise threads of the material and the underarm seam points at the arm eyes must fall on the same crosswise threads of the fabric. If the material is folded lengthwise or crosswise folds must be exactly parallel or at right angles with the selvages. The temptation is sometimes great to swing the pattern even a half inch off center in order not to piece a small corner. This is fatal to the appearance of the finished garment.

Lay the pattern on the material with the least possible waste. Watch carefully the placing and matching of stripes.

Before cutting out a dress or blouse be sure that the shoulder of the back section of the pattern is one-half inch longer from the arm eyes to the neckline than the shoulder of the front section. This extra length is eased onto the front edge when the shoulder seam is basted. If the pattern has not made this allowance nevertheless cut it that way especially for the figure that is even slightly round-shouldered. To add to this amount lay a tiny lengthwise fold in the material through the center of the back before cutting. If necessary, a similar amount may be added at the center of the neck.

When cutting out a garment follow the edge of the pattern exactly. Most patterns allow for seams. If the edges are not followed accurately the garment when basted up is larger than intended in some places and smaller in others and fitting becomes difficult.

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

BAD NEIGHBORS AND DISEASE.

ONE reason for the continued prevalence of easily preventable contagious diseases is the unwillingness of people to be good neighbors and good citizens.

One year ago the United States public health service decided to try to establish a morbidity registration area. At the end of one year of investigation they are in doubt as to the feasibility of the plan. The proposed morbidity registration area was to be one in which the reporting of contagion came up to certain standards. Any State, or perhaps any city in which the reporting was up to standard was to be recognized as in the morbidity registration area and entitled to all the honors and advantages thereof. To get the thing under trial they picked out six forms of contagion—diphtheria, infantile paralysis, smallpox, scarlet fever, typhoid fever, and tuberculosis. If three-quarters of the cases of these diseases were reported that fact entitled the State to entry in the registration area.

To put the trial in operation a health department was to apply for registration, whereupon a house-to-house canvass would be made, taking the census of all cases of contagion that had occurred within one year, and the facts discovered were checked against health department records. A few other details of the standards need not be mentioned here.

In the year of trial one State, with about 7,000,000 people, headed by an excellent health department, reported that 64.6 per cent of its diphtheria was reported, and for the other five diseases the percentages were as follows: Infantile paralysis, 30 per cent; scarlet fever, 62.1 per cent; smallpox, 62.6 per cent; typhoid fever, 61.5 per cent; tuberculosis, 52 per cent.

Can we wonder that infantile paralysis is so difficult to control since more than two-thirds of the families fail to report the disease and thereby endanger the children of their unsuspecting neighbors and friends? Is it not to be expected that the expense of smallpox is high since the health departments learn of less than two-thirds of the cases and this covered-up third are free to spread the disease? Nearly 40 per cent of those who have typhoid fever are not watched to prevent them from infecting milk and water supplies.

APPENDICITIS SYMPTOMS.

Mrs. R. M. writes:

1. What are the symptoms of appendicitis?

2. Just where is the pain located?

REPLY.

1. An acute attack is apt to start with a griping, colicky pain. This may be followed by nauses. Then comes fever. A steady, sharp pain, not colicky in character, comes later. Vomiting and tenderness are symptoms. The tongue is red and pointed. Physicians depend for diagnosis on an examination of the blood.

2. The tenderness is generally located in the right side of the abdomen, low down. The location of a pain is not easy, especially if the pain is colicky.

Community Chest Asks Increased Donations

Contributions totaling considerably more than the budget for 1930 must be raised by the Community Chest this year, according to reports submitted at a meeting of the organization's executives held yesterday in the United States Chamber of Commerce Building.

Increases in the amount of money required for next year, according to Elwood Street, director of the Chest, are made necessary by the wipin out of the $100,000 surplus remaining from the 1929 fund, and by the use of the $50,000 inaugurated fund, which was needed to meet this year's demands.

The Great Goofus Bank Robbery

(Selected by the Crime of the Week Club)

Chapter 1

The Cashier of the River Bank
Was short a pile of dough;
Just who had stolen all the cash
He didn't seem to know.

Chapter 2

Filo Pants, the Great Detective,
Quickly said he'd found a clue;
"The Goofus Punster pulled this trick!"
All wondered how he knew.

Chapter 3

But when the Punster had confessed,
Pants said, "I'd not looked far,
I know that he'd been in the safe—

Washington Churches Take Part in Meeting Near Lucketts.

Lesburg, Va., Sept. 16.—The fall meeting of the Presbytery of Potomac, Southern Presbyterian Church, opened in Faith Chapel, near Lucketts, this county, this evening with a sermon by the retiring moderator, the Rev. John A. Bowman, of Waterford, Va.

Business sessions will occupy the greater part of Wednesday. Reports will be made of home and foreign mission work, and discussion of the state of religion in various churches will be made by elders from each church in the presbytery, which comprises churches of northern Virginia, a number in Washington and Baltimore.

Dr. Thomas Hooper, of Culpeper, is the permanent clerk.

Dinner Here Attended By Gold Star Mothers

The American Gold Star Mothers who are in Washington were brought together last night at a quiet dinner at the Hamilton Hotel. Mothers from about fourteen States were present.

A short business session was held immediately following the dinner, when letters from other members in 22 States were read. Mrs. George Gordon S[illegible]d, the national president, presided.

Walsh Sees Peace Of Europe Menaced

G. U. Vice President Reviews German Elections on Return From Trip.

Cool heads and a "broad, understanding statesmanship" are necessary for preservation of European peace, according to the Rev. Edmund A. Walsh, S. J., vice president of Georgetown University, who has just returned from a three months' tour abroad.

Dr. Walsh declared that the results of the recent elections in Germany "can hardly have comforted those charged with the peace of Europe, as the present political structure of the German state is jeopardized by hot extremists now in control of the Left and Right wings in the Reichstag."

Should the Fascists or National Socialist party prevail, he said, it is possible that Germany will scrap the Treaty of Versailles, with subsequent intervention by allied powers.

Lions Club Will See Dogs Trained for Blind

Morris S. Frank, blind director of the Seeing Eye, will demonstrate how dogs are trained to lead the blind at the weekly luncheon of the Lions Club in the Hotel Mayflower today. Mr. Frank will be accompanied by his famous dog, "Buddy."

On Thursday night Mr. Frank will explain the work of his organization to the District of Columbia Association of Workers for the Blind, at a meeting to be held at 8 o'clock at the Hurt Home for the Blind, 5050 R street northwest. He will be welcomed by B. L. Frisbie, president of the home.

Dr. Atkinson to Speak To Guild of Hospital

Dr. Wade H. Atkinson will be principal speaker at a meeting of the Women's Guild of Sibley Memorial Hospital to be held Thursday morning at 10:45 o'clock in the chapel of Rust Hall, which adjoins the hospital on North Capitol and M streets.

Mrs. A. C. Fisher, vice president of the guild, will preside, and several vocal selections will be given by Mrs. Benjamin Dulaney, accompanied by Mrs. S. Bledsoe.

Woman Suffers From Poison Dose.

Mrs. Agnes Conley, 23, of 1317 H street northeast, was treated at Casualty Hospital yesterday afternoon after police said she took a quantity of poison. She was taken to the hospital by her husband, Thomas Conley. Her condition was undetermined last night.

Fog and Calm Delay Clash Of Yachts

Thrid of Enterprise-Shamrock Races to Be Held Today.

Alterations on Lipton Boat Are Aided by Postponement.

(Associated Press Sports Editor).

NEWPORT, R. I., Sept. 16 (A.P.). Befogged and almost becalmed, the America's Cup armada rode at anchor in the harbor today instead of riding the waves out to sea. The third race of the series in which the defender Enterprise twice so far has outsailed the challenger Shamrock V was postponed until tomorrow by the race committee of the New York Yacht Club at 10:20 a. m. (Eastern standard time).

Two big steam yachts had already collided in trying to nose their way out through the murk, hazards awaited any concerted attempt by the fleet to go out and conditions obviously were impossible for the sailing of any sort of a satisfactory race.

Harbor Blanketed by Drenching Fog.

The harbor, boats and race course were blanketed for hours by a drenching fog that Britons compared to a "London particula," supposed to be the No. 1 brand of fog density. The vapor was so thick that it felt like rain. Scarcely a breath of breeze stirred throughout the morning and the atmosphere was oppressively sluggish so that even if the fog had lifted sufficiently, wind conditions scarcely would have enabled the racers to have covered the prospective 30-mile lee-windward course.

As things turned out, ironically enough, the weather cleared in the afternoon, a brisk breeze sprang up and conditions were closer to perfection for a real sail than they have been at any time since the races started; the shift in the weather, however, came too late, although it appeared the race might well have been sailed if the committee had delayed its final verdict another hour.

Providing wind and weather do not take another unfavorable tack and if the early morning fog blankets can be tossed off, the third race will be run tomorrow under the same competitive conditions scheduled for today.

Delay Considered Boon For Shamrock.

The day of rest was considered a boon to Shamrock V, and her crew which had little hope of escaping a third straight setback. The Challenger's afterguard had planned to ask a cessation of racing Wednesday to make a final desperate effort to get the Challenger tuned up to winning form. The unexpected postponement enabled her handlers to go to work at once and effect several further alterations in preparation for racing again tomorrow.

Although still secretive about the measures being taken, the British board of strategy was understood to have decided on several slight changes in trim, all designed to produce better ballast and sailability.

Had today's race been sailed, Shamrock V, would have gone to the starting mark substantially as she raced last Saturday. The ton of ballast removed prior to the second race on Monday, was put back last night. The yacht was to be remeasured before going out again to make sure its specifications still met the requirements.

No more ballast was to be tossed overboard, but this afternoon some of it was shifted in an effort to get the desired balance and buoyancy that the Challenger has so far lacked. Some objections to sails also were undertaken.

Neither Racer Goes to Starting Line.

Neither one of the racers made a move for the starting line. It was apparent early that prospects of any racing were dubious and the hazards of any attempt to get the big spectator and patrol fleet out to sea were quickly demonstrated by a crash inside the harbor.

This collision involved the 228-foot steam yacht Sialia, owned by Archie M. Andrews of Los Angeles, formerly the property of Henry Ford—and the 182-foot cruising yacht Seaborn, owned by Richard F. Howe, of Glen Cove, Long Island.

In plain sight of each other, despite the heavy blanket of fog, these two boats came together with a crunching of the Seaborn's bow against the stern railing and wood work of Sialia. Both were heading slowly out leeward Narragansett Bay and both proceeded on their way, without waiting for explanations or so much as to reveal their identity.

Officers of the British flier sloop, Heliotrope, later identified the two boats. Seaborn returned to anchor in the afternoon, showing only traces of the crash on her bow. But Sialia cruised out to sea after undergoing slight repairs.

This is the fourth of a series of articles analyzing the strength of the possible world series rivals.

By AL MUNRO ELIAS (Famous Statistician).

ALL six of the pennant contenders in the two leagues seem to be well fortified at third base now that the teams have rounded the stretch turn, but both the Cubs and the Cardinals were forced to do considerable experimenting before plugging up holes that cost them both several early season games.

Norman McMillan did a fairly satisfactory job of playing the hot corner for the Bruins last year, but he was cut loose over the winter when McCarthy acquired Lester Bell, a first-water third-sacker, from the Braves. It was thought that Bell would end the Cubs' infield troubles. A sore arm put him out of commission at the start of the flag chase, however, and until very recently Woody English, the regular shortstop, and Clyde Beck were dividing hot-corner duties. Now, however, Bell is back in shape, and his return, along with Hornsby's, has measurably strengthened the inner defense of the Bruins.

Adams Alternated With Frisch.

The Cards had Sparky Adams and Frank Frisch alternating between second and third for a long time before Gabby Street finally decided on keeping Adams permanently at third and Frisch at his natural post at second. It was only after the Card infield became definitely settled that the Red Birds made their sensational climb that carried them into first place.

The Giants and Robins, the remaining National League possibilities, have both had consistently good third-basing from Freddy Lindstrom and Wally Gilbert, respectively. Lindstrom is in a class by himself among the contending hot-corner tenders at the plate. The Giant star is clubbing the horsehide at a .365 clip and his record includes 199 hits for 295 bases. He has scored 116 runs and batted 89 others across the platter.

Gilbert has done remarkably well for a youngster, and his play around third base did much toward keeping the Dodgers on top until their collapse in the West. Wally is batting .293, and his 419 total chances afield is topped only by Bluege's 434.

Dykes Shaded By Bluege.

Of the two American League contenders, the Nats seem to be better protected at third. Ossie Bluege, long one of the two best third base men in the junior loop has a slight edge on the versatile Jimmy Dykes of the Athletics, both at bat and in the field. Bluege leads all of his rivals in total chances with 434. He has made but eleven miscues for a fielding average of .975. Dykes is fourteen points lower, but Jimmie's versatility and his everlasting energy almost offset Bluege's defensive advantage.

Offensively, Bluege is hitting .281 against .285 for Dykes. He has driven home four more runs than his rival and has scored four more times. So all in all, third base play figures to be fairly even in the coming world's series, unless Freddie Lindstorm, whose heavy batting will give him a decided edge, gets into the battle.

Phils Win Slugfest; Triple Play Features

Philadelphia, Sept. 16 (A.P.).—The Phillies nosed out the Pirates today, 15 to 14, in a wild and woolly tenth-inning struggle. After the Pirates had scored four runs in the tenth inning, the Phils came back to score five in their half and clinched the victory.

In the eighth inning Chick Thompson engineered a triple play.

Alexander's Hitting Gives Tigers Victory

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 16 (A.P.).—Two timely hits by Alexander gave Detroit a 7-5 victory over the Red Sox in the first game of their series here. Alexander delivered his blows—both singles—in the third and fourth innings with two runners on base each time, thus driving in four runs.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

ROBERT T. JONES JR., paired with Roland Mackenzie, yesterday won the exhibition golf match on the course of the Columbia Country Club, against Macdonald Smith, runner-up with Jones in the British and American opens, and Fred McLeod, the Columbia Club professional, on the eighteenth green, one up.

With the match all square on the eighteenth tee, McLeod sliced his drive to the right into the rough and failed to be on the green in 2. Macdonald Smith also missed his second shot and was far short of the green. Jones, who was on with his second, had an easy 4, while Mackenzie, playing out of a trap, was so close to the cup on his third that his 4 was conceded. McLeod's approach was short by fully 20 feet and he missed his putt. Smith, from a distance of 10 feet, then tried to hole out for a half and failed, both taking 5s, which lost the match.

3,000 Follow Match Despite Rain.

The contest from start to finish, however, fully repaid the gallery of 3,000 golfers who followed the players throughout the round, despite the drenching rain which overtook contestants and gallery at the fourteenth hole.

On the first hole, Mackenzie, on the green in 2, had an 8-foot putt for a birdie 3, but missed and the hole was halved in 4. On the second hole, Jones' ball, apparently destined for the ditch, struck some one in gallery and stopping short of the hazard, gave him an opportunity to pitch close to the pin and he won the hole with a birdie 3. On the third hole McLeod, with a fine second shot to the green, ran down a long putt for a birdie 3 and squared the match.

Jones' Approach Wins Fourth.

When Jones, with a dead approach, won the fourth hole with a par 3, the amateurs were again one up and they held this lead until the ninth hole, when McLeod, playing a fine approach shot from fifty yards off the green, holed out for a 4, squaring the match again, Jones taking three putts, although he was the only player on the green in 2. Then, on the tenth hole, Mackenzie, playing his second shot within four feet of the pin, made his side one up by running down his putt for a birdie 3.

Thereafter all the holes were halved until the fourteenth. On the fourteenth Smith, who had missed putts on the seventh and ninth which would have given him a half or a win, retrieved his previous errors by running down a 15-footer for a birdie 3 and a win, again squaring the match. With the fifteenth halved, both the amateurs won the sixteenth with par 3s, although Smith again missed a putt, not over four feet in length, which would have given him a half. However, on the seventeenth, playing from the flat below the elevated green, he pitched so close to the pin that he holed out for a birdie 3.

All Holes But One Won With Birdies.

Up to this time, with the exception of the ninth hole, where McLeod won with a par 4, all the holes had been won with birdies and even on the fifth hole, a par 5, no less than four birdies had been scored. Even with this phenomenal playing, the match was all square and as already stated, would have ended all even if either Smith or McLeod had played their second shots to the final green.

It is hardly necessary to add that the playing throughout the round was

By winning only three of their remaining nine games, the Athletics can clinch the American League pennant, even if the Nats win all of their remaining eleven.

MACKS TAKE TWO FROM CHISOX

Victory 27 for Grove as A's Score in Opener, 6-4.

CHICAGO, Sept. 16 (A.P.).—The champion Philadelphia Athletics took a tighter grip on the American League pennant today by winning both ends of a double-header from the White Sox and boosting their lead over the idle Washington Club to eight full games.

"Lefty" Grove pitched his twenty-seventh victory of the season to win the first game, 6 to 4. In the second game the A's bunched hits in the sixth and eighth innings for five-run scoring splurges and the ball game, 10 to 2. The Athletics have but nine games to play while the Nats have eleven.

NATS - TRIBE PLAY PAIR TODAY

Special to The Washington Post.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 16. — Manager Walter Johnson and his Nationals arrived in town this morning for their final 1930 visit here, but the weather man stepped in and washed out any chances of playing this afternoon's scheduled game with the Indians, and a double-header will be played tomorrow. Lloyd Brown and Fred Marberry probably will do the hurling for the Nationals.

Manager Johnson and his men, who have been clinging to their pennant hopes, practically gave them up this evening when they learned that the leading Mackmen, who have smashed baseball tradition this season by absolutely refusing to slump, had copped two games from the White Sox today, giving them an eight-game lead.

Treadway May Join Team.

There is a possibility that Infielder Treadway, of the Chattanooga Club, will join the Nationals before they leave here. With the permission of Clark Griffith, Nat owner, Johnson wired Joe Engel, Lookout president, asking that, in view of Third Baseman Ossie Bluege's injury Treadway be sent to help out. As no reply has been received, Johnson believes that the infielder is now on his way here.

With his pennant hopes gone, Johnson declares that he will keep on fighting just the same, in the hope of making as good a record as possible. "We're going to see how many clubs we can beat on series play, anyway," he said tonight. "So far, only those pesky Browns, of St. Louis, have the edges on us. We now hold an 11-8 edge over the Indians, so one victory here will let us beat them out, but we're shooting for the works just for luck."

High's Pinch Double Starts Rally That Topples Leaders.

Double Play in Tenth Halts Robins' Bid With Bases Full.

strike-out throne at the moment, with Vance the heir apparent. Vance won the strike-out argument today, but it did him no good in the light of the late afternoon developments. Vance forced eleven Redbirds to miss third strikes, while Hallahan scored four, but the Dazzler gave seven hits, to five for Wild Bill.

Vance, a pitcher of uncommonly fine judgment, lost in the tenth when he had two strikes and no balls on Andy High, opening the inning as a pinch hitter. The big fellow then fired one over the plate trying to sneak it by, and Andy drove it to center field for two bases. Hallahan sacrificed High to third and Taylor Douthit drove him home with a single.

Wright Opens Tenth With Double.

Brooklyn skies brightened when Wright opened the tenth for the home club by hitting a screaming double to the center field bleachers fence. Bissonette walked and Hendrick sent them both along with a bunt. Flowers went to bat for Finn and was purposely passed, filling the bases. The strategy won the game for Gabby Street's crew. Lopez hit a terrific drive to Adams at short. The ball struck his hands and bounded away, but Sparky was on it like a flash and with a quick throw to Frisch laid the foundation for a double play. Frisch threw with no lost motion to Bottomley, and the ball game was over.

Hallahan absolutely confounded the Robins during the early stages of the game. He retired twenty members of the home club in order before one reached first base. Herman, the first man to get on, reached the bag on Hallahan's error.

In the eighth the Robins got two hits without getting a man to second base and in the ninth they got two more without getting a runner past the middle station.

Hendrick Makes First Hit.

Hendrick's single to left with one out in the eighth was the first hit. He was out stealing on a play that seemed intended as a hit-and-run effort, but Finn did not swing at the ball. Finn then singled and was out trying to go two bases. He collided with Charley Gelbert at second and the Cardinal shortstop was stunned momentarily. Gelbert emerged from the affair with a black eye.

In the ninth Lopez opened with a single and was safe at second when Adams threw high trying to force him on Vance's intended sacrifice. Moore bunted a pop foul to Mancuso and Lopez was doubled off second. Gelbert then singled to left, sending Vance to second, but Hermann flied to Hafey.

The Cardinals were within inches

Cubs Shut Out With 3 Hits by Hubbell, Giants

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (A.P.).—The New York Giants, who hold only a slim chance of getting back into the National League pennant race, but have plenty of ability to cause trouble, sank Chicago's Cubs deeper into the doldrums today by winning the first game of their important series, 7 to 0.

Carl Hubbell's three-hit pitching and the ineffectiveness of a pair of the younger Cub hurlers combined to leave the Cubs a game and one-half behind St. Louis and Brooklyn, virtually tied for the lead, and to place the Giants three games behind Chicago.

Petty Keeps Hits Scattered.

Jess Petty, Hubbell's opponent through most of the game, was hit rather freely but kept most of the blows from doing damage. Two hits and a bad throw in the first gave the Giants their opening run and Lindstrom's homer in the third brought the only other tally off Petty.

But the Cubs failed to do any hitting behind Petty and he was removed for a pinch hitter in the eighth. Bob Osborn took his place and walked three men in succession before he retired in favor of Lynn Nelson.

Hubbell, pitching almost perfect ball, was in trouble only twice. Bell opened the third inning with a triple but was stranded there as the young southpaw forced Petty to hit an easy grounder and then fanned Blair and English. In the next frame he walked Cuyler and Wilson and Hartnett sacrificed, but a double play on Dan Taylor's hit to Critz ended the inning. Hubbell struck out ten Cubs, fanning Hack Wilson on two occasions.

Rhem, Cardinal Ace, Mysteriously Missing

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 16 (A.P.).—Flint Rhem, Cardinal pitcher, who has won six consecutive games and whose turn it is to pitch against the Brooklyn Robins at Brooklyn tomorrow in the second game of a crucial National League series, is missing from the fold, a dispatch to the Post Dispatch from its staff correspondent says.

"No official of the club could be reached to confirm or deny that Rhem had stepped out of line, but it became known late this afternoon that he has not been seen since yesterday," the dispatch says.

Rhem's loss to the team "even temporarily, would be a severe loss to the club in the thick of the pennant fight," the dispatch says.

GALLANT FOX IS 1 TO 100 IN 2-HORSE RACE TODAY

Yarn Is Only Opponent at Two Miles

No Other Starters in $10,000 Gold Cup, Belmont Finale.

Questionnaire Beaten by Mr. Sponge and Caruso.

By ORLO ROBERTSON.

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (A.P.).—With the 3-year-old title and the money winning championship safely tucked away, William Woodward's Gallant Fox appears to be on his way to leading handicap honors of the year.

The Fox steps out of his class for the second time this year tomorrow when he starts on the longest race of his career—the $10,000 Jockey Gold Cup at 2 miles—but unlike his other appearances he will have only one horse to beat. That horse is A. C. Bostwick's Yarn, also a 3-year-old, but considered to have very little chance of turning back the Fox and his great riding partner, Earl Sande.

Opposition Scared Out of Race.

Thoroughbreds of the handicap division, which incidentally is unusually weak this season, have evidently been scared out of Belmont Park's closing day classic by the brilliant record of the Fox, who seems to revel in distance and more of it. On his first appearance with older horses Gallant Fox easily won the Saratoga Cup. Both the Fox and Yarn will pack 114 pounds tomorrow, while there may be an added starter, as second and third money are worth battling for.

If there is any betting on the race, Gallant Fox should be 1 to 100, while the numbers turned around would be fair odds on Yarn, which has showed speed in running third in the Lawrence Realization, but has never indicated he was the class of the 3-year-old champion.

Questionnaire Beaten At 1-to-3 Odds.

James Butler's Questionnaire, a 1-to-3 shot, which finished a nose second to Gallant Fox in the Lawrence Realization, was forced to take third behind Joseph E. Widener's Mr. Sponge and W. R. Coe's Caruso in the Jerome Handicap at Belmont today.

The defeat of the Butler star was due largely to the rough-riding tactics of Jockey E. Watters, astride Caruso. Mr. Sponge was first by a nose and Caruso a head in front of Questionnaire. The mile was run in 1:37 2-5, and was worth $3,200 to the winner.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—INHERITOR, $4.78, $3.06, $2.62; BROOM STREET, $3.78, $3.16; TONEY'S STAR, $4.42.

INHERITOR soon raced to the front and, opening up a long lead approaching the stretch turn, won as his rider pleased. BROOM STREET was always well up and closed fast to beat TONEY'S STAR. The latter raced forwardly and, although tiring slightly near the finish, was easily best of the others. BURNAM could not keep up. SON O' SWEEP made up ground. ALTON N. showed early speed, but tired.

SECOND RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 2:50. Off at 2:56. Winner, Harned Brothers' b. g. * Field.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—ESTIN, $5.56, $3.16, $2.66; PERCENTAGE, $4.26, $3.68; SAMBO BROWN, $4.88.

ESTIN, BREAKING quickly, raced well up to the stretch turn, where he headed PRINCESS EVOL and drew out to an easy win. PERCENTAGE was never far from the pace and was much the best of the others, but did not threaten the winner. SAMBO BROWN made up ground and was going well at the end. KITTY M'COOK went fairly well. KULAMAN met with some interference. THAT'S IT could not keep up. PRINCESS EVOL quit.

THIRD RACE—Seven furlongs. Purse, $1,300; allowances. For 2-year-olds. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:22. Off at 3:22½. Winner, J. N. Camden's b. c. (2), by Tryster—Lorraine. Trained by D. E. Stewart. Value to winner, $1,000; second, $200; third, $100. Time, 0:24 2-5, 0:49 2-5, 1:16 1-5, 1:29 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—POLINOS, $12.28, $2.80, out; SCHOONER, $2.20, out; HILLSBOROUGH, out.

POLINOS got through an opening on the inside of SCHOONER in the run down the back stretch and, taking a short lead, saved ground thereafter and held SCHOONER in the stretch drive. SCHOONER raced with COUSIN JO in the first quarter, but could not head POLINOS after being passed by the latter. HILLSBOROUGH was in close quarters at the stretch turn, but raced fairly well to the finish.

FOURTH RACE—One mile. Purse, $1,400; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:52. Off at 3:53½. Winner, J. N. Camden's b. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—ELLICE, $7.34, $3.76, $3.20; SUITOR, $3.24, $2.44; BLACKWOOD, $4.20.

ELLICE soon sprinted to the front and, opening up a safe lead, was never in danger thereafter, winning in hand. SUITOR was closest to the pacemaker at all stages and was easily best of the others. BLACKWOOD made up ground in the last quarter to beat MARTIE FLYNN. The latter did not appear to like the going and ran below his best form.

FIFTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won eased up; place, driving. Went to post at 4:20. Off at 4:20. Winner, R. Gallet's br. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—PRETTY POSE, $9.50, $5.12, $3.38; BROAD AXE, $6.44, $4.84; J. A. WEIL, $5.22.

PRETTY POSE went to the front soon after the start, was headed on the back stretch by WOODLOT, but continued gamely on the inside of the latter, getting to the front again at the far turn, opened up a good lead and was being eased up at the end. BROAD AXE was in close quarters on the first turn and made up ground in the last quarter. J. A. WEIL also closed a gap. LILLIAN T. was badly outrun.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:49. Off at 4:51½. Winner, J. N. McFadden's br. f. (3), by Freebooter—Chefa. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $1,000; second, $200; third, $100. Time, 0:24 4-5, 0:49 3-5, 1:15 4-5, 1:43, 1:56 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—ELLEN N., $11.22, $5.10, $3.26; BEHAVE CASH, $6.54, $3.72; MORSNUFF, $3.38.

ELLEN N., under a good ride, followed BEHAVE CASH under restraint in the early running, came fast to wear the latter down in last quarter and won easily. BEHAVE CASH went to the front at once and opened up a good lead but, although much the best of the others, was not good enough to head the winner. MORESNUFF was badly outrun for a half, then made up some ground. TENNESSEEAN made up some ground. GREY GULL was off slowly, raced into third place on the back stretch, but tired in the run home. The others were badly outrun.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:18. Off at 5:20. Winner, Mrs. L. G. Two-dollar mutuels paid—COTTAGE BOY, $63.96, $21.08, $15.10; MISS LEE, $29.20, $25.70; TRY AGAIN, $15.10.

COTTAGE BOY broke well and, following MISS LEE closely in the early running, passed her in the stretch and won easily. MISS LEE had the most early speed, but was not good enough to hold the winner. TRY AGAIN gained steadily in the last quarter and was going well at the end. SERAJEVO was off closely and closed a gap. PETER was shut off at the start, raced into contention on the back stretch, but tired badly near the end. SWEET MANDY met with early interference. FLAG LIEUTENANT raced very wide in the stretch. MARGATE was never a contender.

(Reg. U. S. Patent Office.)

—Lincoln Fields Selections—

By J. B. SNODGRASS

THE Berwyn, a test for 3-year-olds and up, over the mile an sixteenth route, serves as the feature attraction on an ordinary card at the Lincoln Fields oval today. LONGUS, a recent winner at this track, has only to repeat his last effort to take down the major portion of the purse. MISS MARNIE, with 100 pounds, appears the logical contender, while BUDDY BASIL should finish in the money.

FIRST RACE—In the opening dash for 2-year-old maidens ROYAL ROGUE should graduate among the eighteen entered. FLAG PORTER, a consistent performer, should improve over her recent effort. BRASS MONKEY, the public choice in her last race, should hold the others safe.

SECOND RACE—MISS ROSEDALE is reported in fit condition and on past performances should capture first money. ZETA, raced extensively at the Chicago tracks, will prove the contender. PERJURY, a winner at this track, beat a fair lot in her last start.

THIRD RACE—The Oak Forest, which has attracted fourteen 2-year-olds, will be contested over the 6-furlong distance. SUN DOT has several good races to her credit and should outfoot the field pitted against him. FARR under better handling would have won her last start and appears to be the contender, while UPRIGHT should last to gain the minor share of the honors.

FOURTH RACE—Eleven have been named to contest the fourth issue, and GOVERNOR SETH should like the distance of a mile and a sixteenth. MISS LEE, a clever filly, has been training briskly and should prove troublesome. GRAYDALE should improve over his recent efforts.

SIXTH RACE—This race attracted the limit of eighteen starters, and JACK CRAIN is selected to capture premier honors. BROWN FLASH has shown speed in her recent races and should gain the place. VANQUISH should hold the others safe.

SEVENTH RACE—In the last race of the card, a test for 3-year-olds and up, over the mile and a sixteenth route, ZUBLENA, from the Rancocas Stable, will undoubtedly rule favorite. BORIS, from the Harned Brothers' Stable, has turned in some very clever races and should prove a formidable contender. STAR FLYER has raced in good company and should hold the others safe.

SEIDEL BEATS YEOMANS IN WARDMAN NET UPSET

Seeded Star Loses Last Two Sets

Mitchell, Latona and Stam, Choices, Victorious.

Few Matches Are Decided Because of Rainstorm.

RAIN called a halt to the second annual Wardmen Park Hotel tennis tournament yesterday but not until three favorites—Dooly Mitchell, Colin Stam and Tony Latona—had advanced to the fourth round and the tournament's biggest upset had been registered.

The premier fact of the day to record was the win of Bill Seidel, George Washington University varsity player, over Eddie Yeomans, rated high up in the ranks of the elect of Washington.

Seidel Keeps Plugging To Win Out.

Seidel has a stick-to-his-knitting temperament which proved just the proper offense against his favored opponenet.

Yeomans, playing his regular game of mixing his shots and alternating back and fore court play, ran through the first set without excess exertion. Lulled into security, he permitted the second set to slip from his grasp. Too late in the third set he discovered that Seidel was playing an obstinately consistent game. Yeomans made a belated stab for the decision but could not raise the game he had permitted to disintegrate.

Alex Keiles, public parks champion of Baltimore and the only out-of-town player in the tourney, turned back the hard-hitting Alan Staubly, G. W. star, in a free-hitting three-set match.

Staubly More Unsteady Than Keiles.

The match brought together two erratic hitters, who, when in a certain frame of mind, can put up a big-league tennis exhibition. Staubly, however, was unsteady throughout the match; even unsteady in comparison to Keiles.

Bob Considine, seeded No. 2, met stern opposition from the racquet of Maurice O'Neill, his former doubles partner. O'Neill started strongly and by combining his steady back-court play with an effective net attack piled off a 5-2 lead before Considine buckled down to the task that confronted him and evened matters at 5-5. Rain interfered at this stage of the match. It will re-commence with the score at 5-all.

The two top seeded women players, Mrs. Ruth Martinez and Josephine Dunham, continued the resolute march toward the finals, with Marian Butler and Betty Whitfield, respectively, as their victims. To cut out their victories Mrs. Martinez played her favorite game of back-court driving, while Miss Dunham interspersed her rear court play with frequent advances to the barrier.

Weather permitting, today's play will be entirely taken up by doubles. This marks the first time doubles have been played at the Wardman tournament. Most of the crack combinations who have hung up good performances in local tournaments this season are entered, including Tom Mangan and Bob Considine, midatlantic titleholders.

MEN'S SINGLES.

Third round—Seidel defeated Yeomans, 3—6, 7—5, 6—4; Latona defeated Peck, 6—1, 6—1; Keiles defeated Staubly, 8—6, 4—6, 6—2; Stam defeated Burke, 6—1, 6—2; Considine and O'Neill 5—5, rain.

WOMEN'S SINGLES.

Third round—Mrs. Martinez defeated Marian Butler, 6—2, 6—0; Miss Dunham defeated Miss Whitfield, 6—2, 6—1; Peggy Keyser defeated Mayelita de Souza, 6—2, 6—4.

C. S. Hutchison Named As Traffic Officer

Special to The Washington Post.

Leesburg, Va., Sept. 16.—Carroll S. Hutchison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dorman Hutchison, of Lenah, this county, has received appointment as State traffic officer for Loudoun County, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Thomas A. Belt, which occurred in the Loudoun Hispital, Leesburg, as the result of an accident.

The appointment was made by T. McCall Frasier, State motor vehicle commissioner.

of winning the ball game in the sixth inning. Adams had singled and advanced to third base on an infield and outfield outs. With two strikes on Hafey, Adams broke for the plate and seemed about to steal home, but the alert Vance threw the ball right at Hafey and when the bespectacled Chick forgot to duck, the ball hit him and the runner had to return to third. Watkins then fouled out.

A capacity crowd of 25,500 spectators crowded into Ebbets Field and there will be no less at the two remaining games of the series. Managers Robinson and Street tonight were prepared to renew the battle for first place tomorrow with Flint Rhem probably pitching for the Cardinals against Adolfo Luque for the Robins.

The game enabled Vance to draw within five strikeouts of Hallahan, even if it did not help him in his won column. He ran his total for the season to 160 while Hallahan now has 165.

PHILLY TRIP HELPS OLD LINERS

Drills With Marines Help Coach Get Line on Players.

UNIVERSITY of Maryland's football squad was back on its home field for practice yesterday after scrimmaging with teh All-Marines in Philadelphia Saturday and Monday.

It was hot in the Quaker City and the Old Liners showed the effects of the workouts up there, displaying a lack of pep yesterday.

Fisher, tackle, and Chalmers and Woods, backs, were nursing leg injuries received in the tussles with the Devil Dogs.

However, Coach Curley Byrd was enabled to get a line on several of his men about whom he was uncertain, and the trip to Philly proved of much value for that reason if no other.

Drills to Be Lighter After Today.

While Bauer and Lloyd, of the 1929 Navy back field, are with the Marines, along with some other college men, the Maryland players do not figure the Devil Dogs to be much better than they were a year ago, when they did not enjoy their usual successful campaign.

Lloyd has not been looking so impressive as a back for the Marines, and it is said that Coach Tom Keady plans on shifting him to end, where he played his first football for the Midshipmen.

Maryland's practice will lighten after today, as the gridders will have to arrange their class cards tomorrow and start to classes on Friday. This means that the daily workouts, beginning tomorrow, will not get under way until around 5:15 and that Byrd will have to bring his floodlights into operation before long.

Alexandria Expects 2,700 at Fights Friday

Special to The Washington Post.

Alexandria, Sept. 16.—Sox Howard today was appointed director of the Alexandria Athletic Club, and is busy arranging all details for the boxing exhibition to be held at Armory Hall, Friday night, under the auspices of the Rotary Club.

The big Alexandria armory will be fixed to accommodate 2,700 fans comfortably. Already the ring has been erected and reserve seats laid out. Special arrangements will be made to care for the ladies.

In the feature bout, Billy Schwartz, of Alexandria, tackles Joe Finnazzo, of Baltimore. Promoter Frankie Mann hopes to complete his card by Wednesday evening. Thirty-two rounds of boxing will be presented. Jimmy Lake will be chief announcer, and Capt. Heinie Miller will referee. The program opens at 8:30 o'clock.

Capital City Unlimited Elevens Meet Tonight

Teams of the proposed new unlimited section of the Capital City Football League will meet tonight at French's store at 7 o'clock to make rules for the forthcoming season. According to an agreement reached at an earlier meeting, each team is to post a deposit on its franchise fee.

Nine teams were represented at the last gathering and are expected to be represented tonight. They are: St. Stephens, 1929 150-pound class champions; Seat Pleasant, Quintens, Mercury, Marions, Columbia Heights, Petworth Pennants, Brookland and Alpha Delta Omega Club.

St. Mary's Celtics Name Hayman Head Grid Coach

Budnick and Allen to Assist Alexandria High Eleven Rounding to Form; Schwartz Beats Alabama Fighter.

ALEXANDRIA, Sept. 16.—Rube Hayman, former University of Virginia star, has been appointed as head coach of the St. Mary's Celtics for the season. "Fats" Budnick, Washington and Lee University tackle, will coach the line, while Dick Allen, late of George Mason, will handle the back field candidates.

The Celtics play unlimited football. The next drill for the club will be on Baggett's Field Thursday night at 8 o'clock.

Charlie Corbett, manager of the St. Mary's Celtics, is dickering with Northern A. C. officials for a game here on Sunday.

Alexandria High School Football Squad is rapidly rounding into condition for the season under the direction of Coaches Given and Wilson. Sixty players are seeking berths. The Alexandrians play the National Training School, of Washington, in the opening game on October 3.

Billy Schwartz, fistic idol of Alexandria, defeated Joe Knight, of Birmingham, Ala., in the main bout at Roanoke Monday night. He had the Alabama boy hanging on the ropes in the ninth round.

The Alpha Delta Omega Fraternity Eleven held a long drill on Haydon's Field last night. Green's punting was a feature of the workout. Leslie Deavers is managing the fraters.

The Virginia Athletic Club gridders will hold an important meeting on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, corner of King and Lee streets.

Coach Burk Beach is anxious for all players to report, as plans for the season will be outlined. Twelve new gridmen have signed contracts to play with the Orange and Black Team for the season. On last Sunday seventeen reported for the first drill.

Manager Gorman is booking games and hopes to be able to open on the Shipyard Field within two weeks. The Virginias will play unlimited football.

Strickler-Trenaman Fight at Hagerstown

Fresh from his eight-round decision victory over Sylvan Bass at Fort Washington last Monday night, Billy Strickler, rugged Washington welterweight, is ready for a bout tomorrow night with Socko Trenaman at Hagerstown, Md.

Some months ago, Strickler outpointed Trenaman to break the latter's streak of twelve straight knockout victories. In that fight Billy conceded 21 pounds.

JONES-MACKENZIE DEFEAT PROS, 1 UP

a struggle well worth witnessing, and the Columbia Club members were naturally proud of their professional when his approach shot on the eighth hole, enabling him to obtain a half with a single putt for a par 3, and his approach which gave him a par 4 and win on the ninth hole, together with many other fine shots, were of real assistance to his partner.

Jones' Figures Exactly Par.

With the par of the course figured at 70, it will be noticed that Jones played in exactly par figures, with Mackenzie 2 over par and McLeod 3 over par, and with Smith 1 under par, although the latter's fine score was not good enough to win. The course was played under summer rules, despite the fact that it was baked and dry, due to the fact that there has been only half an inch of rain since the 22d of last July, but the greens, benefiting by constant watering, were in perfect condition.

The receipts, approximately $6,000, were appropriated for the benefit of Bob McWatt, a former professional of the Columbia Golf Club, who has been a helpless cripple during the last two years as the result of an automobile accident. Even Macdonald Smith, who came from Great Neck, Long Island, to play in the event, declined to accept even his traveling expenses.

WYLLY LOST TO VIRGINIA ELEVEN

Promising Center Candidate Breaks Bone in Foot.

Special to The Washington Post.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Sept. 16. Virginia's football squad opened its third week of practice minus the services of John C. Wylly, one of the most promising candidates for center. In Saturday's grueling scrimmage, the hardest of the season to date, Wylly had a small bone in his foot broken and probably will be out of the game for the season. He left Saturday night for his home in Georgia and it will probably be several weeks before he returns to college to resume his duties in the law school.

With the exceptoin of Wylly, all of the other players came out of Saturday's workouts without injury. In fact, Archie Hahn, track coach, who is looking after the physicial condition of the 50 members of the squad, is much pleased. Only minor injuries have resulted in the past fortnight, in marked contrast to the early season practices last fall.

The men reported in much better physical shape this year, said Hahn, and have been less liable to injury. In consequence, the team is developing more rapidly than usual.

Of the present squad of 50 which reported for work on Labor Day, 44 came by invitation. The other six came of their own accord: Orrick, whose home is in Washington, D. C., is the only regular who has not reported. He is expected to reach here early this week and don his uniform. Morning practices will end Wednesday. The registration of students begins on Thursday morning and will continue through Saturday.

Saturday's game with Roanoke College will be the first with the Maroons in twenty years. Back in 1910 the team from Salem was defeated, 21 to 0, by a team that lost only to the Carlisle Indians and Georgetown. Roanoke has a strong team this year and Coach Abell plans to send the best combination against the visitors. He wants the players and their plays to have as severe a test as possible before they swing into the series of seven games against Southern Conference rivals.

Wife Dies, Mate Hurt In Automobile Crash

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Sept. 16.—When their car skidded and overturned in a raintsorm on the Weston-Glenville road, 2 miles out of Weston today, Mrs. A. G. Hinzman, 76, of Gandyville, was fatally injured and her husband, 75, thrice sheriff of Roane County, was painfully hurt. Mrs. Hinzman died en route to a Weston hospital.

A son, the Rev. Ray Hinzman, of Weston, and three daughters survive.

'DARK HORSE' RATING FOR W. & L.

Generals, With Team of Vets, in Opener Saturday.

Special to The Washington Post.

LEXINGTON, Va., Sept. 16.—"Watch Washington and Lee," the chant that grid fans throughout the Old Dominion have been steadily referring to throughout the weeks of training just nearing completion here, will rise in crescendo Saturday as the Generals knock the lid off the 1930 season by meeting the Randolph Macon Eleven on Wilson field here.

Throughout the State and even the Southern Conference camps has gone a rumor, more or less authenticated, that the Generals would bear watching as the "dark horse" of the Southern loop race.

Those in touch with gridiron conditions in Virginia know full well that Head Coach Eugene Oberst has fourteen returning letter men with which to lay a foundation for a winning team, in addition to some good sophomore and reserve material from last year with which to plug the gaps.

However, the coaches and the fans intimate with Washington and Lee's prospects know that this year the Notre Dame system, after a year of experimenting, will work smoother with a more experienced team, and it is in this respect that the Generals are bound to show something.

What the Generals fear most is injuries, which wrecked their team last year. The early season games with Randolph Macon, Hampden Sidney and Richmond will all be tests for Washington and Lee in that all games supply ample room for possible injuries.

COLONIALS TO GATHER.

The Colonial A. C. will meet tomorrow night at 910 Kennedy street northwest to discuss plans for basket ball and finish its baseball season.

Virginia Frosh Eleven Opens Season on Oct. 17

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., Sept. 16.—The schedule for the Virginia Freshman Football Team the coming season calls for five games, the limit set for first-year teams within the Southern Conference. Two of these will be played at home and the remainder on foreign fields.

The initial contest for the young Cavaliers will be with the Rats from Virginia Military Institute. This game will be played on Lambeth Field on October 17, the day preceding the clash, at Lexington, between the Cadets and Virginia regulars. The list follows:

October 17—Virginia Military Institute, at home; 25, University of Maryland, at home; 31, Washington and Lee, at Lexington.

November 7—Virginia Polytechnic Institute, at Blacksburg; 22, North Carolina, at Chapel Hill.

STOCK PRICES RALLY JUST BEFORE CLOSE

WHEAT, CORN RECOVER

New York, Sept. 16 (A.P.).—The stock market rallied in the last hour of a quiet session today, but the recovery did little more than eliminate the day's losses. It was the fifth successive day in which the dominant trend had been downward.

Sentiment seemed influenced to an important degree by the movement of grains, for the shorts sold stocks most actively while corn and wheat were easing and shares only showed recuperative powers on the afternoon upturn in those commodities. The covering that appeared in stocks when wheat soared 3½ to 4 cents a bushel from the day's lows received some further impetus from the Washington announcement of a $38,000,000 estimated increase in August exports over July.

Volume of trading picked up a little on the decline, especially in the forenoon when some commission house selling was uncovered, but this was well absorbed and moderate early losses were recovered. Shorts, who had been paying their respects to the motion picture and radio shares, as well as to some of the old-line industrial favorites, soon put out new lines, selecting the chain store and farm implement stocks. They were somewhat more successful with the special groups than with U. S. Steel, American Can, Westinghouse Electric, General Electric and American Telephone, although losses of a point and more appeared in the favorites.

Kroger Grocery Advances.

Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, Case and International Harvester yielded 2 to 4 points before meeting support. Grigsby Grunow, sagging to 6¾, another new low; Real Silk Hosiery, off nearly 4, and Atlas Powder were other soft spots. On the other hand, bull pool operations went forward in Kroger Grocery and Safeway Stores, which rose 3 and 4 points, respectively.

Business news was generally featureless. Reports from the Northwest indicated that the movement of wheat had reached about 4,000,000 bushels daily on four large carriers, foreshadowing an improvement in railway operating incomes. Missouri-Kansas-Texas' president said his road would make a better showing this month, predicting that the last four months of the year would exceed last year's results for the same period.

Bearing professionals stressed the point that the market had been extremely lazy on the recent rallies and they suggested that interests which had worked for the advance had become tired and were liquidating. It was noticeable, however, that support was waiting for the highest grade shares and this was in turn discouraging to the bear faction. As the rally got under way the market was extremely dull.

Call Money at 2 Per Cent.

Money was comfortable and there was no noticeable congestion from the quarterly financing by the Government and the September income tax payments. Call loans renewed at 2½ per cent, but dropped to 2 shortly after noon.

The advance in wheat after the September future had come within an eighth of a cent of yesterday's postwar low reflected an oversold condition in that market. Although final quotations were off from the top, prices ranged from 2 to 2½ cents net higher. Corn firmed in sympathy and in response to a strong cash market, rising ⅛ to 1 cent. Cotton closed steady, 1 to 11 points up, although the old January contract closed 2 points off.

In general, stocks made narrow moves on the day. U. S. Steel, Electric Power & Light, American Power & Light, Eastman Kodak, Foster Wheeler and Union Carbide showed gains of about a point, and there were fractional advances in General Electric, American Telephone, General Motors, Westinghouse Electric and Radio.

International Harvester's 4-point drop was halved, and so was Montgomery Ward's 2-point decline. Sears-Roebuck and Johns-Manville finished fractionally lower. American Water Works was strong, rallying a couple of points. J. I. Case closed 1¾ higher and Diamond Match soared 5. Foreign exchange rates firmed. The Spanish peseta was soft.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Sept. 16 (A.P.).—Trading in cotton was quiet here today, with prices holding generally steady, except for some irregularity toward the close, when there appeared to be a little more Southern selling and near-month liquidation. The new December contract, after selling up from 11.07 to 11.14, closed at 11.11, and the general market closed steady at net advances of 1 to 11 points, except for the old January contract, which was 2 points net lower.

The opening was steady at an advance of 2 to 11 points in response to relatively steady Liverpool cables. Comparatively light offerings were absorbed on moderate setbacks, and the market soon firmed up again on trade buying and covering. The failure of Southern hedge selling to develop in greater volume seemed to be accountable for some of the covering, while the trade buying was accompanied by rumors that there were resting orders in the market to buy for that account on declines, and prices developed considerable firmness before the end of the morning.

New October contracts sold up to 10.96, and March to 11.39, making net advances of about 10 to 13 points on the more active months, but these prices brought out a little more realizing, and the market sagged off again in the later trading. Southern selling was a little more in evidence during the last half hour, and there was further near-month liquidation, particularly in the old-style contract. New October closed at 10.91, and the old October at 10.92, while March closed at 11.37. There was considerable switching from near to late months during the day.

A considerable part of the day's business was attributed to evening up of near months in preparation of the possibility of October notices on Thursday of next week. These operations were partly in the way of switching from near to late months and from old-style to new-style contracts, resulting in a narrowing of differences between the new and old contracts and a widening of differences between near and late months.

Liverpool cables said that continental buying and trade calling had absorbed hedge selling in that market and reported moderate sales of cotton cloths and yarns.

Exports today, 83,055, making 785,455 so far this season. Port receipts, 72,924. United States port stocks, 2,176,125.

WANTED SALESMEN
With Intelligence and Character
Experience Not Essential
We Need Five Men of High Caliber Who Are Ambitious to Earn $10,000.00 Annually or More.
The nature of the work is pleasant but necessitates calling on eight to ten prospects each day.
Everybody who is at the present time employed is a prospect for the financial plan we are offering.
The initial payment required is so small that a prospect can hardly offer the "No money!" excuse.
The five open position we now have on our sales staff are permanent and should lead the right men to good executive positions in charge of other districts.
The plan itself is sponsored by prominent and reputable business men, bankers and members of the New York Stock Exchange.

FIDUCIARIES
Must Be Careful
Trustees, individual or corporate, should carefully safeguard trust funds loaned on real estate by requiring a policy of title insurance. Title insurance comes within the rule of "extra care" imposed upon fiduciaries.

Back From Your Vacation
WHEN you went away you probably were in too big a hurry to check up and invest your idle funds. But now that you have returned, do you not think it wise to attend to these affairs at once.
Those who have purchased 6 per cent First Mortgage Notes through Swartzell, Rheem & Hensey Company go away and come back with the assurance that their investments are being safely guarded, and with the satisfaction that their interest checks will be mailed so as to reach them on the day they fall due.
This is real comfort in investment and we suggest you consult us soon, if you have funds to invest.

BEST GRADE BONDS HOLD FIRM COURSE

INDEX HITS 1930 PEAK

New York, Sept. 16 (A.P.).—High-grade domestic issues held a firm trend in a quiet session of the bond market today, and a few issues established new highs for the year.

The volume of business improved, but the heavy volume of new offerings with which the week has started apparently detracted from the activity in the listed market.

Buying was of a very selective nature, but demand was sufficient to carry the market to a new high for the year in the composite average of 30 bonds. The price movement was irregular, as on the previous day, with changes of small proportions for the most part.

Pennsylvania 4½s Rise.

Activity in the railroad group centered in issues that rank slightly under the best. Canadian Northern 4½s were in demand and reached a new high, and closed unchanged. New peaks were registered also by Big Four 4½s (Cairo Division), Hocking Valley 4½s, and Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh 4½s. Pennsylvania 4½s duplicated their recent year's peak. The construction 4s of the same company and Alleghany 5s were weak spots.

Several utility issues profited from good buying. Columbia Gas 5s, and Laclede Gas Light 5s reached new highs, and other strong bonds were Denver Gas and Electric 5s, Detroit Edison 5s, New York Gas & Electric 5s and Postal Telegraph 5s, the latter up 1 point.

More interest developed for some high-grade industrial issues. McKesson & Robbins 5½s were very active and firm. By-Products Coke 5½s attained a new high. American Sugar Refining 5s, Armour & Co. 5½s, National Dairy 5¼s, and Wheeling Steel 4½s advanced. Central Steel 8s rose 4½ points. Ajax Rubber 8s dropped nearly 5.

German Governments Rally.

German government issues regained some of the ground lost in the selling movement yesterday. The 5½s closed ⅝ net higher, and the 7s advanced ½. Some municipal and industrial issues showed weakness, notably Berlin 6s, Berlin Electric 6s and 6½s, and United Steel Work 6½s. In the Latin-American group Mexican defaulted issues sagged. Brazilian 8s and Buenos Aires 6½s were strong. Argentine 6s sold off ¾.

The stock privilege group suffered from selling inspired by heaviness of stocks. In a large turnover, International Telephone 4½s sagged ¾. Pathe warrants 7s lost 2 points. Lautaro Nitrate 6s were weak.

Offerings will be made tomorrow of $5,000,000 4¼ water bonds of the City of Los Angeles, Calif., and $1,500,000 Tarrant County, Tex., District, No. 1, 4½ per cent water bonds.

Curb Review

New York, Sept. 16 (A.P.).—The curb market finished narrowly irregular today. A rally in the final hour saved many pivotal issues from sinking to new lows on the current selling movement which set in last week. Changes were fractional for the most part with few outstanding examples of strength or weakness, except among inactive industrial issues.

The trend throughout most of the session was toward lower levels. There were several ineffectual efforts to stage a recovery, but advances brought out a volume of offerings sufficient to force a decline. Late buying principally attributed to covering operations by shorts carried prices to the best levels of the session. The volume of business totaled 349,600 shares.

Bears, concentrating on utilities, found Electric Bond & Share, American & Foreign Power warrants, United Light & Power A, Central States Electric, American Superpower open to attack. Electric Bond & Share sagged 2 points and American & Foreign Power more than 1 during the session. At the finish the former was off only one-fourth and the latter was firm. The others were little changed. Short covering carried Public Utility Holding up more than a point. Brazilian Traction moved against the trend, closing at 36⅝, up 1⅛.

As in the previous session, oil shares were less affected by the selling movement. Cosden and Humble gained about one-half point each. Cities Service closed net unchanged, while Standard of Indiana, Gulf, Vacuum and Standard of Nebraska were slightly lower.

There was little activity in the specialty group. Technicolor was the feature. Duplicating its performance on Monday, it reached another new low in moderate trading, closing at 20¾, a net loss of 2¼ points. Translux lost one-half. Deere moved up more than a point on this buying. Dresser Manufacturing A was strong. American Cyanamid B and Anglo Chilean Nitrate were soft spots.

Price movement of investment and holding companies shares was very narrow. The late rally carried Goldman Sachs, Pennroad and Shenandoah slightly higher. Aviation stocks were irregular. National Aviation was strong. Western Air Express sagged 2 points.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Sept. 16 (A.P.).—Soaring almost 4 cents a bushel as the result of a buyers' stampede, wheat today suddenly jerked backward at the last, losing part of the gain. The market showed evidence of having become greatly oversold, with many traders nervous about a sharp letup in rural deliveries of wheat in Canada. There was also much concern apparent relative to advices that the 1930 wheat crop in France would amount to only 208,000,000 bushels and would be of poor quality, indicating unavoidable big imports.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled 1⅞@2⅝ cents higher than yesterday's finish. Corn closed ½@1¼ cents up, oats ¾@1⅝ cents advance, and provisions varying from 10 cents decline to a rise of 7 cents.

Bulges in wheat values today were in the face of new low-record prices at Liverpool. Setbacks in British wheat quotations had only a transient influence here. Chicago traders taking much more notice of advices at hand saying that despite heavy import duties an evident willingness to purchase wheat abroad was being shown on the part of European continental millers. Friends of higher prices contended also that the persistent successive price breaks of late in wheat were showing signs of having culminated and that recoveries were now to be looked for. Under such circumstances offerings of wheat future deliveries became unusually scarce here at times, and the market jumped at a rapid rate just before the final gong.

Specially arousing the anxiety of wheat traders who have been on the selling side were late dispatches showing that country marketings of wheat in Canada had decreased to 2,238,000 bushels for 24 hours, as against 3,952,000 bushels a year ago. Decided lessening of pressure today to sell wheat was also reported both at Winnipeg and Minneapolis, and talk was heard that the peak of the 1930 harvest movement of spring wheat Northwest had been passed. On the other hand, export demand today for North American wheat was again lacking in volume, and the world's available supply increased 25,617,000 bushels for the week, making the total now 386,021,000 bushels, compared with 371,972,000 bushels at this time last year.

Corn and oats followed wheat down early and up later. Frost predictions for tonight as far south as northern Iowa contributed at times to the strengthening of all grain prices but was offset a good deal by spreading operations between wheat and corn, with corn being sold against purchases of wheat.

Provisions averaged higher, largely as a consequence of a bigger decrease than was looked for in Chicago stocks of lard.

Closing indemnities—Wheat. December, 85⅝ to 85¾: 88¾ to 88⅞; March, 89⅝ to 85¾, 92¾; May, 92½, 95½. Corn. September, 90⅜, 93½; December, 86⅜ to 88⅛, 88¾ to 88⅞; March, 86⅞ to 87, 89⅛ to 89⅜; May, 88⅜, 91.

MERGER MAY SEND BANK STOCK RISING

CHAPTER AWARDS MADE

A decided pick-up in trading on the Washington Stock Exchange is expected today as the result of the merger yesterday of the Federal-American National Bank and the Merchants Bank & Trust Co. Both these institutions are quoted on the exchange, but they have not enjoyed the limelight of lively trading for some time. Persistent rumors of the consolidation are believed to have been responsible for this speculative impotency.

Stock of the two banks will be listed now under the name of the new bank—the Federal-American National Bank & Trust Co. With a new capital of $2,600,000 the stock will rise in value and the speculators are expected to grab the plums when they are ripe. The last sale of Federal-American was 275. The bid was 280 and 325 was asked. In the Merchants Bank issue, the last sale was listed at 125, 110 was bid and 150 was asked. Both stocks have been listed at $100 par.

The annual dividend of the Federal-American to stockholders has been 10 per cent, while that of the Merchants has been 6 per cent. Federal-American Co. preferred figured in a small way in the sales yesterday, three sales selling at 100. This sale was propelled entirely by the merger report which was current on the local stock exchange at the regular call yesterday morning, stockholders said.

Poole on Reserve Council.

John Poole, who as president of the Federal American, and who also becomes chief executive of the merged banks, retains his position as representative in the fifth district of the Federal Reserve Board advisory council, it was announced yesterday following a two days' session of the council. B. A. McKinney, of Dallas, was selected president to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Frank C. Wetmore. Howard A. Loeb, of Philadelphia, succeeds Levi L. Rue, who has resigned; Melvin A. Traylor, of Chicago, succeeds Mr. Wetmore as representative of the seventh district. Walter W. Smith, of St. Louis, was elected vice president.

Washington bank employes who are not members of the Washington Chapter of the American Institute of Banking, were given some advice last night by Paul B. Detwiler, assistant cashier of the Philadelphia National Bank and former national president of the institute, at the annual open meeting of the local chapter at the Willard Hotel. He told them of the importance of joining the chcapter and taking advantage of the courses offered.

Then addressing those who are now attending classes, Mr. Detwiler advised them not to drop out of classes before they have received their certificates or have availed themselves of the opportunities that the institute has to offer. To those who graduated last night and those who have already graduated the speaker recommended graduate courses and the continuance of their education in other fields covered by the chapter.

About 900 were present at the meeting, and a large number of certificates and special awards were presented.

New G. M.-P. Murphy Office.

G. M.-P. Murphy & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange and the Washington Stock Exchange, announce the opening of a Baltimore office under the management of Gough E. Thompson, assisted by F. Nelson Bolton. It occupies the twenty-eighth floor of the Baltimore Trust Building and will be connected by private wire with the firm's head office in New York.

Directors of the Continental Trust Co. of this city yesterday declared a dividend of 1 per cent, payable September 30 to shareholders of record September 25.

Walter S. Penfield, a director of the Washington Loan & Trust Co. and a lawyer of international repute, returned to Washington yesterday after spending the summer at his house in Ventnor, N. J.

Loading of revenue freight for the week ended September 6 totaled 856,637 cars, a decrease of 127,867 cars from the preceding week, which included Labor Day holidays, it was announced yesterday by the car-service division of the American Railway Association.

ADVICE ON INVESTMENTS

By CHARLES W. STORM

R. J. M.—Will you please pass your opinion as to which is preferable as an investment, Liggett & Myers Tobacco "B" or Cities Service common? Also would ask your opinion of General Electric as an investment for future holding.

Answer—Hardly fair to draw a comparison between Liggett & Myers "B" and Cities Service common, as the companies are engaged in two entirely different lines of business and what may affect one may not affect the other. Both stocks are well thought of from the standpoint of speculative investments.

Liggett & Myers at present returns approximately 4.9 per cent on the investment. The return on Cities Service from cash dividends alone is nothing near so substantial as this. However, Cities Service pays 6 per cent annually in stock.

Western Dairy Products.

B. C. K.—What can you tell me about Western Dairy Products class "A"?

Answer—Earnings have been in a sharp decline and full year profits are expected to be well under those for 1929. First half year income was $440,000 as against $607,000 for the same time last year. Estimates of class "A" earnings for the year are $6 and while the $4 dividend appears in no immediate danger, it might be prudent to wait until earnings show improvement before buying the stock.

Davison Chemical; Loft Candy.

F. L. B.—I am a stockholder in Davison Chemical and would like some recent information regarding the company. What is your opinion, also, of Loft Candy?

Answer—Davison Chemical, it is estimated, earned about $4 a share in the fiscal year ended June 30. This would compare with $3.34 the year previous. Davison is diversifying its business to a greater extent, which should mean better and more stabilized income. The company is in a position to pay something to common stockholders, and it is believed that directors will eventually reward patient holders.

Loft Candy has acquired the Happiness Candy stores, but nothing in the way of decided improvement is expected for some time from this acquisition. Loft, in the meantime, must be regarded as being highly speculative and not suitable for an investor.

American Cynamid.

H. B. D.—Kindly give me the earnings of Cities Service. Is this company interested in the natural gas field? What is your opinion of American Cynamid, traded in on the New York Curb Market?

Answer—Earnings of Cities Service for the twelve months ended with July were equivalent to $1.45 a share, which is more than ample for the annual cash dividend of 30 cents a share. Cities Service is becoming a large factor in the natural gas business and is interested in one of the latest natural gas pipe-line developments. The stock is considered attractive because of its cash and stock dividend and earnings outlook.

Directors of American Cynamid have just passed dividends and the stock must be regarded as highly speculative in view of the action of directors.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, Sept. 16 (A.P.).—Cotton gray goods were unchanged today and the market was firm. Some inquiry continued for print cloths. Better sales were reported in fine goods. Burlaps were unchanged to a shade firmer, with the market quiet. The downward trend continues in raw silks, with heavy selling in Japan and a dull market here.

George A. Sloan, president of the Cotton Textile Institute, announced today at the third annual trade conference that a fund of $250,000 has been authorized and is to be spent by the cotton industry in 1931 to continue the institute's advertising and educational program in behalf of styled cottons and other uses of cotton. He said that if fashion follows the same cycles which it has in the past there is "every reason to believe that the prominence with which cotton has been featured in every price range during the past two years will greatly aid the manufacturers of popular priced cotton dresses and fabrics."

River Bulletin.

Army Sergeant Ends Own Life in Nicaragua

Managua, Nicaragua, Sept. 16 (A.P.). United States Army Sergt. John Damrow, jr., serving as a lieutenant in the Nicaraguan National Guard, stationed at Matagalpa, has committed suicide. His body was sent to Corinto today.

The sergeant's home town was Sheboygan, Wis., and his next of kin was given as John Damrow, sr., his father. A note addressed to his commanding officer was found with the body. It simply stated that this was the end of everything and that he was sorry to cause trouble. After usual military ceremonies the body was sent to the port of Corinto to await the next transport home.

Man Shoots Self While Doctors Listen on Phone

Dothan, Ala., Sept. 16 (A.P.).—Burkett Vann, a guest at a hotel here last night, called the hotel telephone operator and asked her to connect him with the homes of two doctors. "Hold the line a moment," he said, as they answered.

As they waited they heard the discharge of a pistol clearly over the wire. Both hurried to the hotel and found Vann in his room with a bullet wound in his chest. He said he shot himself and blamed domestic difficulties. The doctors said he would recover.

Export Copper Prices Cut Quarter of Cent

New York, Sept. 16 (A.P.).—The price of copper for export was reduced one-quarter of a cent a pound to 11.05 cents, c. i. f. European base ports, today by Copper Exporters, Inc.

The cut was made to bring the export price in line with the domestic price of 10½ cents a pound delivered, made yesterday by at least one custom smelter. Leading producers, which had been holding the metal at 11 cents, reduced the price to 10¾ cents a pound yesterday. The new domestic prices, the lowest in 30 years, compare with the 18-cent level in effect from April, 1929, to April, 1930, when the decline began.

CLAIRVOYANT
608 12th St. N.W.
Over Woolworth's 5c & 10c Store

This strange man sees the way and tells it all. Just what your life has been, just what it will be. Tells you when and whom you will marry; whether husband, wife or sweetheart is true or false. Tells as to changes, travel, lost or absent friends, divorce, wills, deeds; whether it is best to buy or sell. He tells the good and the bad. A visit will convince you of his wonderful power.

Something tells you this is the man. You feel the impulse to call. Do not delay.

LEGAL NOTICES

BENJAMIN L. TEPPER, Attorney, Shoreham Building.

IN THE SUPREME COURT OF THE DISTRICT of Columbia. John Riddle, plaintiff, vs. the unknown heirs, alienees and devisees of Matthew Steele or Steel, Rachel Steel or Steele, and Mary Steel or Steele, defendants. No. 51735, Equity docket. The object of this suit is to declare title to lot 7 in the subdivision made by Commissioners in Equity Cause No. 5598, Docket 17, part of "Holmead's Addition to Georgetown," more particularly described in bill of complaint filed in this cause to be good in the plaintiff by adverse possession. On motion of the plaintiff, it is this 15th day of September, 1930, ordered that the defendants, the unknown heirs, alienees and devisees of Matthew Steele or Steel, Rachel Steel or Steele, and Mary Steel or Steele, cause their appearance to be entered herein on or before the first rule day occurring after the expiration of one month from this date, otherwise the cause will be proceeded with as in case of default. Provided, a copy of this order be published once a week for three successive weeks in the Washington Law Reporter and The Washington Post before said day. (Sgd.) F. L. SIDDONS, Justice. A true copy. PROPOSALS

DEPARTMENT OF INTERIOR, WASHington, D. C., September 9, 1930. Sealed bids in duplicate, subject to the conditions contained herein, will be received until 2 p. m., Tuesday, October 7, 1930, and then opened for (1) Furnishing all labor and materials for performing all work for the construction (including all mechanical equipment) of Building No. 1, and for the buildings Nos. 2 and 3 of the women's dormitory group at Howard University, Washington, D. C. This work will include excavating, reinforced concrete construction, brickwork, stone work, floor and wall tile, miscellaneous iron and steel work, slate and metal roofing, lathing and plastering, carpentry, electric elevators, plumbing, heating, electrical installation, finish grading, concrete walks and landscaping. (2) Kitchen equipment, furniture, shades, draperies, &c., furnished and installed. Proposals will be considered only from individuals, firms or corporations possessing satisfactory financial and technical ability, equipment and organization to insure speedy completion of the contract, and in making awards the records of bidders for expedition and satisfactory performance on contracts of similar character and magnitude will be carefully considered. Separate and distinct appropriations having been made for dormitory No. 1 and for dormitories Nos. 2 and 3, it will be necessary, in order to avoid any violation of sections 3678 and 3733 of the revised statutes, to invite bids and enter into contracts which will specify the consideration for dormitory No. 1 separate and apart from the consideration for dormitories Nos. 2 and 3. As contractors may be able to make a better price to the Government if assured of the contract for the whole three buildings, there is no objection to having bidders submit bids for the two projects separately and, also, to state bid prices respectively for the two projects based on an award for all three buildings. It is desired that these buildings be completed at the earliest practicable date and therefore time will be considered an element in awarding such contracts. At the discretion of the Secretary, drawings and specifications may be obtained upon application to the department. A certified check in the sum of $100 payable to the Treasurer of the United States is required as security for safe return of the drawings and specifications within ten days after the date of opening proposals. Each bidder must accompany his proposal with detailed financial statement of his construction organization. The Government reserves the right to reject any or all bids or waive technical defects. The Government also reserves the right to award the contracts for these buildings either as separate contracts for each of the two projects to separate bidders, or as separate contracts for the two projects combined under one bid to one bidder. Envelopes containing bids must be sealed, marked "Bid for construction, equipment and furnishing of women's dormitory building 1 and buildings 2 and 3, Howard University, Washington, D. C., to be opened October 7, 1930," and addressed to "The Secretary of Interior, Room 6119, Interior Department Building, Washington, D. C." JOHN H. EDWARDS, Assistant Secretary of Interior. 15,16,17

DEPARTMENT OF INTERIOR, WASHINGton, September 15, 1930.—Sealed proposals in duplicate will be received at the department until 2 o'clock p. m., WEDNESDAY, October 15, 1930, for furnishing all labor and materials for installing complete at St. Elizabeths Hospital, Washington, D. C., one boiler, superheater, economizer and stoker, together with brick setting, pipings, breeching, &c., in accordance with specifications, copies of which may be obtained from the Superintendent, St. Elizabeths Hospital, or the Chief Clerk of the department. The right is reserved to reject any or all bids, waive technical defects, or to accept one part and reject the other, as the interests of the Government may require. Proposals must be marked "Proposals for installing boiler, superheater, economizer and stoker at St. Elizabeths Hospital," and be addressed to the Secretary of the Interior, Washington, D. C. JOHN H. EDWARDS, Assistant Secretary. 17,18,19

ARTS GROUP VIEWS PLAN FOR CHANGES IN STATE BUILDING

"Favorable Consideration" to Suggestions Agreed Upon at Meeting.

DESIGN IS SUBMITTED BY CAPITAL ARCHITECT

Details for Completion of Unknown Soldier's Tomb Formally Approved.

Radical alteration of the State, War and Navy Building to make it harmonize with the Treasury Building, a dream long cherished by many who regard the former structure as an architectural monstrosity, yesterday moved a step nearer realization.

Coincident with the similarly important action of formally approving plans for completion of the tomb of the Unknown Soldier at Arlington Cemetery, the Commission of Fine Arts, in an all-day meeting here, gave "favorable consideration" to the design for the so-called remodeled "State Department Building."

Commission officials explained that its "favorable consideration" sentiment was registered on the basis of a design submitted by Waddy Wood, Washington architect, with further studies to be made. The action was taken in a conference by the commission with Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Ferry K. Heath and Mr. Wood. Congress at its last session appropriated $3,600,000 for remodeling of the building.

Health Service Building.

As the result of a conference with Secretary Mellon and Surgeon General Hugh S. Cumming, of the Public Health Service, the commission approved a design for the marble building of the Public Health Service, to be erected at a cost of $865,000 on B street between Nineteenth and Twentieth streets northwest. Certain suggestions regarding matters of detail were made.

Plans for the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier to provide for its completion and the construction of suitable approaches were submitted by Brig. Gen. L. H. Bash, chief of the construction division office of the quartermaster general, War Department.

The commission considered plans for further construction work on Arlington Memorial Bridge, submitted by Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant, director of Public Buildings and Public Parks. These included a scheme for treatment of Columbia Island Plaza, the memorial columns, the approach to Arlington Cemetery, and the memorial entrance to the cemetery.

Approval was given for further studies for the George Rogers Clark Memorial, to be erected at Vincennes, Ind., with certain recommendations to the architect.

Oil Company Building.

Approval also was given to plans submitted for erection of a Standard Oil building at Third and B streets northwest to harmonize with plans for the Municipal Center.

Plans for the new Japanese Embassy to be constructed at 2514 Massachusetts avenue were approved.

The commission had under consideration plans for the Pan-American Office Building to be erected directly back of the present Pan-American Union Building; plans for the proposed extension on the Methodist Building on Capitol Hill, and the Leif Ericson statue to be given by the United States to Iceland.

The commission conferred with Maj. R. Y. Stuart, chief of the Forest Service, and T. W. Norcross, Forest Service engineer, regarding the proposed Theodore Roosevelt Memorial Arch to be erected on the Continental Divide at Marias Pass, Mont., to commemorate Roosevelt's leadership in forest conservation work.

NEW RESERVE HEAD SWORN

LIEUT. MARKS SHIFTS TO FOURTH PRECINCT

Police Transfer Is Result of Peck's Retirement; Holmes Sworn In.

OTHER CHANGES PENDING

Transfer of Lieut. Sidney J. Marks from the Eleventh to the Fourth Police Precinct was ordered yesterday by Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police. Lieut. Marks was replaced at the Eleventh Precinct by Lieut. Frank M. Dent, who had been in the Fourth Precinct.

Transfer of Lieut. Marks is an aftermath to the retirement of Capt. Charles T. Peck, veteran police captain, who was retired by the Commissioners, effective last Monday, after a bottle of liquor was discovered in his locker in the precinct station.

Ten privates were slated for transfer from the precinct also, but these and other possible changes, Maj. Pratt said, will be held in abeyance pending a report and recommendation from Capt. William E. Holmes, who was promoted and placed in command of the Eleventh Precinct to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Capt. Peck.

Capt. Holmes was sworn into office by Maj. Pratt yesterday morning, as were Sergt. John W. McGinness, who was promoted to lieutenant, and Private Archie W. Winfree, who was made a sergeant. These promotions resulted from the promotion of Lieut. Holmes to captain.

Lieut. McGinness was honored yesterday by the Columbia Heights Citizens Association, the Mount Pleasant Citizens Association and the Georgia Avenue Business Men's Association at the Third Precinct, where he is not assigned. Several baskets of flowers were given by the civic bodies to the police officer.

SECTION OF STREET WILL BE BOULEVARD

Thirty-fifth Northwest, From O to Wisconsin Avenue, to Be Altered.

OTHER CHANGES LISTED

Thirty-fifth street northwest yesterday was made a boulevard highway from O street to Wisconsin avenue.

Action was taken by the Commissioners on recommendation of M. O. Eldridge, acting director of traffic, who explained that Thirty-fifth street is one of the "heaviest traffic streets in Georgetown for north and south traffic, and it is believed that the traffic situation would be greatly improved" by making it a boulevard, with stop signs at all intersections between O street and Wisconsin avenue.

Johnson avenue, which extends from R to S street, between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets northwest, was declared by Mr. Eldridge to be too narrow to permit of parking on both sides, and the Commissioners prohibited parking on the east side at any time.

The street, Mr. Eldridge said, is only 24 feet wide, and "this is too narrow for two lanes of traffic when cars are parked on both sides of the street. There are only seven residences on this street. Two garages operated for public use attract many motorists thus causing congestion. It is believed that this restriction, which has been requested by several persons, including Representative McLeod, of Michigan, will improve the situation."

Parking is prohibited on either side of W street northwest, from Fourth street to Georgia avenue, under another amendment to the traffic regulations approved by the Commissioners. This street is so narrow that when cars are parked along the curb other vehicles must use the car tracks, Mr. Eldridge said. He said a majority of the residents approved the restriction.

Capital Man Is Official Of New Veterans' Group

The "Hospital Corps Men of the United Spanish War Veterans," organized at the national encampment of veterans held recently in Philadelphia, has established headquarters at Mount Ephraim, N. J., and is now actively engaged in work designed to promote the interests of veterans in need of funds and hospitalization.

The organization is composed of men who were confined to hospitals as a result of injuries received during the Spanish War. U. M. Grant Jefferys, of Monmouth, N. J., is national president, and Henry L. Whiting, of Washington, is a member of the advisory committee.

Woman, Driving to Get Permit, Hurt in Crash

Mrs. Maude R. Poe, of 526 Ninth street southwest, suffered a possible fractured arm yesterday when her car collided with a Washington Railway & Electric Co. street car at John Marshall place and D street northwest. Her driving was being tested by Private William H. Hinson, of the Traffic Bureau, for a driver's permit.

Mrs. Poe was taken to Emergency Hospital, where she was given first-aid treatment. Her condition was not thought to be serious, and she later returned home. The street car with which she collided was in charge of Conductor Charles Lombardy.

Showers Break Heat Wave Here

One Prostration From Hot Weather Reported; Cool and Clear Today.

Cooling showers yesterday broke the September heat wave which enveloped Washington for the last four days. Just as the mercury started its climb toward the upper 90s, winds from the south and southeast carried in storm clouds that caused a drop of 18 degrees in temperature in one hour.

Today the Weather Bureau promises cool and clear weather. Starting from 80 degrees at 9 o'clock yesterday morning the thermometer gradually climbed until 90 was reached at 3 o'clock. Then cooling breezes came in, and the reading slumped to 70 at 4 o'clock, with gradual reductions during the night.

One heat prostration was reported yesterday. William Shaw, 61 years old, of 1204 Staples street northeast, collapsed while at the corner of Florida avenue and Orren street northeast. He was taken home by Patrolman D. L. Guest, of the Ninth Precinct.

Man Claims Wife Hid Veteran's Certificate

Charging that the wife from whom he was separated has hidden an adjusted service certificate, which he now needs, Frank N. McDaniel, of B street southeast, near Twelfth street, yesterday asked the District Supreme Court to compel Jessie McDaniel, of Quincy place northeast, near North Capitol, to find the certificate and return it to him.

McDaniel claims that he is a veteran of the World War and that the Veterans' Bureau mailed the certificate to him. He alleges that his wife, unknowingly to him, intercepted it and concealed the paper. He also alleges that the certificate is valueless to his wife, but alleges that her act was prompted by enmity.

Policeman Seizes Robbery Suspect

Actions of Man Lead to His Apprehension After Being Trailed.

Park Policeman I. W. Thompson early yesterday morning trailed a man who, he said, had been acting suspiciously, and after the man had been followed for several blocks, he was placed under arrest at Eighth and N streets northwest.

Taking his prisoner to the First Precinct station, Thompson soon connected him, police say, with a robbery which had taken place shortly prior to the time the policeman first noticed his man, who identified himself as Richard Smith, 24, of Q street near Sixth street northwest.

The robbery occurred in a lunch room at 933 Ninth street northwest, and police say that Smith, a former employe, took $28 from the cashier's desk during a crew shift at midnight.

Man Treated for Wound.

William Redmond, 50 years old, of 1201 I street northwest, was treated at Emergency Hospital yesterday afternoon for a lacerated wound on his right arm, said by police to have been inflicted by his son, Fred Redmond, 20 years old, when he hit his father with a milk bottle. No complaint was lodged against the son.

Patent Attorney Sued for Divorce

Wilbur F. Kellogg, Freed in Manslaughter Case, Held Unfaithful.

Mrs. Kathrine K. Kellogg yesterday asked the District Supreme Court to grant her an absolute divorce from Wilbur F. Kellogg, a patent attorney, who was acquitted in 1928 of a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Charles F. Payne, an auditor employed by the United States Tariff Commission.

Mrs. Kellogg names a corespondent and charges her husband with many acts of infidelity. In addition to seeking a total separation she also wants alimony and custody of the children.

Payne was killed early in 1928 in the apartment on Euclid street northwest where the Kelloggs resided. Kellogg was tried shortly afterward and was acquitted. During the trial he denied that he struck Payne because of the man's alleged attentions to Mrs. Kellogg.

Couple File $5,000 Suit For Damages by Crane

Alleging that their home had been damaged through negligence in moving a hoisting crane, Charles E. Cannady and Sophie Cannady, of 800 Madison street northwest, filed suit yesterday in District Supreme Court, seeking to recover $5,000 damages from Peter D'Adamo.

The plaintiffs assert that a crane operated by the defendant's agents turned and swung in such a manner as to cause part of the apparatus to come in contact with their home. As a result the brick exterior was knocked out of alignment and plaster and laths were dislocated, it is set out. The alleged collision occurred June 9 last, when the machine is said to have been moved along Madison street.

MYSTERY SHROUDS ARREST IN MIDWEST OF CAPITAL GIRL, 13

Justice Department Agents Find Object of Search in Kansas City.

TESTIMONY IS NEEDED IN CASE TO BE TRIED

Authorities Decline to Tell Nature of Court Action to Be Taken.

A 13-year-old girl, who had been missing from her home on Pennsylvania avenue near Twenty-fifth street northwest, was yesterday arrested in Kansas City and held there pending arrival of officers from Washington to bring her back.

Police say that she was arrested by Department of Justice agents, who were looking for her since she disappeared shortly before she was to appear before the grand jury in connection with a case which the Department of Justice was preparing.

She was first traced from Washington to Philadelphia. A search of that city failed to disclose her whereabouts, and nothing had been heard from her until she was picked up in Kansas City.

Authorities yesterday declined to disclose the nature of the case in connection with which she was wanted.

The lookout which was broadcast from the local Detective Bureau stated that the girl had the appearance of a 20-year-old woman, and that she carried herself with a "cultured dignity." She was said to have been wearing expensive clothing when she disappeared.

Suit Filed for Crash That Happened in 1921

As a result of an automobile accident November 14, 1921, Milton M. Dimmette, by his next friend, Nellie B. Dimmette, of 6227 Ninth street northwest, filed suit yesterday in District Supreme Court seeking to recover $25,000 damages from American Ice Co., of 1320 F street northwest; William H. Small, of 638 Park road northwest, and George N. Grant, also of 638 Park road northwest.

The plaintiff claims that on the date in question he was 9 years old and was crossing Georgia avenue northwest, near Colorado avenue, when struck down by an automobile. He alleges that the machine was operated by Small, owned by Grant and was being driven under orders and by authority and on business of the co-defendants. Dimmette claims to have suffered injuries which will remain with him through life.

Boys on Probation In Theft of Autos

Three 16-Year-Olds and One of 15 Promise to Go Straight.

Their avowed careers in banditry halted last Friday upon their arrest by police, three 16-year-old youths and a 15-year-old boy were placed on probation in Juvenile Court yesterday when they promised to "go straight," a pledge likewise guaranteed by their parents.

Three motorists told the court that their machines had been stolen recently from the neighborhood of Alban Towers and later recovered near these apartments, in the basement of which police discovered an automatic leading to the arrest of the youths. The four readily admitted their guilt in court in substantiation of the story they told police involving the theft of nine machines during the summer.

Finding of the pistol brought denials of ownership at the time from the four, but the finding of another pistol in the home of one of their number, coupled with other evidence, brought confessions. They were formally charged with joyriding. Judge Sellers, in announcing probation, said it would be indefinite and that she would call another hearing to fix restitution by the boys for minor articles taken from the cars.

Man Loses Golf Clubs To Thieves, He Reports

Miniature golf enthusiasm is evidently spreading to take in some of the petty thieves, according to a report made to the police yesterday by Marshall Bryarly, of 6931 Ninth street northwest.

A golf bag containing driving irons and putters, was taken from the back porch of Bryarly's home. The total value of the outfit was about $60. He was on a miniature golf course at the time the articles were stolen.

VICTIM OF SUICIDE STILL UNIDENTIFIED BY CAPTAL POLICE

Body Discovered Hanging in Old Darby Building by Virginia Man.

CLOTHING LABEL GIVES ONLY CLEW TO IDENTITY

Description Is Sent to That City in Hope of Finding Some Relative.

The 70-year-old man who yesterday was found hanging by awning cords from a ladder in the old Darby Building, which formerly housed the Coast Guard, at Fourteenth and E streets northwest, has not been identified, according to the police.

The body, which was evidently that of a planned suicide, was found about 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning by J. B. Johnson, of Manassas, Va., employed as a foreman by the company wrecking the old building, when he came to work. He told the police that he had seen the old man about the building on Monday morning, where he had found him asleep when he came to work.

The clothing the man was wearing, bearing the label of a New York clothing store, was in a shabby condition, and he was described as having gray hair, with a growth of approximately a week's beard, and being 5 feet 6 inches in height.

The body was removed to the District Morgue, where one person came to view it, but failed to identify the body. His description has been sent to the New York police, in the hope that his identity might be disclosed by them. Headquarters Dectective Joe Waldron is investigating the case.

Policeman Praised In Letter to Post

John H. Major Lauded for Courtesy While Assisting at Auto Collision.

Accepting the opportunity presented Sunday by The Washington Post to its readers to laud publicly the act of courteous policemen, Mrs. M. S. Emory, of 1343 Harvard street northwest, in a letter yesterday to The Post complimented Twelfth Precinct Policeman John H. Major.

"I am glad to take advantage of your offer to print incidents of courtesy on the part of the police," Mrs. Emory wrote. "In the case of an automobile collision two weeks ago, John H. Major, of the Twelfth Precinct, showed a consideration and politeness to both sides involved (I was a passenger in one of the cars) that were highly commendable. May I add that I think it lessens efficiency for the officers to have to be bundled up in woolen coats on hot days."

The invitation of The Post followed the message the previous day of Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, instructing all members of the Police Department to make the force one of outstanding courtesy and helpfulness to the average citizen. He reminded them that "to the public our slogan must always be, At your service."

Policeman Baker Weeps But It's in Line of Duty

Policeman A. B. Baker, attached to the property room at headquarters, was weeping last night, not because of any inclination to be doleful, but because of the performance of duty.

Yesterday he was assigned to accompany some leaking tear gas bombs to their point of destruction in the river near the Harbor Precinct. The bombs became worse with handling and by the time the wharf was reached the policeman had made several stops to get fresh air.

Columbia Heights Unit Hears Property Report

The Citizens Forum of Columbia Heights at a meeting last night at 2800 Thirteenth strete northwest, heard a report of H. C. Phillips on work accomplished in that section in protecting property values.

Other speakers introduced by the president, Burd W. Payne, were: Maj. W. A. Sommers, Fred F. Walker, Wallace Robinson and W. Francis Scottt.

Woman Struck by Auto.

Rena Robinson, 50 years old, colored, of 1120 Nineteenth street northwest, was treated at Emergency Hospital yesterday afternoon for minor bruises and cuts received when she was knocked down at Nineteenth and L streets by a car operated by Eugene Oliver, of 2027 H street northwest. The woman was later removed to her home.

Police Unable to Convince Man Street Nudity Is Taboo

This was the explanation given to Wallace W. Wright, 43 years old, by police of the Third Precinct when he protested arrest early yesterday morning in front of his home on P street near Seventeenth street northwest, after neighbors had complained he was wandering about without any clothes.

Policeman W. T. Taff found Wright standing on the corner in true "back to nature" style. After being taken to the station house, he told police he ran from his home to catch a milk man and saw no reason why he shouldn't do it.

But Wright was wrong, as he learned when he was placed in a cell, and told that before one dashes into the street, one must first stop and don sufficient wearing apparel.

Public to See Fliers Do War-Time Stunts

Capt. Hunter Will 'Bust' Balloons as Part of Three-Day Show.

Exhibitions of balloon busting, acrobatics and war-time flying maneuvers will be presented by the Army Air Corps at the military exposition and carnival to be held at Washington Barracks September 25, 26 and 27. Capt. Frank O. D. Hunter, war ace, will do the balloon "busting," which is only one of many stunts on the program.

The aerial exhibition will be carried on at night as well as during the day. The daylight show will feature an attack on the city by six big Army bombing planes, escorted by pursuit ships. Other pursuit planes will defend Washington, and spectators are promised a series of "dog fights" similar in every respect to aerial battles of the World War.

During a bridge-building stunt to be staged by the Engineer Corps, "enemy" planes will reappear to harass their work, but again the defenders will drive them off, with the assistance of antiaircraft batteries. Three attack planes will "strafe" ground troops, and supporting tanks will appear to be blown up before the gaze of horrified spectators.

After nightfall planes will fly in formation with myriads of lights strung beneath them. Lieuts. Louis Merrick, W. A. R. Robertson and Leland S. Stranathan, all of Bolling Field, will be the "fireflies."

CAPT. FRANK O. D. HUNTER.

BANKING INSTITUTE CHAPTER AT DANCE

Washington School Confers Certiificates on 150 Graduates.

P. B. DETWILER SPEAKS

An attractive program, followed by an informal dance, drew almost 1,000 persons to the annual fall meeting of the Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking, last night at the Willard Hotel.

A feature of the occasion was the presentation of certificates in the Washington school of the organization to approximately 150 members, all employes in various local financial institutions, upon the completion of the graduate and two undergraduate courses.

Progress of the national organization, with 75,000 members and a student enrollment of 45,000 annually in the schools conducted by its various chapters, was stressed by Paul B Detwiler, assistant cashier of the Philadelphia National Bank, Philadelphia, Pa., former vice president of the national organization.

Others participating in the program included Frank M. Perley, of the American Security & Trust Co., president of the Washington chapter; Edward J. McQuade, vice president of the Liberty National Bank, who as vice president of the District of Columbia Bankers Association conveyed the greetings of that organization; Raymond B. Dickey, dean of the chapter's school here, and Henry F. Kimball, of the American Security & Trust Co., who as chairman of the athletic committee during the recent golf tournament presented prizes to the various winners.

Group singing was led by Al Sherman, accompanied on the piano by Mr. Kimball.

President's Son Is Ill at Retreat

Herbert Hoover, Jr., Given Leave by Employer to Regain Health.

(Associated Press.)

Herbert Hoover, jr., temporarily disabled by a slight illness, is recuperating at the President's camp on the Rapidan River in Virginia, on leave of absence from the Western Air Express.

The President's son plans to absent himself from his duties as radio technical adviser for the aviation company for two or three months but expects to spend only a few days at the Rapidan camp now. He will return to the White House to spend some time with his parents.

The illness of yuong Hoover who has made a place for himself among the leading experts of the aviation world in a remarkably short time, was said at the White House to have been a minor affair, of no serious consequences.

Consul Reports Red Raids in China

Attack on American Ships Along Yangtze River Continues, He Says.

(Associated Press.)

A continuation of attacks upon American naval and merchant vessels along the Yangitze river in China by forces flying the red flag were reported to the State Department yesterday by Consul Gen. Frank P. Lockhart, from Hankow.

Mr. Lockhart reported also the inhabitants of Changsha, which has already been partially destroyed and looted by bandit forces, were still fearful of recapture of the city by "nearby 'communist' forces."

Attacks are being made daily on virtually all foreign vessels by trench morters, machine guns and rifles from a point on the right bank of the Yangtze about 45 miles above Kiukiang.

DEATH WITNESSES PRESENT PROBLEM

All Implicated in Homicide May Not Be Forced to Go on Stand.

QUARTET HELD TO JURY

Washington police and the United States attorney's office are frankly perplexed.

William Smith, Negro, was killed in an altercation September 3. The night before he had been "the informer" who turned in his stepson, Ernest Richardson, on a gaming charge. Police summoned Eddie Tolson, Sylvester Lincoln and Thomas Washington, all colored, before the coroner's jury as wit esses of the homicide.

Testimony was to the effect that Smith learned his stepson and others were shooting dice. He is alleged to have gone to the Second Precinct Station, where he made a formal report. Later, it was stated, all four of the defendants heard of the "squeal" and met him at Seventh and L streets northwest. In the encounter Richardson is alleged to have struck the man in such a manner as to cause him to fall and fatally injure himself. The coroner's jury heard all the evidence and held all four men for the grand jury.

Now the police and the United States attorney's office do not know how they can force any of the men to testify before the grand jury since each is implicated and since under the Constitution he is guranteed immunity from indictment under such testimony.

Tenth Druggist Victim Of Bad Check "Racket"

Israel Baker, proprietor of a drug store at 701 Kennedy street northwest, yesterday became the tenth victim of a petty "racket" that police have been investigating for several weeks.

Baker told police that he had received telephone instructions to send medicine to an apartment at 5400 Seventh street northwest. When a boy made the delivery he was given a $10 check, for which he made change. The check proved worthless.

Arrested Woman Faces Grand Larceny Charge

Estelle Jackson, colored, 29 years old, known to police by the name of "Sis Jackson," was booked at detective headquarters on a charge of grand larceny last night following her arrest after a three weeks search. She lives on T street, near Sixth northwest.

Another charge of grand larceny will be preferred against her today, police said. The woman is alleged to have pilfered a pair of shoes and a dress, in a large department store, and made her escape though pursued.

Pay Increase Is Given To Five More Firemen

Five additional firemen were yesterday added to the list of those singled out for their efficiency and given an extra $5 a month in pay.

The men rewarded by the Commissioners on recommendation of George S. Watson, chief of the Fire Department, were T. W. Stone, J. H. Chrisman, J. A. Richardson, B. A. Warfield and R. H. Bower.

RICHARD H. BUSSELL DIES.

Native of New York, World War Veteran, Will Be Buried in Arlington.

Richard H. Bussell, 32 years old, of 1237 Forty-fourth place southeast, died yesterday morning following a lengthy illness.

Mr. Bussell had lived in Washington for fifteen years, coming here from Nebraska. He was born in New York. He was a veteran of the World War and a member of the American Legion.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. May E. Bussell; two sons, Cecil and Richard Bussell, and one daughter, Anna Bussell. Complete funeral services have not been arranged, although it has been announced that he would be buried in Arlington Cemetery Friday.

HEARING TO START ON NEW GAS RATE SCHEDULE TODAY

Representatives of Users Are Expected to Oppose Minimum Charge.

CITIZENS' COMMITTEE STUDIES PROPOSALS

Company Notifies Utilities Commission of Plan to Drop Valuation Proceedings.

Public hearings on the new gas rate schedule proposed by the Washington Gas Light Co. will begin at 10 o'clock this morning in the board room in the District Building with indications that representatives of the consumers will seek to have certain provisions of the proposed schedule changed before it is approved by the Public Utilities Commission.

The pending schedule and its effect on the average consumer was studied at a special meeting of the public utilities committee of the Federation of Citizens Associations held last night in the office of its chairman, William McK. Clayton, veteran battler for the consumers in public utilities matters.

Richmond B. Keech, people's counsel, attended the meeting at the invitation of Mr. Clayton and probably will act with the committee on at least some matters in the course of the hearing.

Minimum Charge Opposed.

The principal departure in the new schedule from the gas rates of the present and the past is the inauguration of a minimum charge each month. It is over this feature that principal disagreement is expected to arise.

The new owners of the gas company declare they want to reduce rates so that they can place gas on a competing basis with coal, oil and other fuels as a household and business house heating fuel. The new rate schedule, George A. G. Wood, president of the company, said, will cost the company approximately $500,000 a year unless it is able to sell more gas than is being sold now.

Despite the reduction to 85 cents per 1,000 cubic feet of gas consumed in the average household, the minimum charges proposed in the new rate schedule will increase the monthly gas bills of several thousands of consumers who do not use 2,200 feet of gas a month. At that point bills under the new rate schedule would be the same as that now charged under the $1 per 1,000 cubic feet rate. But those who consume less than 2,200 feet of gas a month will pay a higher rate than they pay now because of the higher rate charged for the first 500 cubic feet of gas consumed.

Though there is a disposition to accept a minimum charge in the new rate schedule, opposition has been voiced to the minimum charges proposed by the company. The small consumer, incidentally, is not necessarily the poor family. Among the small consumers are apartment house dwellers and persons of means who do little cooking or housekeeping and consequently do not use much gas. There are said to be many of these, some of them persons of wealth who are absent from the city for months at a time.

Wilton J. Lambert, counsel for the gas company and one of its directors, gave notice to the commission yesterday that the company intends to withdraw the valuation proceedings which have been pending in the District courts since the old Utilities Commission first announced a valuation for the Washington and Georgetown gas companies.

The withdrawal of that old suit still leaves pending before the commission the valuation proceedings instituted under the regime of the former owners of the gas company, but for various reasons, including the change in ownership, new counsel and the change in the status of various witnesses, that proceeding, too, is expected to be dropped.

Woman Seeks Divorce, Charging Liquor Habit

Alleging that her husband is addicted to the excessive use of intoxicants, Mrs. Catherine Eleanor Birmingham, of the Tudor Hall Apartments, yesterday asked the District Supreme Court to grant her a limited divorce from Richard H. Birmingham, of Twelfth street northwest, near M street.

Mrs. Birmingham charges that her husband gets drunk on an average of once every three months, uses profanity in the presence of their children, and to herself. She also sets out that he has lost his chauffeur's job and does not provide for the family. She asks custody of the children and adequate maintenance in addition to the decree.

Agriculture Building Corner Stone Is Sought

Some one with a very retentive memory is wanted to tell whether the old Department of Agriculture Building ever had a corner tone. It has been torn down and no corner stone can be found. Search of Government records failed to show whether any ceremonies were held when the building was opened in 1868.

As wreckers proceeded to tear down the old structure watch was kept for the stone in the hope that some interesting documents would be revealed. Departmental officials and contractors are still striving to solve the riddle of the missing stone.

Man Held on Charge Of Rum Transportation

Charged with transporting 9 gallons of whisky in 18 rubber hot-water bottles, Stefano Prendini, 48 years old, of Carney, Md., was arraigned in Police Court yesterday and ordered held under $1,000 bond for action of the grand jury.

Police testified that they searched Prendini's automobile Tuesday afternoon when they smelled alleged corn whisky. Attorney Harry Whelan questioned the right of police to search the machine without a search warrant, but Judge Gus A. Schuldt said he would let the grand jury decide the matter.

Woman Badly Hurt in Fall.

Evelyn Colbert, 25, colored, of 906 Sixth street southeast, yesterday tumbled down a staircase while descending with a tub of water and hit her head on an icebox at the foot of the stairs. She is in a serious condition at Casualty Hospital.

Brooklyn Lad, 13, Youngest Student Ever to Enter G. U.

John I. Griffin, of Brooklyn, N. Y., the youngest student to enter Georgetown University, has been enrolled in the freshman class of the College of Arts and Sciences. He is 13 years old.

He was graduated from Brooklyn Preparatory School at the age of 13. He entered the Brooklyn school after passing through the eight grammar grades in three years.

The boy's mother has come to Washington to establish a home for her son during his four-year stay at college, during which he will pursue a bachelor of philosophy course. He was one of 360 freshmen at the college yesterday, the largest class in history.
